

I should have done more shifting about. But wait till the fall of '09. Those interested in amateur sports will be glad to hear that most of this year's material (including myself) will be on hand for next season. We will, however, lose a valuable player in W. Jones, who positively declares that he is to join senior company."

The championship of the Third League of the inter-mural series was won by A, and its success can be attributed largely to its machine-like team work. The winning players were: Leclaire W., Côté, McCabe, DesRosiers (capt.), Braitwaite, Lalonde, Bourgie, Leclaire L., Belanger, Chamberlin, Lamonde, Jeanotte, McNicholl, Gregory and Peachy, C.

Rev. Father Bertrand, who took an interest in the Third League, says that there are some "baby wonders" among the players, but he withholds the names for fear of developing "swelled heads."

Was not that game for pie's closely contested? Full time was played and ten minutes' overtime, and yet no score!

Would Mike's mother have known him if she had seen him in football "togs"?

The leagues in billiards and pool are in full swing. Who wins the championship?

Now for hockey! In this, as in football, Small Yard expects every man to do his duty.

Marathon races are becoming the fashion. The Small Yard had one. Twenty-five laps of the rink was the distance covered, but of the thirty entries only six finished. Andrew Murtagh of Aylmer, came first; Edward Nagle of Ottawa, second; and George Baithwaite of Crysler, third. The winners were presented with suitable prizes. There were no speeches.

At the banquet that's coming, take care, boys, not to overfeed yourselves.
