concerns. The weather was cold, but not particularly so, and the firemen were not greatly hampered in this respect. Outside the board of trade building, there was not a modern structure in those burned. The narrow streets, antiquated buildings The Queen

Inflammable Nature of the Stocks they contained, made a combination before which the firemen were powerless. The fire practically burned until it came to open spaces, which gave the firemen a fresh opportunity. For a time it looked as if the flames would spread along Commissioners street to the Grand Trunk offices, in the course of ersction, but good work hap-pily cut it off at St. Peter street. Immense crowds of people jammed the harrow streets, greatly impeding the work of the firemen. The police could not control the crowds. Women fainted and clothes were torn as those in the front ranks, scenting danger from falling walls, made a rush for safety.

The fire started at 8.05. in the prem ses of M. Saxe & Sons, wholesale clothng, on the corner of Lemoine and St. Peter streets. The streets in the locality were deserted at the time and the fire apparently had a good headway before the first alarm was sent in. The firemen on arrival found the building, a three-story stone structure, a solid mass of flames. Second and third alarms were pulled immediately on the arrival of the division sub-chief, but before the nearest reinforcements reached the scene the flames had leaped across the narrow St. Peter street and attacked the big five-story stone building occupied by H. A. Nelson & Sons Company, fancy dry goods, etc. Here it spread as rapidly as it had in the Saxe building. In almost an instant it seemed as if the entire uilding was a roaring furnace. The warehouse of Boardmore & Company, wholesale leathers, adjoining Nelsons, to the south, was next attacked, and from there the flames communicated to the establishment of Silverman, Boulter & Company, wholesale hatters and fur-riers. Here another inflammable stock
