into fo ftrong a Prejudice in favour of the Conquest, as we have experienced.

But tho' the Conquest of Cape-Breton may have answered the Purpose of the Ministry at that time, I could not help looking on them as very bad Englishmen, should they postpone so defirable and neceffary a Work as Peace for the Sake of indulging to a sickly Prejudice they themfelves had industriously created, to serve private Ends; should they, I say, affect to detain that useless, expensive Island, to the Obstruction of Peace in our present Situation, I should look on them as the least discerning and unfaithfullest Servants the Publick ever had in these Nations.

For, I affure myfelf, they are by this Time highly fenfible, as I doubt not you are, and every other intelligent Adventurer in the Kingdom, that the Benefits arifing from our Poffeflion of that Ifland for fifty Years to come, would not compenfate for the Expence of maintaining it for a fingle Year. The Soil produces nothing, or next to nothing; the Climate is fo exceffively bad and unwholefome, that not many furvive a very few Months Refidence there; and the Nature of the Stone is fuch as well as that of the Air, that the prefent Fortifications

d

le

t-

le

e-

Ig.

r-

ld

ſe

or

at

he

1-

is-

er

e-

he

ÞS,

en

-10

N-

e-

ld

ck to