Wanted a strengthener, a builder, a preparation that will increase vital energy! Men and women are asking for such an agent, because they ungently require it. Thousands have found it, and have conquered disease by using it.

Times have changed; our people are casting from them the deceptive and worthless pills and liquids, which failed so often, and have pleced their faith in a remedy possessing mighty powers of cure. This is the agent that we would place before those who have not yet tried it. Canadians in every section of the Dominion are ready to talk about Paine's Celery Compound; they talk about Paine's Celery Compound; they talk about Paine's Celery Compound they talk about it, because it has dispelled and eradicated suffering and disease; they recommend it, because of its honesty and worth. The best and oldest physicians and druggists have words of strong commendation and approval for it daily; mothers and fathers are delighted with it; and wherever it has been introduced, it has at once attained popularity. The sleepless, rheumatic, neuralgic and dyspeptic, testify in favor, of Paine's Celery Compound every day. The mass of testimony now gathered from every part of Canada is truly astonishing, and far exceeds the combined efforts of all other remedies seeking favor in our land.

Suffering man! weak and frail woman! health may be yours if you but accept the blaide promised, and they returned; but the promise faded from Ademony before they were laif way to the first and when the faithful Hope up to the Mount next day to ascertain sult of her friend's inquiries, there was to be said about Captain Hyde but go the helpless Peter. Ammals Arm Chewed by a Crazed Animal,
Newark, N. J., Sept. 9.—A horse belonging to Town Poormaster Burehoff, of Hudson avenue and Franklin street, Union Hill, became mad while sick with cerebrai meningitis yesterday.
After tearing his chest and legs with his teeth he got loose, and escaped from the stabe. Mrs. Burchoff was hanging out clothes in the back yard when the rabid horse sprang at her with frothy mouth wide open and ears laid back. The beast snapped at her throat and caught her arm as she threw it up. Burchoff heard his wife's screams, and by pounding the horse on the head with a heavy club compelled it to loosen the arm and return to the stable. The herse was afterward shot. Mrs. Burchoff was severely bitten, and is very nervous from the shock. isword and a cocked hat, and do you like him, Adelaide?"
Adesaide drew herself up.
"Hope I what are you thinking of?"
"What is the matter," said the straightforward Hope; "would it be wrong if you liked him? I am sure I like Haibert Graeme very well, and perhaps I will like Alick; but I like old Mossgray far better; and I wouldn't be afraid to say it."
"Young ladies should not speak so," said Adelaide, in her dull solemnity.
Hope was very innocent—she still thought of a young lady only as an ordinary mortal, and not as a professional person—for Hope, schemer and matchmaker as she was, had never been initiated into the system of mutual silliness with which boys and girls, just before they become men and women, surround each other; and although perfectly undefended from the romantic, and prone to be overpowered by it, whenever her hour should come, she had triple armor in her honest, artiests semper, against all the affectations of the young lady and young gentleman period.
