SUSSEX, Sept. 14-The exhibition closed today. By tomorrow night the grounds and building will be deserted, until another year rolls around. This has been the most successful fair ever held in Sussex. The attendance has been good throughout, Wednesday being a record breager. In spite of the threatening appearance of the weather this morning, a large crowd passed the gates in the afternoon. About 1000 has been confined to the house for people witnessed the races and at the same time the exhibition building was well filled. It was children's day and they appeared to appreciate being allowed to roam about at will and inspect the exhibits. Their Joy was un-bounded when they witnessed the creation of Dids out of nothing. The pleased at the successful conclus

Today the various Methodist churches were occupied by the visiting minis ters and in addition to these the Rev. S. F. Collier of Manchester Mission representative of the British Wesleya conference; Rev. Dr. Kelly of New York, Bishop of Japan and Korea, rentative of the Methodist Episco pal church, and the Rev. J. M. McCo. of Alabama, from the M. E. church south, preached. The Revs. Collier and Kelly preached in St. James church The Rev. Wm. Hickey preached at the Calvin Presbyterian church. The memorial recommending an investigation of the need of establishing missions in the West Indies and South America, brought up by Dr. T. Woodbury last June in the Nova Scotia con ference came up last night in the missionary committee and was favorably ted upon by Drs. Heartz and Huestis and Justice MacLaren and Dr. Young. It attracted considerable attention and was set forward for thorough investigation. The disposition of the church is to extend the work in a more foreign rection and this may yet prove the direction selected. A proposal to look after the influx of immigrants into the cities by establishing city missions was also favorably considered me very spirited debates were heard in the conference, among which not the least is the rights of women to admission to church courts. On this feeling was high. It is understood the committee of the conference dealing with the time limit of pastorates. At the present time Methodist clergy-men take a charge from year to year for four years, which is the maxim morning's meeting of the committee was to have the limit remain as at preapproval of several members of the ittee, who thought that the time should be lengthened to at least five This period, it was claimed, would not mean too frequent changes, and would include all the good points in favor of the present rule. A motion was, therefore, made to the foregoing

A delegate connected with the nittee stated today that he believed that when the matter came before the conference the time limit might be alogether removed, as there seemed to be a strong feeling among me the committee in favor of such action, and a motion to that effect had been ade. There was however, he admit ted, considerable opposition expression when the matter came up as a sugge tion, it being claimed that as a result clergymen would be stationed in the ne place for too long a time and that young men would not be given a fiting opportunity to rise as quickly as might be desirable. It was further asserted that a congregation whose pastor proved unsatisfactory would have a difficult time in getting his resignaion without creating unpleasantness brought up as an additional argument against indefinite terms.
