Gained Ten Pounds

His Weight Increased Many Pounds. His Health and Strength Completely Restored by Ferronine, the Great Food Tonic.

Mr. A. L. Gifford is well known to everyone in Victoria, where he has been engaged in business for many years. "Last winter I had a gripe," he writes, "and recovered very slowly. When well enough to leave the house, I was many pounds lighter than my usual weight. My appetite was poor and my blood was thin. Ferronine did it. I recovered my weight in a few days. I feel like a new man. I am a first-class ready for people who are run down. My reason for believing Ferronine so good, is due to its having me healthy after doctors and many other medicines failed. My weight has increased at least ten pounds, and I am a very vigorous man. Ferronine did it."

From Nelson B. G., owner the strongest possible proof that Ferronine is a first-class, strengthening remedy.

Mrs. G. G. Allen writes: "A few months ago I was run-down, tired and nervous. I had been before been treated by doctors when living in Ontario, and started once it again. Ferronine alone gave me a splendid appetite, and my nerves and body were made up. I used Ferronine regularly and increased my weight several pounds. My cheeks filled out and my hair grew. My nerves trouble disappeared and I haven't had a single day's illness since using Ferronine."

Ferronine supplies the system with nourishment in combined form, and builds up weak constitutions to a state of permanent good health. It restores all the organs of the body, and restores the blood and fortifies the nerves.

If it is better health you are seeking, you can find it with Ferronine. Don't be misled into buying a substitute or any other medicine advertised as "just as good." Ferronine is the only medicine that will give you the best of health.

The baseball match on Tuesday evening between a London team and the Stars resulted in favor of the latter by a score of about 20-0.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore, requires constitutional treatment.

Dr. J. C. Cheney's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by J. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take J. C. Cheney's Family Pills for constipation.

WHY COVER CROPS ARE VALUABLE

CONTROLLING SOIL MOISTURE—IMPROVING THE SOIL

At the conference of Dominion Fruit Inspectors recently held at the Central Experimental Farm, Prof. Shatt gave a very clear and scientific explanation of the value of cover crops to the orchardist, of which the following is a brief synopsis.

Among the many advantages to be derived from the system of orchard culture, which includes the growth of cover crops, we may cite as the two most important, the control of the soil moisture and the improvement of the soil.

Conserving Soil Moisture.—Shatt generally it is desirable that the soil moisture should be conserved for the orchard trees during the earlier months of the season. Up to early July, the tree is making new growth, and is transpiring through its leaves large quantities of water. Further, the swelling fruit is making its demands for water. For every pound of dry matter of leaf or wood or fruit, the tree uses at least 100 pounds of water. Hence in districts where droughts may prevail in spring or early summer, the importance of conserving soil moisture is marked. By this means an earth mulch is produced and thus evaporation checked or prevented. The cover crop system allows of surface cultivation in the spring and early summer months.

Some experiments have been made to obtain the effects of cover crops and cultivation on soil moisture on the Central Experimental Farm for several years. Thus, May 6th, 1901, we found that there were 120 tons more of water per acre, to a depth of 19 inches, in cultivated soil than in the adjoining plot carrying a vigorous growth of clover. This means that the latter soil contained but one-half the water in the cultivated soil. But grass soil is more exhaustive than clover soil. In 1902, from May to July trial every two weeks showed that the soil in sod contained from fifty to one hundred per cent less water than adjoining soil in cultivation. The difference being at times over 200 tons per acre. The drought in the early part of 1903 emphasized these facts and showed most marked in the value of cultivation.

In the autumn, on the other hand, it is desirable that the water supply should be diminished, so that vegetative growth should be checked and the wood given an opportunity to ripen before the winter sets in. This is readily brought about by sowing the cover crop in June or early part of July.

Legumes for Improvement of Soils.—by the growth of clover or some other legume is effected by the addition of humus and nitrogen. Experiments go to show that by this means the soil can be enriched to the extent of 100 pounds of more of nitrogen per acre. This nitrogen being appropriated from the atmosphere by the plant through the action of certain bacteria that reside in the clover roots. It seems more than probably that a good crop of clover, sown under will enrich the soil to an extent equal to an application of ten tons of ordinary barnyard manure. Not only is this valuable and necessary plant food, nitrogen, furnished cheaply by this means, but humus-forming material is added in large quantities, and this, by its physical action is particularly important in ameliorating the physical condition of the soil. And lastly, the animal matter stored up in the cover crop is finally set free in forms readily assimilable by the roots of the orchard trees.

Going for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Don't put yourself in this man's place, but keep a bottle of this remedy in your home. There is nothing so good for Colic, Cholera, Dysentery and Diarrhoea. It is equally valuable for Summer Complaint and Cholera Infantum, and has saved the lives of more children than any other medicine in the world. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take.

You, or some one of your family, are liable to get this remedy sooner or later, and when that comes you will need it badly. You will need it quickly. Why it is now and be prepared for such an emergency. Price, 25 cents.
