KIAMAL PASHA PROBABLY NEXT GRAND VIZIER

Return to Power Expected

NEW CABINET

But Only Regarded as Temporary—Tranquillity Reigns Now

KIAMAL PASHA

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 14.—After the stirring events of yesterday and the early part of today in the Turkish capital, the successful formation of the cabinet and the issuance of an imperial proclamation, obtaining the observance of the Sheri laws and the preservation of the constitution, served to bring about a comparatively peaceful situation here tonight. The members of the new cabinet, of which Tewfik Pasha is the grand vizier, have been installed in office.

The formation of the cabinet, although it is not composed according to general expectations, has greatly relieved the tension of the last 26 hours. The majority of the people passed a sleepless night, owing to the continuous discharges of musketry.

Tonight the city is quiet, the troops have returned to their homes.

Confidence is gradually returning, although the military situation will require all the energies of the new government for its successful handling and the promulgation of wise measures so that the army may be placed on a more satisfactory basis.

One of the first acts of the government will be to supply new officers to replace those who have been rejected by the new cabinet, and it is confidently believed that he will succeed in restoring order.

It is noteworthy that while the revolution of last July was the work of officers, the present movement was carried forward by the soldiers, aided by the religious party.

During the whole thrilling momentous episode, the salient features of the revolution were the loyalty of the troops and the people to the Sultan, whose name was frequently acclaimed and the absence of attacks on the lives and property of citizens.

The new cabinet held a meeting tonight to deliberate on the situation. The grand vizier and the Sheikh ul Islam arrived at Porte in state at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and were cheered by an immense crowd that had gathered there.

On the approach of the cortege an intimation was sent to the troops and its discharges of musketry ceased like magic. The precincts of the Porte were crowded in every part and the hall where the ministry was installed was rocked to overflowing.

An imperial hat, appointing Tewfik Pasha, grand vizier, and confirming Zia ed Din Effendi as Sheikh ul Islam, also ordered the strict observance of the Sheri laws and the preservation of the constitution "for the maintenance of the security and progress of the government and country and the welfare of all my people."

The Sultan adds that the observance of the instructions laid down in the Hatt is of the most importance and concludes by invoking divine assistance on the efforts of the grand vizier and the cabinet, which is composed of elements outside of the parliamentary parties and which generally is considered as transitory and likely to lead eventually to the return of the former grand vizier, Kiamal Pasha and two of the most popular men in Turkey.

HEROIC PREACHER

LONDON, April 13.—During the recent severe weather the Rev. Thomas McClelland, of Bromley, Kent, one of the organizing secretaries of the Church Missionary Society, fell at Guildford while descending a hill on his way to preach at St. Saviour's Church.

He managed to crawl to the church, says The Record, though considerably shaken, and rested in the vestry until the time came to preach, when he succeeded in reaching the pulpit, and gave an able and impressive sermon.

When the service was over Mr. McClelland collapsed, and was carried to the house of a friend. It was found that his leg was broken just above the ankle.

SICK MAN WITH PISTOL DRIVES DOCTORS AWAY

Leaps From Operating Table as Anesthetic Is Administered and Hous Surgeons.

HELLEFONTAINE, Ohio, April 14.—where he was being placed under the influence of an anesthetic preparatory to a surgical operation, Earl Hilbott, a Big Four Railway fireman, of this city, overpowered surgeons, and rushing downstairs at his home, procured a revolver and kept the doctors at bay for nearly an hour.

"Get out of here or I'll kill you!" said Hilbott at every approach of the surgeons, and they were finally compelled to leave the house, Hilbott covering them with his revolver.

His family was unable to dissuade him. The man had been ill of appendicitis, having a second attack, and the surgeons had prepared to operate. He gave his consent, and the other was being administered. The doctors say the patient had reached the excitement of the vessel when he made his sensational escape.

COURTS WILL DECIDE ON USE OF LAUNCHES

St. John pilots intend to submit at a test case, as to whether pilots are entitled to board vessels from gasoline launches. Suit will be brought by James S. Spears for the recovery of $147.35 for dues held back by the pilots.

There has been serious opinions expressed concerning the legality of the pilots collecting the fees, should they board the vessel from a gasoline launch. The case will come up for hearing in June.

A SURPRISING ESCAPE

LYNN, Mass., April 14.—Miss Florence Whipple, 28 years old, lives to tell of being run over by an engine, which she escaped by a narrow margin.

The young woman was struck by the cylinder head of the locomotive pulling the regular 5:00 train from Boston for Lynn, as she was crossing the tracks in this city. She was thrown beneath the train and this and most of the first cars passed over her before the train was brought to a stop. An examination after the young woman was taken to the hospital disclosed nothing more serious than a fractured jaw and a few bruises.

"WOMEN!"

"Are You Nervous?"

The results of modern civilization are evidenced in an increase of nervous disorders. It could not be otherwise with the way we eat, drink, live, sleep, and keep up a continual round of excitement. The work, the worry, the excitement, all tell upon the nerves till they cry out in revolt, and will not be placated till a remedy such as come along with their nerve-strengthening and energizing properties, and restore them to their normal condition.

MILBURN'S

Mrs. Wm. Levi, Markdale, Ont., writes: "I had for several years been troubled with nervousness, and like many others, spent lots of money on medicine that did me no good. I was so bad that the least noise would make me jump and my heart would thump so you could hear it plainly and I could not lie on my left side at night. I saw a few testimonials of others and decided to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and to my great joy and surprise they completely cured me and it only took six boxes to do it. I have a neighbor, Mrs. Rickett, and I induced her to try them and they effected a cure. I can endorse this as for anyone afflicted as I was."

THE EGGNOG SEASON DEVELOPS SCIENTIFIC MARVELS IN THE HENCOOP

Shad-Like Fowl Is Expected to Lay Thousands of Eggs a Year—New Chicken Produces Run Eggs for "Dry" Towns.

TRIES TO DEVELOP SHAD-LIKE HEN.

SHELLTOWN, Pa., April 14.—Mr. Algon Graber succeeds in working out his plan and develops a new variety of chicken known as the shad hen, the price of eggs will drop to 3 cents a dozen, and cold storage eggs will become a thing of the past.

Mr. Graber has learned that a shad hen lays 200,000 eggs in a season, and does not have to overwork at that. The only trouble about the eggs is that they are most too small for household purposes.

He believes that it is within the range of possibility to produce a fowl which will possess many of the good points of the ordinary hen and the benefits of shad. Even if the shad-hen was good for only 10,000 eggs a season the results would justify Mr. Graber.

Many unfortunate accidents have held him back in his work. The first shad-hens turned out had feathers like a chicken, but they insisted in living in the water. Another lot had scales like a fish, and the first cold snap killed them.

In case Mr. Graber finds his task to be an impossible one, he says he will turn his talents in the direction of a turtle hen. This, he believes, will be capable of turning out twenty or thirty eggs a day, and such an output should satisfy any reasonable person. One thing is certain; the turtle hen won't wear any scales.

THESE NEW EGGS COOK THEMSELVES.

BEATERSBURG, Pa., April 14.—By merely feeding his hens more lime, Mr. Johnson gave to the world his justly famous self-cooking egg. It is one of the marvels of the egg, and omniscient scientists who at first declared the idea to be absurd now admit they were mistaken.

"The queer thing to me," said Mr. Johnson, when speaking with your correspondent, "is that no person had ever before thought of the thing. I got on to it this way. The shells of eggs are composed of lime. Now, lime, when slacked in water, becomes very hot. Hence, I deduced that if I provided a shell with enough lime it would cook the contents of the egg."

"I first selected a flock of extra hardy hens and began feeding them on a diet of cracked limestone. The first generation of eggs showed progress and the third generation gave me an egg with a shell so thick that a hammer was required to break it. By dropping the eggs in cold water the shell slacked, boiled the contents and then fell apart, leaving a poached egg on the plate."

HUGE OMELET BLOCKS RAILWAY.

YOLK TOWN, Pa., April 14.—Railroad traffic through this town was delayed for seven hours yesterday by a huge omelet, which blocked the tracks.

The omelet was caused by a fire. Several hundred thousand eggs had been stored in a refrigerating plant on the main line. The buildings caught fire and early in the blaze the floors gave way, dropping all the eggs to the ground floor and breaking all of them.

The intense heat caused them to swell, and as the omelet grew it pushed its way upon the tracks. For a full hundred feet on both sides of the burning structure this gigantic omelet filled the right of way.

At first it might have been possible to push a locomotive through the mass, since the omelet was very light and frothy. But by the time the fire was extinguished the omelet had become solid and dropped into a heavy solid mass, which was a tough as a rarebit.

A wrecking crew was sent for, chains were attached to one end of the mass and a locomotive got into action. The omelet was rolled up and shoved to the side of the tracks.

BELIEVE MINE BOSS IS BURIED ALIVE IN PIT

Discharged Negroes Said to Have Taken Revenge on Superintendant.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 14.—Edward Joyce, superintendent of the Carnegie Coal Company's mines at Camp Hill, who has been missing since last Monday, is believed to have been buried alive by negro miners who were discharged by him some time ago.

Joyce was seen entering one of the shafts on Monday afternoon, and soon afterward several of the negroes, who had been loitering around the mine all day, were noticed hurrying away from the shaft. They have not been seen since.

William Joyce, a brother of the missing superintendent, arrived here several days ago from his home in Wilkes-Barre, and has been personally searching for his brother in the abandoned rooms of the mine ever since.

This afternoon William Joyce heard tapplings, which he believes indicate that his brother is in one of the rooms and that he is still alive. When this fact became known, he was joined in the search by several hundred miners and by Miss Grace Joyce, the 18-year-old daughter of the missing mine.

YOUNG WOMEN END THEIR LIVES AT SEA

LIVERPOOL, April 14.—During the voyage of the Cunard liner Lucania, which sailed from New York April 7, two young women who had occupied a second class cabin together committed suicide by shooting. They were Margaret Clarke, 29 years of age, who is believed to be a resident of Brooklyn, and Annie Miller, 23 years old, whose former residence is not known.

The motive for the double suicide has not been ascertained and as the bodies were buried at sea, there will be no inquest.

Miss Clarke shot herself in her cabin on Thursday, the second day out. Her companion was greatly agitated over the occurrence and four days later took her own life in the same manner. It is thought that she became mentally unbalanced by her friend's tragic death.

LOST REWARD OF MONTHS OF STRENUOUS WORK

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., April 14.—With but a short distance separating them from this, their home port, and a ready market for their catch, the two hundred men composing the crew of the sealing steamer Vanguard were forced to abandon their ship and the results of their months of strenuous work, 3,000 seal skins, when the steamer's main shaft was broken among the ice fields. The crew was landed at Catalina today, from the steamer Algerine, which picked them up after their own craft had sunk.

BRIEF DESPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 14.—Already the navy department has well under way the plans for the increase of ships provided for by the last appropriation bill. Proposals inviting bids for the construction of five torpedo destroyers have been issued and the bids are to be opened on May 23.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Another evidence of Yankee progress—mail delivery by automobile—the first experiment of the kind to be adopted by the post office department, will begin in New York at midnight tonight when four high power electric machines will be placed in commission in the upper part of the city. An extension of the service will depend largely upon the success of the first experiment.
