Premier at Hamilton

IS WARMLY WELCOMED

ASSURANCE DEAL

First Big Gun of the Provincial Campaign—Mr. Whitney Delivers Two Hour Address of Solid Statement of Fact.

PROUD OF THE GUARANTEE

REDISTRIBUTION SQUARE

Premier Whitney at Hamilton

The C.N.R. Guarantee—
"I AM NOT HERE TO DEFEND THAT," said the premier on the guarantee of the C.N.R. bonds. "I AM HERE TO BOAST ABOUT IT. I AM HERE TO LOAN MY REASONABLE MIND IN THE FACE AND SAY WHY WE COULD NOT DO OTHERWISE THAN WE DID."

He noted the salient points of the case, and emphasized the fact that the terminals had been omitted from the final mortgage, and this made a better security necessary, if the government would have to take over the railway, not that he expected such a contingency.

The bill had been introduced on a Thursday afternoon, and the house was prorogued on Tuesday. The house could have sat till the present day had Mr. MacKay wanted, but he did not want. E. J. B. Pense had stated that he had consulted with Mr. MacKay about it, and the Liberal leader said the bill was not to be opposed. No one said a word against it. No one looked displeased about it. (Laughter.)

Redistribution—
Speaking of the redistribution bill the premier said the government could have changed the constituencies in a perfectly reasonable way so that not only the Liberals but the Conservatives had only to undo what the Liberals had done. He recalled the case of the Ontario where David Creighton was left at home, and taunted Mr. MacKay with having been left out of his own constituency. "Perhaps he will be elected. I don't know," he concluded.

HAMILTON, May 5.—(Special)—A square deal was what Premier Whitney asked from the audience of 2000 or so who crowded the Savoy Theatre here to-night. They would not regret giving the opportunity of giving him a square deal in return, he assured.

His speech, which was a solid businesslike statement and unusually void of the rhetorical ornaments which as a rule enliven his addresses, lasted two hours all but 10 minutes. He spoke with vigor and his voice showed little strain at the close.

The scene, prettily set with a woodland stage, was filled with local stalwarts. With Premier Whitney were Honorable J. S. Hendrie, J. J. Foy, Frank Cochrane, W. J. Hanna, Nelson Montooth, Dr. Pense, illness of a near relative prevented Matheson attending. John Milne was in the chair.

Hon. Mr. Foy spoke briefly at the close. He said Mr. Whitney's speech had been so comprehensive that some one had whispered to him that nothing was left to him (Mr. Foy) but the Pawnbrokers Act. Not even that, he had replied, for the government had redeemed its pledges.

The premier's address was certainly wide reaching in the topics dealt with. The power question was the only one which anything new was said, and the novelty was perhaps more in Mr. Whitney's frank acceptance of the power situation than in the facts mentioned.

Resolution of Endorsement.

A resolution adopted at the close formally endorsed Mr. Whitney's straightforward method in the conduct of business as a lesson of a purer public life in Canada. It also said:

"It is very gratifying to those who have supported Mr. Whitney's government to have placed before them as we have here to-night, so lucidly, the clear record of their administration of public affairs, which is in so many respects, and in the deplorable conditions prevailing at Ottawa, where every department of the government appears to be infected with the leprosy of graft."

Hon. Mr. Hendrie was very warmly received on rising to first gun of the campaign in Hamilton.

His Respects to the Globe.

Premier Whitney was happy in paying respects to the Globe. For three years it had behaved pretty well for the Globe. Whether from innate respect or absence of raw material, the Globe has in the last few weeks, The Globe had not stepped over, but passed over. There had been a steady procession up "The Globe" stairs at the hangings of the old fort, denouncing the Globe for not coming out stronger against the Conservative government.

The Globe gave the premier a bit of human nature could stand, and he said the result in the last two weeks. (Laughter.) Jeff Davis had been described by an opponent as the butt of original sin and the upper crust of nastiness. He did not think The Globe

ALLEGED FORGER PAID HIS JEWELS

Man Wanted by Batavia N. Y. Police Hocked Thousands of Dollars Worth Here.

Ray S. Cogswell, who, with his wife and daughter has been living at 9 Oakland-avenue in a handsomely furnished residence, was arrested by Detective Mackie and Archibald at a prominent downtown hotel late yesterday afternoon. He is wanted in Batavia, N.Y., for forgeries said to run into many thousands of dollars. He was arrested at the hotel, under an assumed name and declared that he was willing to return to face trial without extradition. He asked to be taken to Buffalo last night.

The specific charge is that of forging six notes of $500 each. Cogswell, 32 years of age and five feet nine inches in height. He has been a prominent figure about the city's leading hotels. He had the appearance of a man of wealth and culture and part of the time had been accompanied by a private secretary and a valet. He had just returned from an auto ride with a jolly party when arrested.

He came to Toronto in the fall of 1906 and where he frequently until the spring of 1907 when he went to Europe for a month or so. He for some time lived with his family at the St. George apartments.

He had in his sojourn bought thousands of dollars worth of jewelry in Toronto, especially sapphires, but lately seems to have been pressed for cash and with one city pawnbroker he pawned about $1000 worth of jewelry. It is now in the hands of the police as follows: A gold pin-needle brooch set with diamonds, sapphires and diamonds, a heavy gold brooch of gold set with diamonds, ruby and diamond pin, handsome opal bracelet with great rough opal pendant carved as pine ring set with ruby and two diamonds, handsome gold watch, gold penknife set with rubies and diamonds, earrings set with sapphires and diamonds, heavy gold chateleine of seven pieces profusely jeweled and garnished with large uncut pearls.

At another pawnbroker's shop $5000 worth of jewelry on which Cogswell had obtained more than a $1000, was recovered by the police. In this lot there was: A purse of woven gold set with sapphires worth $600. A brooch of diamonds and sapphires (worth itself $500), a brooch set as a circle of diamonds, another diamond brooch, a diamond cluster ring, a diamond ring set with diamonds, a ring set with three diamonds, a ring set with four diamonds and a sapphire, a thin gold watch with heavily crusted diamond "C", a brooch of great turquoise hemmed with diamonds, a gold chain set with diamonds.

He had on when taken: a diamond ring set as a coat of arms, two gold signet rings, a handsome gold watch, a dog's head and horseshoe pin set with diamonds, a gold bracelet set with sapphires, a pearl necklace.

He had also a cheque on the Royal Bank of Toronto in favor of "Special Interest account Rebecca W. Smith" for $200,000. It was signed Rebecca W. Smith and was another for $200,000 on the Bank of Montreal in favor of R. S. Cogswell and yet another for $481,110 on the Bank of Montreal in favor of A. S. Cogswell. All were dated May 5, 1908. He had a pass book of the Royal Bank in the name of Rebecca W. Smith in which was marked a debit of the deposit was January.

The sheriff of Batavia called up Inspector of Detectives Duncan last night after having been notified of his arrest and he will be here to-day. The arrest was asked for by wire yesterday afternoon.

NEW ELECTION LAW BEFORE HOUSE

Hon. Mr. Aylesworth Advances Explanations Which Borden Ridicules.

ATTEMPT TO DEFEND "RED LINE" AFFAIR

OTTAWA, May 5.—(Special)—Sir Wilfrid Laurier to-day made his promised announcement as to government measures yet to be introduced this session.

First, there is the civil service bill, which, he said, would be introduced next week. There were also bills to provide for the extension of the boundaries of Manitoba; to amend the Manitoba Grain Inspection Act; to amend the Lands Act; respecting aid to railway construction, including the Hudson Bay Railway; relating to adjudication; to Chinese immigration; to make the Yukon council wholly elective, and to amend the customs Act.

In reply to R. L. Borden, who thought it strange we could not get copies of the U.S. boundary treaty, Sir Wilfrid said the treaty had yet to be signed by the president and also that authority had not yet been received from the colonial office to lay the two treaties before the house.

The fight over the Aylesworth election bill was begun to-day, the minister of justice moving the second reading, after two months of hesitation and delay. Opposition members declare they will keep the house in session for weeks before they will allow the bill to pass in its present form.

Mr. Borden, Mr. Roche and Mr. Greenway all took part in the debate. Mr. Aylesworth, who is father of an election amendment act, considered that what was wanted by the government was to vote entire foreign population of employees on the transcontinental railway. He spoke for over two hours and urged the adjournment of the debate, which will go on to-morrow.

Mr. Aylesworth Explains.

Mr. Aylesworth devoted two hours to the first clause, providing for preparation of new voters' lists in Manitoba and British Columbia. His main argument was that such a measure is absolutely necessary owing to the overlapping of federal and provincial constituencies.

Mr. Borden asked why the bill was not made to apply to other provinces where the boundaries of constituencies were not co-terminous.

"The Dominion might be divided," said Mr. Aylesworth, "for purposes of describing the system of preparing lists, but a division of the Dominion into Manitoba, East of that line voters' lists are prepared on the basis of municipal assessment rolls; and voters' lists are prepared on the basis of the Dominion house, and as boundaries were not in any way co-terminous, there was a great deal of overlapping. In some cases voters were designated by their postoffice addresses, which was no guide to their residence when the office was close to the line. He instanced the case of one registration district in St. Boniface for the province, whose list contained 228 names, while he voted in Selkirk and 86 in Provencher for the Dominion.

The federal election of 1904 all the returning officers got from Ottawa were simply lists of names by local registration districts and out of them they had to carve some how names entitled to vote in a certain federal constituency.

Right to Revise List.

The government had the right to make by revision federal lists for any province, in which available provincial lists were more than a year old. In 1904 the Manitoba Legislature changed the date of the list to January 7.

MAKING A POLICY GARDEN

MR. SIFTON: We've got to have a little something in the garden this year, you know, my dear, besides scandal burdocks and graft dandelions.

SECOND BLOW FOR ASQUITH

Wolverhampton Majority is Cut From 2865 to 8.

LONDON, May 5.—The declining popularity of the present government was again revealed by the result of the by-election in Wolverhampton East to replace Sir Henry Fowler, who, as Viscount Wolverhampton, took his seat in the house of lords. The Liberals retained the seat in the commons, but by a bare majority of eight, as against a majority of 2865 in 1906, the result of the by-election being as follows: G. R. Thorne, Liberal, 4514; L. S. Amery, Unionist, 426.

The Unionist press attributes the remarkable reversal of public opinion to the bad reaction in trade, following the great deal of business, which rendered Mr. Chamberlain's personal campaign nugatory.

BULGARIANS RUN AWAY TO AVOID DEPORTATION

Some Lively Scenes in the Colony on Easter Avenue, When Police and Immigration Officials Begin to Weed Them Out.

A merry chase after Bulgarians took place in the city yesterday, when E. Blake Robertson, assistant superintendent of immigration, began his roundup of those who are to be deported. Mr. Robertson is after all those who have been living at the expense of the city, especially those who have been getting their meals at the House of Industry.

He had five immigration officials assisting and also the co-operation of Joseph Thompson, commissioner of industries, and the police of No. 4 division.

As a result of the day's work, 51 men were locked up in the immigration rooms at the Union Station last night and will be sent out on one of the trains going east this morning. When they leave here they will not stop for any time until they have landed back in their native country.

Began in Afternoon.

The corralling started early in the afternoon, when Sergeant Rowe, with ten constables, was detailed for the work. Commissioner Thompson and Mr. Robertson assisted in the search thru the houses on Eastern-avenue and Eastern-place where the Bulgarians, herded like cattle, have been living for some months. They indicated the men who were to be victims of the drag-net, namely, those who have been living on the city's bounty. Consternation spread and swarthy skinned foreigners bolted for every available exit, scrambling thru rear doors and windows in mad haste. Nags and 50 men, however, were secured, and by 5 p.m.

McEVROY IN LONDON.

Barrister is Choice of Liberals to Oppose Beck.

LONDON, May 5.—(Special)—John M. McEvoy, barrister, was nominated by the Liberals to-night to oppose Hon. Adam Beck. Harry Fowler contested for the nomination, but was defeated.

The labor party have called a convention and may enter a candidate.

WILL LOSE NO TIME.

It is stated that tenders for the transmission lines for the government power service will be called before June 1.

Meal Tickets the Clue.

Mr. Robertson began operations at the House of Industry, where he took note and examined the passport of each foreigner applying for meals. When the list was made up he and his assistants started out after the men. Finding them was not an easy matter, as none of them were anxious to make the trip back. None of them, however, put up anything more than an argument, which was noisy, but not dangerous.

When the men were got together in gangs their identification was chalked on their backs and they were marched down to the station under the care of a policeman. A policeman kept guard there all night.

As a result of the vigorous action of the immigration authorities, 19 Bulgarians decided to accept work, and Mr. Bowar, a foreman on the T. and N. O., sent them to Driftwood last night, where they will be employed on construction work.

The roundup will be continued to-day. There are at present about sixty names on the list of those to be sent away, but this may be added to.

Commenting on his work Mr. Robertson said that there was by far too much indiscriminate charity in Toronto and that the city would soon become known as a place in which a man did not have to work unless he wanted to. That was largely the condition in England and was a thing that should be carefully guarded against.

FOUND HIDDEN IN TREE!

Soon after the fire it was suspected that Ray Lamphere, a farm laborer, knew something of it, and a search was made for him, resulting in his arrest the same evening in the woods near here. He had concealed himself in the trunk of a hollow tree. Lamphere acknowledged that he knew of the fire, but said that he had only seen it as he passed the house at 3 o'clock in the morning on his way to work.

Suspicion was directed toward Lamphere because he was alleged to have smothered Mrs. Gunnes with attentions. He was put thru a "sweating" process. His stories were so conflicting that he was held without bail.

When he was taken to the morgue to view the bodies of Mrs. Gunnes and the children he showed a disinclination to view them. As the sheet covering the bodies was thrown aside Lamphere turned pale and said, "Oh, my God!" He soon regained his composure, however, and after looking at the bodies a moment turned away. He continued to assert his innocence.

Helgrend Had Money.

Andrew Helgrend, who was a well-dressed young man from Aberdeen, S. D., appeared in town one day last winter with Mrs. Gunnes and called at the clothing bank. He had with him a draft for $250, which he wished cashed. The bank did not know the man and it would not accept Mrs. Gunnes' endorsement for so large an amount, and so the draft was left there for collection. It was drawn on a bank in Aberdeen, S. D. In a few days the money for the draft came. Apparently this money was turned over by Helgrend to Mrs. Gunnes, for

IMPLICATED IN HALF-A-DOZEN MURDERS

Man Charged With the Slaying of a Family of Four—Two Other Bodies Lately Dug Up.

ONE WAS WOMAN LIKELY MURDERESS

LAPORTE, Ind., May 5.—One of the most gruesome murder mysteries ever unearthed in this state came to light to-night, when the bodies of five persons, all of whom were murdered, were found in the yard of Mrs. Belle Gunnes, who, with three of her children, was buried to death on the night of April 23, last.

So far, only two of the bodies have been identified. These are Andrew Helgrend, who came to the city from Aberdeen, South Dakota, for the purpose of marrying Mrs. Gunnes, whose acquaintance he had made thru a matrimonial bureau, and that of Miss Jennie Olsen Gunnes, a Chicago girl, who had been adopted by Mrs. Gunnes. She disappeared in Sept., 1903, and was said to have gone to California. The other bodies were those of a man and two children of about 12 years of age. None of them has been identified.

It appears that Andrew Helgrend of Aberdeen, S. D., became acquainted with Mrs. Gunnes thru a matrimonial agency. Helgrend spent almost a month visiting Mrs. Gunnes and others in this city. He was supposed to have started on a trip to Norway and Sweden.

When Helgrend was here Mrs. Gunnes was trying to make a loan from a local bank. Helgrend offered to lend her the money. Early in January she borrowed $1500 from him, just before that Helgrend had drawn from Aberdeen thru a local bank $3000.

Disembodied Body Found.

When news of the burning of the Gunnes home was received by John Helgrend, he started for this city to investigate the disappearance of his brother, Andrew Helgrend, from his apartment. Helgrend's body was found to be disembodied, and his arms, legs, trunk and head put in different sacks and buried.

Sherriff Smulser and Prosecutor Smith say they are confident they will be able to connect Ray Lamphere with the murder of Helgrend and Jennie Gunnes. Lamphere is under arrest here charged with the murder of Mrs. Gunnes and her children. He is a convict.

The way in which the Helgrend body was disembodied indicates that some one familiar with the use of a saw did the work. Lamphere worked for Mrs. Gunnes at the time of the disappearance of Helgrend. On his head he was found to have a coat belonging to Helgrend and carrying Helgrend's gun.

It was current gossip at the time that Lamphere was jealous of Mrs. Gunnes and Helgrend.

May Have Murdered Husband.

Jennie Olsen Gunnes was a Chicago girl who was reared by Mrs. Gunnes. When the girl disappeared in September, 1906, it was Mrs. Gunnes who reported she had gone to the Los Angeles school. The theory is advanced that the girl knew too much in connection with the death of Mrs. Gunnes' husband, who succumbed to wounds in the burning house. Mrs. Gunnes had stated that her husband's injuries were caused by a meat grinder falling on his head. Mrs. Gunnes' husband, who succumbed to wounds in the burning house, had a local barber shop wearing a coat belonging to Helgrend and carrying Helgrend's gun.

It was current gossip at the time that Lamphere was jealous of Mrs. Gunnes and Helgrend.
