DIED.

We have been requested to give insertion to the following notice of the death of a most amiable young lady:—"The sad intelligence of the death of Miss Mary G. West, of this city, after a brief illness, is so unexpected, that we are stunned by the mournful fact, and distrust our ability, under excited feeling, to add a line beyond the simple record of the untimely decease of one so lovely. But a few days since, she was among us in the bloom and exquisite grace of perfect womanhood; exuberant in health, glad in heart, pious and pure in spirit, rejoicing in the fair present, and crowned with anticipations of the future. She has resigned the expected bridal dress, for a robe of immortality!

"Closed are those beauteous eyes in endless night; Those beauteous eyes where beaming used to shine Reason's pure light, and virtues' spark divine."

Miss West was gifted with rare intellectual powers, which were carefully and highly trained; yet there was nothing of assumed superiority or pedantry in her look or manner; on the contrary, there was a constant radiation, of unaffected kindness, combined with an enthusiasm of thought and joyousness of expression, which gave animation and interest to every circle which was gladdened by her presence. In the quiet of home, never was one more beloved; in the gayer walk of polite life, none more admired; especially was this the case, in the varied and exacting circles of Washington, where the fluent and accurate use of the courtly languages of Europe gave an additional charm to her native attractions.

By the death of the accomplished young lady, society has lost one of its fairest ornaments; her parents have parted with the affectionate object of their love, her friends have lost the refined and valued associate; but him—who can weigh his loss?

But let us not mourn as without hope; she whom we loved, and whom we can never forget, has gone to the God she revered.

"We will not deplore thee, Whose God was thy ransom thy guardian, and guide; He gave thee, He took thee, and He will restore thee, And death has no sting, for the Saviour has died."

Suddenly, at Liverpool, England, on the 26th of July, Frederick Puleston, Esq. aged 26, Lieutenant in her Majesty's 1st Royals, and youngest son of the late Sir R. Puleston, of Emerald Hall, Flintshire. Mr. Puleston had been for a considerable time a resident on the Plains between Dumfries and Brantford.

LOST VOICE RESTORED!

New Bedford, August 10th, 1851.

Mr. S. W. Fowle:—Having seen many certificates published in relation to DR. WISTAR'S BALM OF WILD CHERRY, I take this opportunity of offering a word in its favour, which you are also at liberty to publish. A few months since my wife's lungs became so much affected by a sudden cold, that she lost her voice, and suffered severely from pains in the breast. Her situation caused her friends much alarm. Having heard of your Balm strongly recommended by those who had used it, I purchased a bottle of your agent in this place. She took it according to directions, and it produced a wonderful effect. Before using one bottle she had completely recovered her voice, the pains subdued, and her health was soon fully restored.

Yours truly,

HENRY G. BRIGHTMAN.
