What woman has Done Woman can do

The wives of three mail carriers in New York state are carrying the mail while their husbands are away on vacations ordered for their health.

Dr. Grace Wilson Calhoun of Butte, Mont., has just been elected secretary of the Montana State Medical Association. There are already 27 American women registered as medical students to take the course in the University of Berlin for the coming term.

There are said to be two women in New York receiving salaries of $20,000 a year. They are both designers of women's dresses for concerns making a specialty of handsome ready-made garments.

Mrs. John R. McLean is to give a reception to the delegates to the international congress on tuberculosis which is to be held in Washington during September. Germany will send one woman Dr. Lydia Rabinowitch-Kempner of Berlin among its representatives.

Mrs. John O. Johnson of Toledo made a new record as nurse and steamboat captain the other day. Her husband the captain of the John Schulte, was disabled during the storm on the lakes. Mrs. Johnson not only acted as skipper in his place, but took the wheel and brought the vessel safely down the Detroit river and across Lake St. Clair to Toledo, besides caring for her husband.

Miss Mary Tillinghast, so reported, has been commissioned by Mrs. Russell Sage to trace the genealogies of the Stocum and Sage families. She will spend several months abroad, devoting her time to research, and on her return it is expected that she will write the history of the family of both Mr. and Mrs. Sage, to be printed for private distribution.

The letter sent by Mrs. Helen L. Grenfell of Delver to the congress of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance has received wide and favorable notice in the foreign press. Mrs. Grenfell was appointed by Gov. Buchtel to attend the congress which met a few weeks ago at Amsterdam as the official delegate from Colorado, but being unable to attend, sent a letter stating the conditions as to equal suffrage in her state. Before receiving this appointment Mrs. Grenfell had served three terms as state superintendent of public instruction for Colorado.

Mrs. Lucinda Hinsdale Stone is the first woman to have her portrait hung in the Michigan Capitol. Besides being a pioneer in the woman's club movement in the West it is said that Mrs. Stone's efforts more than to any other one cause was due the opening of the University of Michigan to women students. The portrait of Mrs. Stone which now hangs in the Capitol was presented to the Michigan Pioneer and Historical Society by the Ladies Library Association and the Twentieth Century Club of Kalamazoo at the recent annual meeting held in the Senate chamber in Lansing.

Sydney, New South Wales, has a way all its own of getting the money for the support of its hospitals. Once a year on a given date all the women turn out and solicit money. It is said that the response is always liberal, many men making it a point to fill their pockets full of small change so that they will be able to give to every woman who asks them. Just before the collection just past one of the Sydney papers came out protesting against the method. While acknowledging its success it called it undignified and said it encouraged persons to send their relatives to hospitals to be cared for in case of illness instead of having them treated in their homes. The women physicians promptly answered the critic by showing that even in the richest families it was impossible to secure as good conditions for the sick as in a good hospital.

The Interurban Woman Suffrage Council will hold a bazaar in the hotel Martha Washington during the first week in November, in which the majority if not all of the women suffrage clubs in Greater New York will take part. Each league is to have a booth. The Kings county league is to have the book booth, the Bedford League a booth for preserves pickles and aprons, while the Brooklyn League booth will be devoted to articles of general utility, making a specialty of labor saving devices invented by women.

Mrs. George A. Hurst of Arkansas is said to have been the direct cause of bringing about the election of her husband to the Legislature. During the canvass of his district Mrs. Hurst was his constant companion. She followed wherever he was called and besides shaking hands and smiling on voters she helped to prepare her husband's speeches and acted as his secretary, attending to his large correspondence and answering all telegrams making engagements for debates. When he was found to have led the entire ticket and his neighbors came to serenade him Mrs. Hurst was forced to appear and receive her share of congratulations.

A clever, popular Candy Cold Cure Tablet-called Preventics-is being dispensed by druggists everywhere. In a few hours, Preventics are said to break any cold-completely. And Preventics, being so safe and tasteless, are very one for children. No Quinine, no laxative, nothing harsh nor sickening box of 48-25c. Sold by All Dealers.

Action, thought, speech, are the three modes of human life. The artisan, the savant and the orator, are all three God's workmen. To do, to discover, to teach--these three things are all labor, all good, all necessary. Will-o'-the-wisps that we are, we may yet leave a trace behind us; meteors that we are, we may yet prolong our perishable being in the memory of men. Everything disappears but nothing is lost.

The true reason why we know ourselves so little lies in the difficulty we find in standing at a proper distance from ourselves, in taking up the right point of view, so that the details may help rather than hide the general effect. We must learn to look at ourselves, socially and historically if we wish to have an extra idea of our relative worth, and to look at our life as a whole, or at least, as one complete period of life, if we wish to know what we are and what we are not.

Credit produces a restless society, trembling perpetually for the security of its artificial basis. Sometimes society may forget for a while that it is dancing upon a volcano, but the least rumor of war recalls the fact to it inexorably. Card houses are easily ruined.

All their anxiety is intolerable to those humble little investors, who, having no wish to be rich, ask only to be able to go about their work in peace. Yet such is perpetually the case in life. We all of us pay for the faults of the few.

A Good Kind of Prayer

A twelve-year old girl who was one of the "little mothers" in a New York slum, had quite worn her life away in caring for the naughty and the sick children younger than herself, and she lay dying. To a girl of her own age, who sat by her bed and tried to comfort her, she said, "I don't know how to pray. I never had a mother to teach me. I never joined the church. I have not been to Sunday school in three years." Then she sank back in despair, and her thin, calloused, needle-pricked hands lay helplessly on the threadbare quilt. The other girl looked at them thoughtfully, and then said, "Show Him your hands, dear, and He will understand." --July Farm and Fireside.

Work is wholesome and there is plenty of it. It keeps us from mischief; it is good for health and spirits and it gives us a sense of power and independence better than money or fashion. --Louis Abbott.
