GETTING OUT STONE FOR MONUMENT

Ernest Walton is Superintending Work at Spoon Island Quarries.

The Mooney granite quarries at Spoon Island are busy now while the weather is favorable, cutting the big stone for the soldier memorial to be erected on King Square. To indicate the size of the granite being quarried one stone will be used for bases, another 18. These will be used for bases and plinths. A very choice vein of stone has been chosen and the greatest care is being taken to produce flawless material. In fact the granite is the best the quarries have cut for a long time and will be a splendid tribute to this local industry.

It is notable that the superintending quarryman, Ernest Walton, son of the original owner of the Spoon Island quarries, is looking after the quarrying of this notable stone. Many of the biggest and best buildings and monuments in this section of country have been created of granite cut under Mr. Walton's direction. It is understood the granite to be dressed and made ready for the memorial in St. George workshops.

MAYOR RECEIVES CHEERING WORD FROM COMPANIES

We wish to take this opportunity to express our appreciation to your self and the city commission for the kind consideration you have shown right through the discussion of the season was an opinion expressed today by J. M. Woodman, general superintendent of the C. P. R. New Brunswick district, who is in receipt of an inquiry regarding the accommodations for tramp steamers.

The query came from the foreign freight agent of the C. P. R. in Montreal, and asked for details regarding accommodations for the months of December and January for tramp steamers to carry grain shipments.

Mr. Woodman said it was evident that the reduction in the port charges has attracted outside shipping interests and the reduction would be an increase in steamship business.

"We will carry our full services from West St. John this winter. This is the result of action of the City Council and port committee in agreement to further modifications, port wharfage, etc. All firms interested have sent joint telegram to His Worship Mayor Potts to this effect."

In the reception by Thomas Nagle, of the foregoing telegram last evening, signed by L. A. W. Doherty, vice-president of the Intercolonial Transport Services, Ltd., of Montreal, the people of St. John are assured that there will be no reduction in the amount of shipping through the port of St. John during the coming winter. More than that they are assured that the gross shipping will at least equal what had been planned for by the firms interested in the port. The common Council has granted the reduction asked. The port revenue on the basis of last year's shipping has been cut almost $30,000. The fear of threatened cancellation of sailing has been laid to rest.
