friend of the family, and Rev. E. R. Fitch. The bride, who was beautifully gowned, was given away by her father, Miss May Williamson was bridesmaid and two little sisters were charming flower girls.

After the wedding ceremony a recherche repast was served in a large marquee on the lawn, following which a number of short speeches eulogistic of Mr. and Mrs. Humble were made.

Mrs. Humble was prominently connected with the work of the Kenilworth Baptist Church, and deservedly popular. The young couple will leave New York on Thursday for Europe, where some time will be spent before their return they will reside in this city. About 100 guests were in attendance.

FIGHT WITH FEDERATION OBJECT OF THE MANAGERS

If Miners Hadn't Called in Assistance, Might Have Got Increase.

COBALT, July 16.—(Special).—No matter what future action the directors of the Cobalt mines may take the "Man on the Spot" does not and never will believe that the managers who signed the agreement not to submit to union scale did so without absolute instructions to do so from those in authority.

There may be one or two exceptions, and from the means at his disposal he believes the manager at Nipissing and some other mines have instructions to close down indefinitely, and for this reason and because of many talks with directors and others he believes that the struggle is on to decide whether the Western Federation will have a voice in the camp.

He has been known in the camp that the mine managers are busy engaged in preparing tables which they declare show that the miners receive considerable advance in wages under the scale which was printed and posted upon the properties where men are now on strike.

Ten leading mines have been taken, and results compared with prices they were paying to their men previous to the strike. The tables offered are alleged to be $30.70 per day more than these mines were formerly paying. This means an annual increase of $1,200,000 in the pay roll of the following mines: Threlkeld, O'Brien, Nipissing, Conquest, O'Connell, Silver Queen, Townsite, Flight of Wings and Colonial. Nine of these are good shippers.

Street rumor in Cobalt says that Manager Adler of the Foster has been superseded at the Foster by John Macdonald, who will meet the scale of Bergerson, the convener of the committee open air meeting on the square this afternoon. It was said, "In a week we will have formed a wedge that will split the union."

Organizer Roadhouse confirmed part of the street gossip regarding the strike, and stated that the strike would open on Thursday on union scale and further said that the men at this mine had never been called out. It was the result of a misunderstanding on the part of the union and a misunderstanding that might honestly have occurred.

OUT OF CHILD'S HEART WAVE WORLD OF ROMANCE

Prof. Sykes of New York Lectures on Robert Louis Stevenson— Popular Audience at Varsity.

Prof. Sykes of Columbia University had a splendid reception last night at the university, and the heat was like Samoa the chemical amphitheatre was filled. The subject of Prof. Sykes' lecture was Robert Louis Stevenson, and he managed to convey a wonderfully adequate impression of the spirit and genius of the body-shackled romantic.

Beginning with Stevenson's father, Prof. Sykes contrasted the solid character of the lighthouse-builder with that of the sensitive artist, whose own regret was noted in being a builder in where had its part there in the dominant chords in the range of the last of the Scottish masters.

Stevenson's work grew out of the imagination of childhood as the "Child's Garden" does. The "Treasure Island" and "The Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" were as happy as kings, thought the lecturer, and he quoted the "Lamp-lighter" to fill in a touch of tenderness. Stevenson, the writer, was the imaginative child who wrote, as the lecturer put it, at Edinburgh University, but the "Speculative" Society's genius, Stevenson described himself as "lean, ugly, idle and unpopular."

But when he walked out it was with two books in his pocket, one to read and one to write in, and as he walked he tried to put in words everything which he saw. Like Keats, he looked on fine phrases as flowers which he gathered in this Scott, and hence grew his mastery of style. This was evident in his poetry, his essays, his prose, his rhythm, the flavor and association of words in his writings.

Being a Scotchman, he was a preacher, but the essay for his paper, but the joy of living for his text. He was never a pessimist, or a decadent. Know what you prefer, take it and make a meal of it—there may be no desert.

"Life is over: life was gay. We have come the primrose way." A delightful analysis following of Stevenson's chief works should cause a run at the bookstores and libraries of the city.

Dr. Abbott announced Prof. Fernald's lecture for next Monday evening, when the public are invited to attend.

A Private Safe Robbed $20,000 in Jewels Stolen

Detectives are working on a $20,000 jewel robbery from the private safe of J. W. Cabala and Co. bankers and brokers, who failed to lock up for something like $10,000.

Sunday World despatch from New York, July 12. The moral is that most private safes are NOT safe for keeping valuables in. To the modern burglar they are but toys to play with.

Repeated happenings such as the above behoove Toronto citizens with jewels and other valuables to take no chances. Only the modern safety vault can circumvent the modern burglar.

Our Safety Vaults are a house of safety against water, or burglars, and as extra precaution they are guarded day and night. An inspection will convince you that they are the finest in Canada.

BARTELS IS SENTENCED TO 90 DAYS IN JAIL

For Breaking Loose From Sheriff—World's Picture Led to Identification.

Herman Bartels, the wealthy Syracuse brewer, who was yesterday sentenced to 90 days in the common jail, is not at work with the other prisoners.

Bartels is on the verge of a nervous breakdown, and is allowed to remain in his cell, save for a brief period of exercise. He will be examined by a physician to-morrow, and may then be placed in the jail hospital. It is unlikely, in any event, that he will be set at any rigorous labor in view of his weakened state.
