

Fishermen at Pouch Cove toss the cod on forks to the flakes above, where they are dried. The greatest proportion of fish is still taken by inshore fishermen in their small dories.

Catch taken by a modern 'banker'.

