Obituary

MRS. L. F. A. DORING.

At Clarence on Wednesday, March 26th, after a prolonged illness of consumption, Mrs. L. F. Doring, passed to her eternal home. She leaves a husband, four sisters, two brothers, with other relatives, and a large circle of friends to mourn their loss. The funeral services, which were most impressive, took place at her late home on Sunday, March 29th, and were conducted by pastor H. H. Saunders and attended by a large concourse of sympathetic friends. Favorite hymns chosen by the deceased were sung by the choir assisted by Mrs. H. H. Saunders and Mrs. W. E. Reed. The floral tributes were many and very beautiful. The pall-bearers were Dea. H. Messenger, Lemuel Messenger, Chas. Jackson and A. S. Williams. As the mourners and friends were taking their farewell of the remains, the choir led by C. S. Balcom sang the soul-stirring hymn, "My Savior First of All." The funeral arrangements were conducted by Mr. W. E. Reed. Our sister was a member of the Baptist church, and among her good works, was the valuable gift of a bell-which tolled as the solemn procession accompanied her remains to the cemetery at West Paradise where the interment took place. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. Mrs. Doring was Miss Charlotte Skinner of Round Hill. A large circle of friends will miss the genial hospitality always extended in her beautiful country home in Clarence.

JUDSON MESSENGER.

The death of Mr. Judson Messenger, of Centre, though not unexpected came at the end quite suddenly. He had been gradually failing and on Friday, the day of his death, became unconscious, and while in this state, at six o'clock in the evening, without warning passed away. Only the nurse was present and as sound of his breathing suddenly ceased, she went to look at him and found that death was present. Mr. Messenger had been ill for five weeks, the cause of his death being blood poisoning. A widow and five children survive him and mourn the loss of a kind and affectionate husband and father. The sons are Lewis, Marvin and Burton; the daughters, Mrs. C. L. Pigott and Miss Edna Messenger. He also leaves two brothers, Weston of Centre and Daniel of Lyon, and a sister, Mrs. Sanders of Lyon. The funeral took place at his home on Sunday morning at half-past nine o'clock, the Rev. A. S. Lewis officiating and was largely attended.

DOV WOODLAND.

The death occurred on Sunday evening of Dov Woodland, a well-known resident of this town and an employee of the D. A. R. Mr. Woodland had been a sufferer for some time from stomach trouble, but no known symptoms were recognized until Sunday night, when his sufferings became more severe. Mr. Woodland was a very industrious man and a good citizen. He leaves a widow and two children, the sympathy of the community in her loss. The funeral services will be held this afternoon at half past two at the house, Rev. E. Underwood conducting the service.

RHEUMATIC PAINS RELIEVED.

Mr. Thos. Stanton, postmaster of Postville, Ont., writes: "For the past eight years I suffered from rheumatic pains, and during that time I used many different liniments and remedies for the cure, but without success. Last summer I procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and got more relief from it than anything I have ever used, and cheerfully recommend this liniment to all sufferers from rheumatic pains. For sale by W. A. WARREN, BRIDGETOWN, W. WADE AND BEAR RIVER DRUG STORE, BEAR RIVER.

MAN-SLAUGHTER WITH UMBRELLA AS WEAPON.

MONTREAL, March 29.—An extraordinary fatality occurred here this afternoon on a street car as the result of a quarrel between several drunken men. A young man named Frederick Kaiser got on a car with his brother and a bartender named Louis La-Hamais. The latter raised his umbrella as though to strike Kaiser, but in the scuffle the point of the umbrella was jabbed into Kaiser's eye, penetrating clean through to his brain. Kaiser dropped unconscious and was hurried to a hospital, where he died nine hours later without gaining consciousness. La-Hamais was arrested and will have to face a charge of manslaughter.

The contract between the miners and the operators expires Tuesday and until negotiations are completed for the new contract the mines will remain closed.

Rev. Dr. Robert Macdonald Advocates New Emmanuel Movement in Brooklyn.

What is the Emmanuel Movement? To those who have attended the meetings of the Rev. Dr. Robert Macdonald, pastor of the Washington Avenue Baptist Church, Brooklyn, this question has been answered. To the citizen who follows in the orthodox religion, to the man who is unshaken in mind and body. It is said that it means a new hope to the man of strong health, mentally and physically; that it is a revelation to the man who is wavering in mind and body. The Emmanuel Movement is in substance this: The power of mind over matter, the control of physical disabilities where such disabilities are influenced or caused by the mind; the easement of the mind itself, as superinduced by an abundance of faith. No new dogmas are imposed upon the believers in Emmanuel; their prayers and their faith are combined with the efforts of sound scientific help. Its basic principles are founded on three agencies: First—Moral Education. Second—Mental Suggestion. Third—Spiritual Hypnosis.

The last named method is employed only in the treatment of certain groups of diseases, such as alcoholism, food ideas, etc., and then only under the direction of an expert neurologist. The Emmanuel Movement was started in November, 1906, in a series of Sunday night talks in Emmanuel Episcopal Church, Boston, Emmanuel Church in Newbury street, near the Public Garden. It has never been held in this city.

The church of the Advent, nor as a low church like famous Old Trinity, but it has taken a position between the two and is known as "Broad." It is a church in Boston, the rector is Dr. Flood Worcester, the originator of the new movement. His assistant is Dr. Samuel McComb, Dr. Worcester is a rector for eight years in St. Stephen's Church, Philadelphia. Before entering the pastorate he was professor of psychology and the history of industry in Johns Hopkins University. He was graduated from Columbia General Theological Seminary, and has degrees from the University of Leipzig, the University of Pennsylvania and Harvard College. Dr. McComb has taken courses at Trinity College, Dublin and Glasgow University. Dr. Worcester and Dr. McComb were the principal speakers at Dr. Grayson's trial at Batavia.

The most menacing disorders that the Emmanuel Movement undertakes to cure are melancholia, moral fatigue, hysteria, suicidal mania, psychopathic sexuals, kleptomania and psychoneurosis. The foundation of all these diseases may be expressed in this couplet: "Deadly poison lies in evil thoughts which the most searching drugs are powerless to reach. The theory of the Emmanuel Movement is to co-operate with science, but this is an incident rather than the primordial object. This union of religion and science in church work is astonishing, but the dramatic feature of the movement is the conference with the pastor—that the Catholic Church designates as the confessional. It is at this conference that the patient bares his mind, and it is here the true relief comes to him. This conference, it is maintained, has nothing in it partaking of the character of the confessional, but is simply a confidence established between pastor and patient. The little things that prey upon one's mind are freely revealed; the petty jealousies, the little annoyances of life are discussed and, and thus appear data and causes that the regular practitioners could never discover. On this point Dr. Worcester said:

"I heard drunkards and others croud by us say that they were conscious of two things of something that had died within them and of something that had been born within them. What had died within was the old evil tendency which had been born was the sense of power and of oneness with Christ and God, which they never had before."

To the new movement all creeds are welcome, and to the new movement all creeds have come. Not only is the union of religion and science advocated, but also there is advocated the union of all faiths in the work of healing. Within the last few weeks the attention of the people of Brooklyn has been brought to the Emmanuel Movement by the work of the Rev. Dr. Macdonald.

ONE TOUCH OF NATURE MAKES THE WHOLE WORLD KIN.

When a rooster finds a big fat worm he calls all the hens in the farm yard to come and share it. A similar touch of human nature is to be observed when a man discovers something exceptionally good—he wants all his friends and neighbors to share the benefit of his discovery. This is the touch of nature that makes the whole world kin. This explains why remedia which have been cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy write letters to the manufacturers for publication, in that others similarly ailing may also enjoy it and obtain relief. Behind every one of these letters is a warm-hearted wish of the writer to be of use to someone else. This remedy is for sale by W. A. WARREN, BRIDGETOWN, W. WADE AND BEAR RIVER DRUG STORE, BEAR RIVER.

ENPIATED HIS CRIME.

AUBURN, N. Y., March 28.—Chester Gillette will be executed in the electric chair tomorrow morning at the Auburn prison for the murder of his sweet heart, Grace Brown, in Big Moose Lake in the summer of 1906. The news that Governor Hughes finally decided today to interfere to stay the execution was received here late tonight and was communicated to Gillette, who heard the word that took away his only hope for life with the same stoicism and indifference that has marked his conduct during and since his memorable trial at Herkimer, N. Y.

THE BEAUTIFUL LAND OF NOD.

Come, cuddle your head on my shoulder and sleep. Your head like the golden-rod, And we will go sailing away from here. To the beautiful Land of Nod. Away from life's hurry, and flurry, and worry, Away from earth's shadows and gloom, To a land of fair weather, we'll float off together. Where roses are always in bloom. Just shut up your eyes, and fold your hands, And we will go sailing to those fair lands That never an atlas knows. On the North and the West they are bounded by rest, On the South and the East by dreams; 'Tis the country ideal, where nothing is real. But everything only seems. Just drop down the curtain of your dear eyes, Those eyes like a bright bluebell, And we will sail out under starlit skies, To the land where the fairies dwell. Down the river of sleep, our barges shall sweep. Till it reaches that mythical isle Which no man hath seen, but where all have been, And there we will pass awhile. I will croon you a song as we float along. To that shore that is blessed of God. The hot, hot, hot fair land, We're off for that rare land, That beautiful Land of Nod. —Elln Wheeler Wilcox.

Hints For Flower-growers.

(Maritime Farmer.) Stir the Soil.—It is an excellent plan to stir the soil in each pot at least once a week; this prevents its crustling over and roots up all weeds that may attempt to get a foothold and most important of all, it allows air to get to the roots of the plant in such quantities that the soil is kept sweet. When Fertilizers Are Used.—Before applying any liquid fertilizer, it is always advisable to water your plants. The moisture in the soil enables it to take up and assimilate the plant food and conduct it to the feeding roots, as cannot when dry. If the fertilizers are given in dry form, dig them well into the soil about the roots of the plants. Some kinds are soluble and will dissolve readily in water. Bone meal, which is a standard plant food, is most effective if mixed with soil where it will be slowly assimilated. Liquid manure, made by pouring hot water over soil from the barn yard and leaving it to soak until the infusion is the color of weak table tea, is an excellent food for nearly all plants, but those living in the city will be obliged to depend on such fertilizers as can be bought at the florist's or the drug store. When you find one that gives good results stick to it.

Turn Your Plants.—In the window at least once a week, to give all sides of them an equal chance at the light. If drawn towards the glass and they will become one-sided and be lacking in that symmetry which is one of the charms of a fine specimen. No amount of pruning can remedy the difficulty which is the result of neglect. Arrangements of the Window.—If you have a collection of large and small plants, it is a good plan to place the largest ones at the sides of the window and the small ones in the centre. In this way the light gets to all of them satisfactorily and some suffer from lack of it as some must if the large ones are allowed to occupy the places near the glass.

Hanging Plants.—Hanging plants are often total failures, because they do not get water enough. Being somewhat difficult to get at, they are neglected. If much water is applied, a good deal of it will run off before the soil has a chance to absorb it, and, as a natural consequence, the plant will become very dry before more water is given, because of its exposure, on all sides, to a temperature several degrees higher than at the window sill. I think I am safe in saying that nineteen plants out of every twenty die before they are three months old, and, in nearly every instance, death is the direct result of lack of sufficient moisture at the roots. Give a hanging plant all the water it requires, and there is no reason why it should not grow as well as the plants on the table below it.

I have a plan for watering this class of plants which I have frequently described, but its benefits are so obvious that I will make mention of it here. Take a tin can or cup, holding at least a pint, and make a few holes in the bottom of it, fill with water and place it on the soil of the pot. Watch the result carefully. If the holes are too small or too few, not enough water will escape to keep the soil properly moist; if too large or too many you will find the soil is made wetter than it needs be. A little experimenting will enable you to so proportion the supply of water to the requirement of your plants, that it will be an easy matter to keep them in just the right condition. The cup or can, made use of, can nearly always be hidden by the foliage of the plants. It is well to point them up to make them less noticeable if there happens to be a speck of foliage.

My case was a most difficult one, and the doctors had practically said that I could not get well. It is with the greatest confidence that I recommend Psychine to all who are afflicted with throat or lung trouble. Yours truly, C. A. PINKHAM. Boston, Mass., Sept. 27, '07.
