Count Ten! Bad Cold Relieved Figure Three Hours--ColdCure

The medicated vapor of CATARRHAZONE spreads through all parts of the breathing organs, and its beneficial action is felt instantly. Doesn't matter whether the cold is in the head, chest or lungs; Catarrhazone will reach it and cure it quickly.

"I can cheerfully testify that Catarrhazone is simply a magical cure for colds," writes P. F. Clement, of Augusta. "For days last winter my head was completely filled up with cold. My eyes ran water, I sneezed and coughed constantly. I took many medicines. I was sick of the sight of them. Finally, I tried Catarrhazone. Its effect was magical. It soothed the inflamed membranes, stopped the sneezing, and cured in no time. I never met anything to kill a cold like Catarrhazone."

As the Germans were heavily entrenched their artillery from the outset played havoc with the French. The French wing at Dinant had been badly cut up, and nearly routed, when suddenly the strains of the Marseillaise resounded through the French lines. The men rallied and reformed and with splendid gallantry charged hurling themselves on the German troops, breaking through their lines and putting them to flight. Several Austrian army corps invaded Russian territory, according to the Vienna correspondent of the Reuter Telegram Co. The Russian advance on Zalosse, Brody and Sokal, in Galicia, close to the Russian frontier, north-east of Lemberg, has been checked. A despatch from Cetinje, Montenegro, by a correspondent of Reuter's, says Montenegrin forces have been engaged for the last two days with a strong detachment of Austrian troops in the neighborhood of Grabave. The Montenegrin casualties in dead and wounded were forty-five. On August 16th, the Austrians attacked the Western frontier of Montenegro from Krivovili, Grabave, and for some time the Austrian vessels bombarded Montenegrin troops who crossed the Bosnia frontier and occupied the town of Tschinitzau, after a fierce battle.

Will Do Their Best.

Birmingham, 5th August, '14. The following letter has been handed to us for publication:—

Dear Sirs,—You will already have received full reports of the serious crisis existing in Europe at the present time, and that England, notwithstanding her efforts for peace, has been drawn into the war.

This must necessarily cause a great disorganization of business. The Government have taken over the railways, and have also commandeered a number of steamers, so it is impossible to tell at present what freight, if any, will be obtainable. The exportation of many goods is prohibited, including Motor Cars, and we have also had an advice of 25 p.c. advance on all freight rates from London. We have therefore in the interests of all our customers considered it advisable to suspend all shipments for a time waiting further developments.

The Banks are closed until the 7th inst., the usual Bank Holiday having been extended to that date in order to relieve the financial situation.

The Government are arranging a State Insurance against War Risks, and if this shipment should work satisfactorily we hope to be able to resume shipments before long.

We may say some steamers are completing their loading and it is hoped they will sail as previously arranged.

We shall, however, keep you advised, and you may rest assured we shall do the best we possibly can in our friends' interests in the unfortunate circumstances in which we are all placed.

We are, Dear Sirs,
Yours truly,

From Long Island to Windsor's Harbour, which is a large section of the coast, all the crafts are doing well. It is also thought that the shrimen are sharing the same good fortune as the fish have evidently struck in all along the coast.

Admiralty Unwilling to Take His Ship's Stores.

The King received Sir Ernest Shackleton, leader of the Imperial Trans-Antarctic Expedition, at Buckingham Palace yesterday, and presented to him a silken flag. His Majesty asked Sir Ernest many questions regarding his project and wished him good luck.

Sir Ernest said yesterday: "When the Reserves were called up on Monday, I offered the ship's stores and provisions to the Admiralty, with, of course, the Reservists who are members of my crew. The Admiralty replied that they had no desire to interfere with the expedition, and would not, therefore, accept the offer."—Daily Mail, Aug. 6.

The United Front.

By ALFRED NOYES.

The Kaiser, in his reply to Belgium, has definitely placed it on record for all future ages that the destiny of Germany depends absolutely upon his right to violate guarantees, tear up treaties, and dishonour his own word. He himself has now definitely stated it in language which does not admit of any other interpretation; and the duty of nations that respect law, honour, and righteousness is quite clear.

I.

Thus only should it have come, if come it must;
Not with a riot of flags or a mob-born cry,
But with a noble faith, a conscience high
And pure and proud as heaven, wherein we trust.
We who have fought for peace, have dared the thrust
Of calumny for peace; and watched her die,
Her scutcheon's rent from sky to outraged sky
By felon hands, and trampled into the dust.

We fought for peace, and we have seen the law
Cancelled, not once, nor twice, by felon hands,
But shattered, again, again, and yet again.
We fought for peace. Now, in God's name, we draw
The sword, not with a riot of flags and bands;
But silence, and a mustering of men.

II.

They challenge Truth. An Empire makes reply.
One faith, one flag, one honour, and one might.
From sea to sea, from height to war-worn height,
The old world rings out—to conquer, or to die.
And we shall conquer. Though their eagles fly
Through heaven, around this ancient isle unite
Powers that were never vanquished in the fight,
The unconquerable Powers that cannot lie.

But they who challenge Truth, Law, Justice, all
The bases on which God and man stand sure
Throughout all ages, fools!—they thought us torn
So far with discord that the blow might fall
Unanswered; and, while all those Powers endure,
This is our answer: Unity and Scorn.

III.

We trust not in the multitude of an host.
Nations that greatly builded, greatly stand.
In those dark hours, the Splendour of a Hand
Has moved behind the darkness, till that coast
Where hate and faction seemed to triumph most
Reveals itself—a buckler and a brand,
Our rough-hewn work, shining o'er sea and land,
But shaped to nobler ends than man could boast.

It is God's answer. Though, for many a year,
This land forgot the faith that made her great,
Now, as her fleets cast off the North Sea foam,
Casting aside all faction and all fear,
Thrice-armed in all the majesty of her fate,
Britain remembers, and her sword strikes home.

Stars Win From Collegians.

The first match of the final round took place last evening, and resulted in a victory for the Stars. The game was the fastest and most exciting for the season and was witnessed by 1,500 spectators. It may be said that the Collegians had the best of the game and an outstanding feature was the remarkably good saving displayed by Phelan, the Star goal-keeper. The Collegians were greatly handicapped because of Fenwick, their fastest forward, being unable to play his usual game as he was stricken with cramps. At the opening, the Collegians, who played against the wind, became aggressive and made some furious rushes into Star territory. The latter's back division clearing the goal each time. Some fast play was then served out, both teams giving a good exhibition. About a half minute before half time, Brien, off a pass from Phelan, sent in a goal, which proved to be the winning one, for the Stars. During the next period, the Collegians rushed matters and kept their opponents busy. Play was confined to Star quarters, the Collegians doing their utmost to score but the Star backs put up an admirable defence. Shots were rained at Phelan, who saved brilliantly and without doubt saved his team from defeat. Fenwick, who was out of regular commission, as already stated, then changed places with Quick, the latter going in the forward line and Fenwick keeping goal. Just before the close of the game excitement ran high, as the Collegians made a continuous bombardment of the Star goal. Ayre, Barrett, Noonan and the Barnes brothers each had a try for goal but were unsuccessful in scoring and the game ended Star 1 goal, Collegians 0. The teams were:

COLLEGIANS:—Quick, goal; Ayre, Barrett, backs; E. Barnes, H. Barnes, Pike, halves; Smallwood, Fenwick, Hutchings, Noonan; Maddock, forwards.

STAR:—H. Phelan, goal; Hart, Thompson, backs; Kavanagh, Vinnicombe, Christopher, halves; Brien, Power, Caul, F. Phelan, Murphy, forwards.

Mr. Bert Tait acted as referee. The C.E.I. and Collegians will try conclusions on Thursday evening. If the C.E.I. win they will face the Star, and if the Collegians win they will again play off with the Star. Again if the Collegians win from the C.E.I. and the latter defeat the Star all three teams will be equal.

More Fires.

Fires provoke immediate sympathy for the sufferer and also thankfulness for personal escape. Another thought should be whether one is personally and sufficiently protected? An insurance policy with Percie Johnson would provide for you this desired security and at small expense. Have you enough insurance?
