USE OLD GENERAL AS BASE HOSPITAL

City Council Turn Over Building to the Military Authorities.

Ask York Township to Refuse Application of Suburban Railway.

Several times during the discussion at yesterday's meeting of the city council, on the board of control's recommendation that the city take over the old General Hospital on Gerrard street, at an annual rental of $10,000, and turn it over free to the military authorities for use as a base hospital, it appeared that endorsation would not be made. Practically every member expressed his views on the subject, and Controller Foster and Ald. Singer made amendments to the recommendation which were defeated. Finally, after considering the matter for more than two hours, the board's proposal was unanimously carried.

Controller Foster led the opposition against the recommendation, and claimed that the government should shoulder the responsibility in this matter. He did not think that the city should stand for the liability as well as the deficits of the Toronto General Hospital board. street, at an annual rental of $10,000, Ald. Risk supported the controller and held the opinion that the board should have sold the property long ago.

Ald. Plewman explained that it was an unnecessary expenditure, as the government was quite willing to accept the reseponsibility. "This matter has received serious consideration by the board of control, and I could not think of taking exception to Col, Mewburn's statement could be a serious bad offered a building that Hamilton had offered a building for hospital purposes," said Controller Cameron. "The old General Hospital is of no benefit to the city at the present time, and if used as a hospital it would mean alotte the little of the city at the present time, and if used as a hospital it would mean alotte the little of the city at the present time, and if used as a hospital it would mean alotte the city at the present time, and if used as a hospital it. would mean a lot to all kinds of trades-

Was Badly Managed. Alderman Maguire maintained that the General Hospital Board had been guilty of bad business management. He thought that after the assistance He thought that after the assistance given them in connection with the new hospital, by the liberal contributions of the citizens as well as the tions of the citizens as well as the the Dominion arsenal at a cost of grants by the council, the least they $34.60 per thousand, consequently could have done would have been to there has been a loss to the governgive the old building to the city free.

Controller O'Neill was emphatic in his assertion that the establishment of "It is alleged that this emphasize." a base hospital was a government re-"The' government is alwith us, these responsibilities always remain." he said

According to Alderman Singer, the He asked the members to be fair and not let the thing be looked upon as a matter of patriotism. The $10,000 was a deficit that had to be paid some day and there was no rea-son why it could not be paid now. He declared that altho some members referred to the amount as a war expenditure, it was essentially a peace expenditure. The alderman moved an amendment to the effect that the hospital trust should be asked to give the use of the building free.

Excellent Recommendation Alderman Ball referred to the sentimental and business ends of the question. In connection with the former, he said that half of the sol-diers for military district No. 2 beonged to Toronto, and it was only fair for the city to look after their hospital requirements. "The recommen-dation is an excellent one from many standpoints," he said.

Many others spoke for and against the proposal, and some of the members expressed their views three or four times. The matter was finally brought to a head by Controller Foster, who made an amendment that the recommendation be referred back. This was defeated by a vote of 14 to 7, while Alderman Singer's amendment fared was then carried.

He pointed out that when prohibition was enforced the demand for tea would increase considerably, and the education of the young to teadrinking was a thing to be encouraged. The whole debate resulted from the introduction of a bylaw to establish a tea-room at 238 Bloor street east, and it was finally carried, when Ald. Mc-Bride withdrew his objection.

Request to County Council.

A resolution was passed asking the York Township Council to refuse the application of the Toronto Suburban Railway for permission to divert their line to connect with the Guelph line. It was thought that the diversion would be prejudicial to the best interests of the city and the township. The motion was immediately sent to the township council, which was in session yesterday afternoon.

A declaration by G. M. Gest to the effect that he was not a German-Anterican and had no sympathy whatever with Germany's cause, was enclosed in a letter sent to the Mayor by Strachan Johnston, K.C. The letter was read to the council, and in it Mr. Johnston declared that Mr. Gest's commany was declared that Mr. Gest's company was composed of British subjects. The Gest pany was recently awarded a cortract for the laying of an underground duct on West Bloor street. The de claration resulted from a rumor that Gest was a German-American and had offices in Cincinnati, Ohio.

In the opinion of Ald. Robbins, the council wished to help the military authorities in every way, but the $10,000 was purely a government expenditure and should be defrayed by the government.

Ald. Plewman explained that it was an unnecessary expenditure, as the government was guite willing to account here for the above cartridges. Therefore kindly send me your bill and I will see that it is paid." With the second lot it is evident that Vickers did not agree to have Col. Big Reception for New and Old Favorites at Alexandra Theatre.

NEW LEADING WOMAN

Frances Neilson is Capable Actress and Made Fine Impression.

"It was worth coming back to To-ronto to get such a wonderful reception," said E. H. Robins last night after the third act of "Under Cover" at the Royal Alexandra, compelled by repeated calls to make a speech of acknowledgment. The Robins Stock Company has come to be an institution of the summer season, and the enthusiasm of the capacity audience last night indicated a degree of loyalty sufficiently strong to satisfy any players. The ushers had a task carrying the baskets of flowers and the huge bouquets up to the stage before Mr. Robins' speech, and the ladies of the company were banked up with the floral tribute until the stage looked like a conservatory. As the several players stepped on the stage for the first time they all received a warm welcome, recognized by old friends of previous seasons. Miss Frances Nellson, the leading lady, had many friends in front also, and was greeted as warmly as any. She is a capable actress, and made a good impression by her refined and restrained methods. Mr. Robins himself received an ovation. "Under Cover" is frank melodrama, but the newer melodrama with plenty of society and fine dresses and a wealthy environment. The story is a detective one, and concerns the attempt to smuggle costly pearls into New York without giving Uncle Sam his toll. Two men are engaged in the plot, into which become entangled two girls, sisters, one innocently and the other, the younger, thru an indiscretion which her youth and charm would excuse with any audience. There are four acts, and they all go with a rush, and altho the company had just got together, and Mr. Robins had not been aware a week ago that he could be present, the piece went without a hitch, and gave evidence of all the "punch" which makes an audience sit up. Eugene Frazier has a strong part as Daniel Taylor, and he makes the most of it. He acts with a forceful naturalness of the most convincing description. Jack Amory had a suitable part as Michael Harrington, whose fondness for cocktails is phenomenal. Jerome Renner was excellent as the nervous young partner of the pearl smuggler and Mr. Robins was unusually well fitted as Steve Denby. Emma Campbell was very funny in the small part in the first act. Vivian Laidlaw and Reina Caruthers as the two ingenues revived many pleasant memories. Helen Travers had a lighter tole than usual, but was particularly cha pacity audience last night indicated a degree of loyalty sufficiently strong to Daniel J. Sullivan as "T. Boggs Johns," and Ralt Belmont, as "Geo. B. Nettleton, his business partner, was given a more than favorable reception last night in the opening performance of the always-popular three-act farce, "A Pair of Sixes," being produced this week at the Grand Theatre.

A representative attendance, considering it as a first-night audience, was present, and responded to the dry wit, denouements and climaxes of the play with nouements and climaxes of the play with general outbursts of laughter. Applause was generously given now and then, as one of the fun-makers scored some especial hit.

While the two leading comedians carried off signal honors for the number of laughs created, others of the company played their parts consistently and well. Sterling Cheseldine was "Thomas J. Vanderholt," the lawyer. Rebecca Ryeford acted as "Mrs. George B. Nettleton," and Gertrude Fowler assumed the role of "Florence Cole." In the minor character of "Krome," the bookkeeper, John McDaniels acted easily in his assistance of Jane Moore, who interpreted the character of the stenographer, as well as that of "Coddles," the maid.

Thruout the production last night, the company held the attention of the audience, and a final curtain call attested to the same good impression it had made on its first appearance.

Vaudeville never presented anything better to its audience than the scenic sensation of "The Forest Fire," given at Shea's yesterday, with Sylvia Bidwell in the portrayal of the heroic chief telephone operator, and a wonderfully realistic drame of the timberlead fully realistic drama of the timberland, thru which runs a story of the working out of justice and the reward of love and sacrifice, which thrills the spectator with the grip of actuality itself.

The story deals with the love of two commits forgery and the other is blamed and thrown into jail. He escapes after a time, thinking the brother for whom he suffered will assist him, but he refuses, and while the convict is being taken back to prison a forest fire breaks out—how appears later. The Right Way to Heat a House is by HOT WATER. This is PROVED by years of EXPERIENCE, and except for steam in large buildings, hot water is cheapest, best, and practically the ONLY ABSOLUTELY SATISFACTORY method of house heating. Why? Because, water can be regulated to any temperature to suit any kind of weather, and water holds heat longest. The constant, unfluctuating radiation of heat from a King Hot Water Radiator prevents drafts and "cold zones." Blizzards don't affect Hot Water Heating. There is no cold, drafty, "North East" room in a house heated by a KING HOT WATER BOILER. Hot water reaches every room, and every room is heated alike. This is very important for sanitary reasons and assures freedom from colds and from most sicknesses

If, as is the case with the King Hot Water Boilers and Radiators, the system also gives the most and the steadlest heat, it is not only the cheapest, but the best. King Boilers and Radiators are both economical and efficient. One of the principles that makes for efficiency is illustrated this way: Take two vessels—one holding an inch of water, the other two inches of water, and set them over a fire. It is quite plain that the less quantity will heat faster. That principle is followed in the King Boiler. The wall of water surrounding the fire pot and continuing all through the water ways of other makes required to heat and twice as quick to hea that colds prepare the way for.
