NEWS OF LABOR

BREAD AND BUTTER MAN'S MAINSPRING

Tom Mellieu Says Great Factors of Life Based Upon Economics.

"Newspapers today stage political sham fights," said Tom Mellieu yesterday morning, addressing the Independent Labor party at the Labor temple. "It is as one to be the people. The papers are supposed to be the moilers of public opinion. It is a matter as such, as evidenced in a recent considered advertising bureau, the moilers of public opinion are in danger of being moiled themselves. The Globe did well to expose the proposed methods of muzzling the freedom of the press."
The speaker touched upon the relative values of economics of two distinct schools, that of the university in general, and that of Ricardo and Karl Marx. The former, under the high-sounding title of the marginal utilitarian theory of values, merely based its entire system upon the theory of supply and demand. Adam Smith said that labor produces all wealth; Ricardo and Marx went one step further. They said that labor applied to natural resources produced all wealth, and pointed out the pockets of the manufacturers. The difference between the two values went into the pockets of the manufacturers. This naturally came within the meaning of the term "surplus values." It was thus easily seen that the worker was robbed right at the point of production.
In conclusion, the speaker pointed out that all the great questions affecting humanity in general were questions of bread and butter. One could not educate a child without first feeding him; no one could metaphysicize a man or woman without first attending to the inner man, and without a doubt the two most important factors in life were hunger and love, propagation and self-preservation. Labor would advance only thru the agency of evolution, in which political action was wisely combined with education.

WANT TO AMALGAMATE.

Central Master Barbers' Association Cide to Join Forces with Toronto Body.

A largely attended meeting of the Central Master Barbers' Association was held yesterday at 100 Spadina Avenue, W. J. Snow, president, presided. By a unanimous vote of the gathering it was decided to amalgamate with the Toronto Master Barbers' Association, and a joint meeting will be held on Monday, March 22, in the Labor Temple.
A. H. Galt pointed out that there was no need for a new association, but advised absorption with the barbers of Greater Toronto. He suggested shorter hours and more pay for journeymen, who, he claimed, were the worst paid workers of any trade. "Barbers are not getting a living wage, considering the high cost of living," said Mr. Galt, who claimed that barbers were much too low for hair cutting and other tonorial work, considering the advance in price of all necessities of the trade.

SAYS NO FEDERAL ELECTION FOR YEAR

Opinion of R. H. Halbert, M. P., in Addressing Frontenac Farmers.

Kingston, Ont., March 21.—R. H. Halbert, M.P., North Ontario, and Mr. Kennedy, M.P., Stormont and Glengarry, addressed a hundred and fifty farmers and their wives at a meeting here this afternoon of the United Farmers of Frontenac. Mr. Halbert denied that the U.F.O. were out for class legislation, but for the benefit of the Dominion, said to honest man should fear the "recall," and criticized the protective tariff as an unjust tax. He thought there would not be a Dominion election before a year and that the tariff would be the issue. The farmers needed organization because opposing interest had organized and because the farmer was not getting fair play. Corporations and subsidized interests ran Canada as any autocrat in Russia and Germany ever did.
Reasons of U.F.O. Movement.
Mr. Kennedy described the U.F.O. movement as a protest against the seizure of government power by moneyed interests and said their platform was large enough to include all classes of good Canadians. He challenged anyone to find a plank in it which meant class legislation. He criticized the protective tariff on moral, economical grounds and recommended a greater tax on wealth as a substitute for the revenue from such.
A resolution was unanimously adopted yesterday, daylight savings. Mrs. R. J. Vair was elected women's director for the county of Frontenac.
Brantford.—(Special)—Injured four months ago while at work at the Cock-shuff Plov Company, and failing to recover his leg was amputated, John Anderson died here on Saturday.

"Mac" was tough

HE was. Warders were afraid of him. They left him alone.

ONE Sunday, however, he stood on the fringe of the jail crowd while the band was playing.

TWO or three weeks later he came to service, but never said a word. And then one afternoon the big fellow became impatient, and asked the way of Salvation. His prayers were answered. Today Mac is holding down a $3,000 a year job in an Ontario town.

MAC, and hundreds of men who were once as tough as he, would tell you that the bright music of the Salvation Army Band touched a chord in their hearts that had been dormant since childhood. Having recalled their days of innocence, they could not rest until the evil within them was conquered.

THE Salvation Army Band "makes a joyful noise unto the Lord," with many such results.

Johnson v. London & Lancashire Insurance Co.; G. I. Grover for plaintiff; H. Cassels, K.C., for defendant. Motion by plaintiff for costs on settlement of judgment. This action being brought by the defendant company not liable for costs, and the plaintiff should retain out the amount of the policy $10, being the amount they have agreed to accept. No costs of application.
Wah Tom v. Sing; D. P. J. Kelly for plaintiff; R. K. Roaf for defendant. Judgment for plaintiff for costs on settlement of the taxes from the defendant. Proceeds stayed until the defendant's counterclaim is disposed of.
Judge's Chambers.
Before Mr. Justice G. M. W. Willoughby for plaintiff obtained order ex tempore for perfecting security to the supreme court of Canada, ill March 26, 1920.
Before Middleton, J.
Clarkson v. Davies; McMaster for defendants Crawford and Dunn moved for leave to appeal from order of judgment. The plaintiff, J. W. Bain for plaintiff. Judgment: When it is found that the plaintiff, representing a class, is personally disqualified, it has been held that an amendment should not be made by adding or substituting a new defendant until the original defendant has been adjudged to be incompetent to sue, and then proceeding with the trial and then proceeding in the indirect way, an end is attained by the indirect way, which cannot be attained directly. It is most dangerous to do indirectly that which should be done directly. Leave granted. Appeal to be set down at once.
Weekly Court.
Before Riddell, J.
Noble v. Esquimaux; A. C. McMaster for plaintiff; G. S. Smith for defendant. Judgment: The township was said to be proceeding to collect the amount of the taxes from the plaintiff, when he obtained an injunction: a motion to dissolve this injunction was by consent of both parties granted. Judgment: In my view the express wording of section 69 (1) makes the validity of the change of assessment conditional upon the giving of notice to the taxpayer. The plaintiff gave the notice so as to enable the person into whose name the assessment is changed to appeal. The change is effective. By this reasoning the assessment is invalid, and the court will so declare. The plaintiff should have his costs, including the costs of injunction, etc. There will be a declaration that the land is not in the hands of the plaintiff under the lease in question.
Before Middleton, J.
Davidson v. Zimmerman; J. I. Cohen for plaintiff obtained injunction till judgment for plaintiff for defendant. Judgment: The plaintiff obtained an injunction dealing with certain dental and surgical instruments procured under sales from the defendant, a misandriac and most of which are at 326 Spadina Avenue.
PARADELS TRIAL TO THAT OF CHRIST

PARADELS TRIAL TO THAT OF CHRIST

Counsel for Geo. Armstrong, at Winnipeg, Bitterly Attacks Prosecution by Crown.

SAYS STRIKE HONEST FIGHT

Winnipeg, March 21.—(By Canadian Press.)—"If crown counsel had been present in the courtroom on the day of the trial of Christ, the charge would have laid against Him would be one of seditious conspiracy." This was a statement of E. J. McMurray, counsel for George Armstrong, in his address to the jury at the trial of the seven strike leaders on Saturday, when endeavoring to find what he said was a parallel for the prosecution by the crown. Mr. Justice McKeefe made the remark that Mr. McMurray did not seem to know his Bible.

NEW PORT FOR HONFLEUR

Paris, March 20.—The trans-Atlantic syndicate, a French corporation, plans to construct a new port at Honfleur, eight miles southeast of Havre. It is the intention eventually to join the port of Honfleur to that of Havre, and improve sea connections between the mouth of the Seine and the important cities of Normandy and the interior of France.

would have brought the "German on the Mar" as an over against Christ, would have branded the fishermen on the Lake of Galilee who followed Him as conspirators, and would have interpreted the words "Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth," as indicating an action on the part of the Savior to take away property.
The Judge's comment on this line of reasoning was: "I am afraid we don't know enough about Christ."
As the above indicates, Mr. McMurray's address was an effort to show that the crown had absolutely no case against the seven accused. He claimed justification for the speeches that had been delivered, holding that the accused had only exercised the rights of Britishers when criticizing institutions, which were part and parcel of the British system, but had not to be worn like the Grand Llama. The discontent and hatred that had been more to the "fur-coated and diamond-ringed capitalists" than to Socialist propaganda, and when dealing with the strike, claimed that it was "an honest fight for collective bargaining."
It was also a purely local strike, he contended, and he charged the crown with enlarging the scope of it, in order to bolster up its case for a Dominion-wide seditious conspiracy.
Makes Long Address.
Mr. McMurray began to speak shortly after the court resumed. To monkey with the evidence. This order was given following a statement by the counsel, which his lordship construed to mean that Constable McMullen had been going around the streets with a drawn revolver.
"Don't do it again or you will not go on with the case," was the judge's final warning, when Mr. McMurray was endeavoring to explain.

Possibility of War

Between Bolivia and Peru
Madrid, March 20.—The newspapers of Madrid are discussing what they believe is a possibility of war between Bolivia and Peru over the Tacna-Arica controversy. They express regret that two sister nations of Spanish blood are likely to revert to the old system of settling difficulties. El Figaro says:
"Spain might possibly step in and attempt to settle the difference peacefully, using her historic influence for this purpose. No other mediation could be more disinterested than that of Spain."

Brings Guns and Airplane

From Bristol to Halifax
Halifax, N.S., March 21.—With 6000 tons of cargo, the Canadian Pacific steamer Holbrook arrived in port on Saturday, after a 14-day trip from Bristol, England.
The steamer brought 2000 tons of cargo for the government, including considerable war material, such as guns, cartridges and airplanes, which have been sent to Canada to augment the Canadian war trophies collection.
