DOG SAVES CHILD'S LIFE.
Sinking in Quagmire, She Holds On to Her Pet Until Rescued.
North Brookfield, Mass., April 28.—The life of little Florence Coderic was credited today to her shepherd dog "King." Seeking May flowers in the woods north of here the child was caught in a quagmire. She began to sink and grasped the dog. As Florence went deeper into the swamp "King" stood firm to his task. All night child and dog remained there, too exhausted to make a sound.

A brother of the twelve-year-old girl, searching after a large posse had gone to rest from a night-long hunt, found some flowers which she had dropped and discovered little Florence holding "King." The child was in the swamp up to her armpits. The dog's legs were deep in the mire. Florence was exhausted and speechless for several hours, but it is believed she sustained no permanent ill effects.

The dog responded readily to treatment and frisked about his little mistress.

Beginning today the city will pay $10,000 a month to the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission for Musquash current.

"DEAD" MAN WIRES HE IS "ALIVE AND KICKING"
Six Servants Had Identified Body as That of London President.

London, April 5.—(By Mail).—Every one in Bologne is bewildered by the extraordinary identity mystery that has followed the discovery of an Englishman's body in Bologne harbor, reports the Bologne correspondent of "The London Daily Express."

It was announced that the body was that of Herbert Gilbody, of Upper Horse-ryse, London. Six servants at hotels were Mr. Gilbody had stayed here saw the body and "identified" it as that of Mr. Gilbody.

"I am personally acquainted with Mr. Gilbody. I was advised of the discovery, viewed the body and found a remarkable facial and physical likeness," says the correspondent. "Shop marks on the clothing—London and Lancashire—confirmed my impression. I had no doubt at the time that the body was Mr. Gilbody's."

All this evidence was taken as sufficient by the police. The "identification" was official and was so published here.

Alive and Kicking. Gilbody. Telephone inquiries in London left no doubt that Mr. Herbert Gilbody was there, alive and well.

The police and those who identified the body are amazed. Every one is asking: Who can Mr. Gilbody's dead double be?
