Mr. De B.—Well, as a practical man, why did you not say that which you thought would be a good one for you?

Mr. McA.—I was always under the impression that there was a title for Lot 2, and that some day it would become the property of the Crown.

Mr. De B.—How many acres of fresh land have you?

Mr. McA.—I have about 100 acres of fresh land, and I have a title for Lot 2, and that some day it would become the property of the Crown.

Mr. De B.—But supposing your title was good?

Mr. McA.—You think what you think, I suppose, but I don't know what you mean by that.

Mr. De B.—The value of land depends upon the necessity of the land, and the necessity of the land depends upon the necessity of the land.

Mr. De B.—You mean that the people are willing to buy the land, but are not able to pay their rents?

Mr. McA.—I think not.

Mr. De B.—How long have you been a resident on Lot 2?

Mr. McA.—I have been a resident on Lot 2 for about 10 years.

Mr. De B.—You have been called upon by the Government to give up your land?

Mr. McA.—I have been called upon by the Government to give up my land, but I have not done so.

Mr. De B.—You have been called upon by the Government to give up your land?

Mr. McA.—I have been called upon by the Government to give up my land, but I have not done so.

Mr. De B.—You have been called upon by the Government to give up your land?

Mr. McA.—I have been called upon by the Government to give up my land, but I have not done so.

Mr. De B.—You have been called upon by the Government to give up your land?

Mr. McA.—I have been called upon by the Government to give up my land, but I have not done so.

Mr. De B.—You have been called upon by the Government to give up your land?

Mr. McA.—I have been called upon by the Government to give up my land, but I have not done so.

Mr. De B.—You have been called upon by the Government to give up your land?
