BLONDIN MURDER.

VOL. 25.

Trial Began in Boston Yesterday

A Case That Has Created Long Extend ed Interest in New England and New York.

BOSTON, Dec. 1 .- J. Wilfred Blondin, French-Canadian by birth and engineer by trade, this afternoon faced the jury which had been selected to hear the evidence and render a verdict on the charge against him of the murder of his wife, Margaret, in April of last year. The trial began in the old Court House ,before Judges Braley and Stevens in the Suffolk county bench, and in the presence of a crowd of peo-ple which filled the court room to its utmost and overflowed into the outer corridors. The scene all day was no unlike that accompanying the opening

McLaughlin, in which the government's case was outlined and a motion granted providing for a view of the several Mass., wherein, it is contended, Mrs. Blondin was murdered, her body muwhere the body was found under a brush heap and the head in a brook. The jury will be taken sight-seeing to morrow. It is made up as follows Battles, superintendent foreman; Nicholas Terry, driver; Joseph W. Hendrix, colored, paperhang dealer; Patrick J. Welch, no occupa-tion given; Daniel D. Roche, machinist; Johan C. Johansen, blacksmith; Elmer C. Poole, jeweler; John Shumests, moulder; Omer E. Orton, pat-tern maker; Allan G. McLean, plasterer; Herbert D. Gardner, salesman.

In selecting a jury Blondin had the In selecting a jury Blonum had the right to 22 challenges, and he had made this number when 130 talesmen had been called and only eight jurors were in the box. The jury was completed in the box. The jury was completed from the next 15 men called. The gov from the next 15 men called. The government challenged two men. The rejection of talesmen was chiefly on their aversion to capital punishment or disability in the eyes of the court. The court refused the request of Mr. Morrison, senior counsel for the prisoner, to have talesmen asked as to their knowledge of the case obtained from newspapers, in addition to the questions required by law.

With the preliminaries to opening the case properly sattled, Assistant District Attorney McLaughlin addressed the court and jury with the open-control next Monday and will then be ready for business. The suggestion is made to call the terminus at Bamfield moter of the cable.

Ladies and Gentlemen and Sons of Saint Andrew.—It affords me extreme pleasure to welcome such a large gathering of the members and their families and triends at this the 105th birthday of our society. It certainly looks as if our friends were increasing in numbers and enthusiasm as the years roll round. Many have been disappointed in joining with us on account of the number of fickets being limited so as to prevent over-crowding in the assembly rooms, and that levery guest may enjoy the entertainment with pleasure and comfort.

Especially I wish to extend a hearty welcome to the presidents of St. George, St. Patrick and Mackenzie, and to His Worship the Hayor, United States Consul Myers and other invited guests, who have gladdened us atth their presence on this occasion.
