Canadian Labor and Foreign Trade

Canadian labor can take care of itself against any form of fair competition. Products made abroad by cheaply paid workmen will soon undersell our own in Canadian markets.

We must work together with the same loyalty and energy as in wartime, boosting for Canada first, last and all of the time. Foreign Trade should interest every citizen. In selling to the world, we shall help others while helping ourselves.

Production must be increased so as to guarantee every worker his rightful wage and make stimes so prosperous that workers will not have time to listen to the efforts of breeders of discontent.

The war made a worker of every man whether he works with his hands or his brain. Class consciousness has no place with men that work. Canada presents the greatest opportunities right now to men who work efficiently.

Overseas business should be carried in our own ships both ways. We should have the profits of the carrying as well as the profits of building the ships. With Foreign Trade there will always be plenty of work for everybody and no fear of lay-offs. The development of great markets abroad will and to the home demand for everything made or grown here, and especially to the demand for men. The whole world must trade with Canada.
