

To "cheer up" a dull room

IT is in homes where O-Cedar Polish is used for the furniture, that the sunlight does its cheerful best. Not only does O-Cedar make the furniture LOOK ITS BEST, but each polished surface becomes a mirror wherein the sunlight is reflected. And, since reflecting sunlight multiplies it, O-Cedar may be said to banish the gloom.

O-Cedar $1.50
TWO SIZES—ONE PRICE

The sun's rays, glancing on a surface touched with O-Cedar, will be twice as effective to brighten and cheer, as those same rays in a room that has yet to enjoy an O-Cedar cleaning.

FOR
O-Cedar Polish

CLEANS—Cleans and Polishes "all in one breath"

You simply wet a cloth with water. (Always clean in hand) add a few drops of O-Cedar—and gently rub. You can see the finger-marks disappear. You can note the prompt re-appearance of the real beauty of gain the wood shows when new.

NEXT—lightly rub the surface with a dry cloth. And behold a hard, dry, lasting lustre, which we (and thousands of women) now know as "the O-Cedar result"—a surface so hard and dry it cannot get sticky or collect dust.

That is the only right way to clean and polish furniture—just as the O-Cedar Polish Mop is the only correct polisher of floors.

MR. FIELDING'S VINDICATION

(Toronto Globe)

The government's surrender to the free-wheat policy is the vindication of a great Canadian—one of the most faithful stewards of the public business the country has ever known—the Hon. W. S. Fielding. He was not the only Canadian negotiator of the reciprocity proposals of 1911, but as finance minister he was specially loaded with obloquy by the men who raised the spurious loyalty cry as an election dodge. It is begging the question to say that the Canadian order in council abolishing the duty on wheat is not related to the Knox-Fielding pact, but to a later enactment by congress. Everyone whose memory goes back to the events of six years ago knows that free wheat was regarded as the backbone of the reciprocity agreement. It was the favorite bogey of anti-reciprocity writers and orators, east and west. Free wheat would destroy the transcontinental railway systems. It would disrupt confederation by turning the currents of trade from inter-provincial channels and causing them to flow north and south. Economic absorption would sap Canadian independence and lead to political absorption. Such was the fundamental clamor of politicians who now confess that they won success by false pretences. In that campaign of calumny Mr. Fielding went down to defeat with his party, but his reputation and his fiscal policies survive. Those who slandered him out of parliament and out of office, now steal his political clothes and seek to hide the theft by removing the label.

Freight Trains Crash

Moncton, N. B., April 23—A rear-end collision of two east-bound freight trains on the Intercolonial railway occurred this morning at Debert Station, just east of Truro (N. S.). About ten cars, it is reported, were piled up. The accident resulted in a delay of traffic on the railway. An east-bound freight, with Engineer Melbourne Wortman at the throttle, crashed into an extra freight also east-
