AGENTS.—ON JULY 27TH THE FOLLOWing appeared in the leading papers throughout the Dominion: "Lady Macdonald and Mr. Hugh John Macdonald, M. P., for Winnipeg, request us to say that the advertisements of Lieut.-Col. James Pennington Macpherson's Biography of Sir John Macdonald contain statements which are entirely incorrect. The book has no sanction nor approval, nor has the writer had any information, assistance or encouragement from either of them, nor is he in possession of any of the late Sir John Macdonald's papers, documents, or private opinions. They further desire to state that the authorization and collaboration announced in these advertisements as having been given by Sir John to this work amounted to, as they were told by Sir John himself, nothing more than a bare acquiescence in its preparation. Such acquiescence it was Sir John's custom to accord to all proposed biographies of himself, on the distinct understanding that by so doing he did not in any way imply approval, or even knowledge of their contents." Our Life of Sir John is sold to the public on its merits, and sells without the necessity of deception. Agent's wanted. Send 50 cents for Agent's Outfit. Circulars with terms mailed on application. Address Rose Publishing Co., Toronto, or R. A. H. Morrow, St. John N. B.

The Equity Court.

Judge Palmer was this morning engaged in hearing an application for review from the decision of James Kay, J. P., Moncton in Crawford, vs Perry. The question arose to an agreement relative to the purchase of a sewing machine from the plaintiff by defendant, after which by subsequent agreement plaintiff agreed to take back old machine and give a new standard machine in exchange for the first one to defendant on receipt of such machines by plaintiff. Defendants had used old machine for some three years and the point was whether the plaintiff could recover the price of machine till the delivery of the new one. Judge Palmer held that new machine should be delivered before payment could be demanded. Mr. Steeves for plaintiff, Allen O. Earle Q. C., for defendant.

PROBABLY FATAL SHOOTING ACCIDENT.—On Wednesday evening last, Coun. James McCrae of Wickham, Queens county, was seriously if not fatally, shot. From the facts learned by a reporter yesterday it appears that a man named Furlong was driving some sheep in and one became so wild that it refused to be driven, and it was decided to shoot it. It was about dusk, and Coun. McCrae was standing near by in an endeavor to keep the sheep from running away before being shot. Furlong discharged the gun and the charge entered Mr. McCrae's left shoulder, breast and leg. Dr. McDonald was summoned and the man was in a critical condition at last reports. It was fortunate that the gun contained a light partridge charge, otherwise the man might have been instantly killed.

LOUIS GREEN, has recently made one of the largest importations of Havana cigars ever made in St. John. His stock is therefore complete in all the finest brands, and fresh. To the regular smoker this will be good news, for nothing is so acceptable as a finely flavored Havana.

The Best Advertising.

The most efficient advertising in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla is that which comes from the medicine itself. That is, those who are cured by it, speak to friends suffering similary, who in turn derive benefit and urge others to try this successful medicine. Thus the circle of its popularity is rapidly widening from this cause alone and more and more are becoming enthusiastic in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla as it actually demonstrates its absolute merit. All that is asked for Hood's Sarsaparilla is that it be given a fair trial. If you need a good blood purifier, or building up medicine try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Auction Sales.

The Telephonic Man With a Thirst.

An elegantly attired stranger walked into a Woodward avenue saloon yesterday afternoon and asked leave to use the telephone.

"Certainly," said the polite bartender.

The visitor walked to the 'phone, rang the bell, and, probably without waiting for an answer, gave a number.

"Is that Mr. B.'s residence?" asked he, giving the name of a very prominent and wealthy citizen of Detroit.

"Is Mr. B. there?"

"Well, when he comes will you please tell him that I can't come up to dinner tonight. This is Mr. Hendrickson."

"Yes, Mr. Oliver Hendrickson."

"I am sorry, too, but a business engagement makes it impossible I will call tomorrow. Good-by."

He stepped away from the instrument, thanked the bartender, and said:

"Give me a gin fizz, please."

He swallowed the drink, ordered an imported cigar, lighted it and then discovered that he had no change. Looked embarrassed and then gave his name again. "Mr. Oliver Hendrickson. I'll be in to-morrow and fix it," he said.

The bartender didn't kick at all, the telephone conversation had fixed it. Mr. Hendrickson hasn't "come in" yet, nor has he "fixed it." The drink mixer doesn't remember the telephone number that the fellow used, but he is sure it wasn't the number of the prominent citizen's call.

Perpetual Motion Impossible.

It may be safely said that there are to-day as many minds afflicted with this mild form of insanity as there have been at any time in the past. Every city, town and hamlet possesses its would be inventor who is striving to achieve the end that is to startle the world. Many who will not openly admit that they believe perpetual motion is possible are secretly thinking upon the matter and entertaining the hope that they may yet do what so many have failed in doing. No other fallacy has been so popular or has so long withstood the light of reason as has perpetual motion. Alchemy and the transmutation of metals, which for a season or so occupied the minds of men, passed away to return no more. The philosopher's stone and elixir vitæ were believed in and earnestly sought after by the really scientific men of a few generations, but the search was finally given up. The phantom of perpetual motion, however, will not down, but beckons men on and on, leading them all to the same inevitable result—total failure. Men are as far from the discovery of the secret to-day as they were seven centuries ago, and they will get no nearer to it until a weight placed upon the ground can lift itself up, or, as the idea is more strikingly presented, until one can lift himself off the floor by pulling his boot straps.

The Old Santa Fe Trail.

Thirty-five years after Columbus discovered this continent Alva Nunez Cabeza de Vaca sailed from Spain and landed in Florida, or in the region now called by that name. From there he made a wonderful overland journey to the City of Mexico. On that journey a part of the way he traversed a route which ever since has found great favor with travellers to New Mexico. Just think of it! There is a road 800 miles long, rising so imperceptibly for over six hundred miles of the distance as to seem absolutely level, and without a single bridge from end to end! What wonderful tales that road could tell—of the boarded follows of de Vaca, thin and worn by privation and the fatigue of their long journey through a wilderness until then pathless—of the after settlement of the neighborhood by the Spaniards—of the coming by and by of the hardy American pioneers, traders, soldiers, settlers, and last but most important of all, the railroad engineers. Many an exploit of soldiers, scout and Indian warrior has that ancient trail witnessed. Phil Kearny knew it well, for had he not fought over nearly its entire length? Kit Carson achieved much of his fame in its vicinity, and in the early fifties F. X. Aubrey, a young man, made a famous ride against time over the same route, from Santa Fe to Independence, Mo.

The Two Coins.

Ben Adam had a golden coin one day,
Which he put out at interest with a Jew:
Year after year awaiting him it lay,
Until the doubled coin two pieces grew;
And these two four—so on, till people said,
'How rich Ben Adam is!" and bowed the servile head.

Ben Selim had a golden coin that day,
Which to a stranger, asking alms, he gave,
Who went rejoicing on his unknown way;
Ben Selim died, too poor to own a grave,
But when his soul reached heaven, angels with pride
Showed him the wealth to which his coin had multiplied.

A STRONG SUPPORT.

Furniture that is not pleasing to the eye is fit for nothing but a barn. Elegance is one thing and strength is another, but there is not the least reason in the world why the two should not go together in furniture. To say that a thing is cheap does not necessarily make it cheap. To say that our furniture is cheap scarcely does it justice. Take our $26.50 Bedroom Outfit as an illustration, which is about one third less than you would have to pay for the same articles elsewhere. An equally forcible illustration of cheapness is our $40 Plush Parlor Suite.

MY STANDARD PRICE LIST.

I continually receive orders from people in all parts of the country, who find it difficult to get just what they like, and particularly those who want very choice, high flavored goods. In order to meet every demand, please every taste, and suit every purse, I am obliged to keep in stock THE LARGEST VARIETY OF TEAS IN CANADA. I guarantee that no damaged or adulterated Teas will ever be offered by me, and the customer who buys my lowest or medium grade is sure to get good, strong, sweet and pure goods at very much less cost than is usually charged by other concerns. Those who buy my CHOICEST GRADES OF TEA, will find them unequalled and decidedly better than are usually sold at any price; such goods costing too much for my competitors to carry in stock, and costing too much for dealers who expect to DOUBLE THEIR MONEY ON SALES. I believe the public appreciate good goods at a fair price. The unexampled success I have met with, shows that I am not mistaken. I am glad to have my ideas COPIED. It shows their value. But I do not like to have good things IMITATED with INFERIOR articles, as it misleads the public, and brings the genuine into disrepute among those who FAIL TO TRY THEM.

henceforth is to be our specialty.

Observation has led us to believe there is nothing so difficult to buy for a growing family.

This is, no doubt, due to the fact of but one store thinking it worth while to pay particular attention to that department.

The reason given will, in a large measure, be done away with by our taking up this branch.

We won't profess to know it all, but we are among those who believe all that is necessary to achieve success in any line is a thorough knowledge of the subject.

We ask for our recently enlarged hosiery section such scrutiny of goods and prices as will demonstrate the superiority of specialities over generalities and cash over credit.

Kid Gloves:

What goes better with Hosiery?

In this connection let us remark, Josephine Gloves are no longer what they were. Note the recent drop in price.

There's a new name to conjure with—PERRIN.

One year ago we ventured to say that the time was coming when Perrin's Gloves would be as well known here and appreciated as in the West.

That was saying a great deal. Nothing that has occurred in the interim can cause us to change the opinion.

We offer Perrin's Lacing Wrist Gloves for } 98c.

There are lower priced gloves but none so cheap.

We have every size in our Undressed Kid Mosquetaire only Tans. } 78c.

Stamped Pillow Shams

38c. PAIR.

When last spring we made the above new price for shams it was thought bottom had been reached.

Not so.

Because, we have now on hand a larger stock than we care for. We would stimulate their sale by giving free with every pair three balls of marking cotton. At the same time we thus introduce a new make of Embroidery on which we are anxious to obtain your judgment.

For the same reason we won't object to giving a couple of balls to every purchaser of stamped goods caring to ask for them.

Special lot of Fancy Silk Tassels, large size, 3c. each.
