LOVE ROMANCE IN CHATHAM NOW ENDS IN DISASTER HERE

Mrs. William Mahoney Whose Marriage Led to Husband Serving Two Months in Jail for Breaking Quarantine Regulations -- Tells of Unhappy Wedded Life--Climax Came Yesterday When Husband left to go to Maine.

If the assertions of his wife be true in consequence he was obliged to serve his term. "From the first," said Mrs. Mahoney to a Standard reporter last evening. "We were not happy. Will was either bad-minded or jealous minded. I could not go out at all, and could hardly speak to one of my friends. He got to work all winter and it was a very hard season in Chatham. He stayed around the house and I looked after and sold them to keep things going. "In May he wanted the money to take him there. When he got to work up there he did well, but only sent me two dollars the whole two months he was away. Then in July he came home and told me he had got the money for the land grant and I thought all our troubles were over. "Mrs. Mahoney went on to relate that since the family moved to St. John on July 15, things had gone from bad to worse. Her husband, she said, had remained away from home most of the time and had taken all the money out of the shop. He had broken up her furniture and had taken a thing in the house. Her husband came back yesterday, she continued, packed his things and left about 4 o'clock saying he was going to Maine on the boat. "If he does not write and send some money," she added, "I don't know what I will do. My little boy, who is 12 years old, worked in the pulp mill at Chatham and supported us when my husband was in Campbellton, and I suppose he can do the same here. "Mrs. Mahoney's story seems a bad ending to the pretty romance portrayed by the Chatham correspondents of St. John papers. She is quite proud of her husband's medal won for service in South Africa. It is engraved "Roberts Horse, with three bars representing campaigns in Transvaal, Orange Free State and Cape Colony.

RESISTED ARREST IN CHARLOTTE STREET.

Clarence White Made Things Lively On Saturday Night—Police Secure Assistance of Passers by to Secure Prisoner.

Encouraged by what the police say was the misplaced sympathy of a number of ladies on the street, Clarence White, aged 25, put up a fight against being arrested in Charlotte street by Policeman McCollum about 10 o'clock Saturday night. White is the brother of Gunner White and is a sturdy young man who can take very good care of himself in a tussle. The officer first saw him in Queen Square, and after a preliminary skit along Charlotte street with him. The prisoner was quiet enough until some women on the street began to gather around and with expressions of sympathy for him. White then began to struggle, and kicked and struck out violently. The policeman asked a number of men who came up to assist him if they did not wish to see White hurt, but no one offered to take a hand. Farther down the street, two young men took hold of the prisoner, but before he was landed in the lock-up one of the volunteers had his hand badly scratched and another the skin well kicked off his shins. Policeman McCollum lost his hold on the prisoner, and it was afterwards restored to him. The charge against White is being drunk and violently resisting the police.

BOYS AT UTOPIA ARE AFTER BIG GAME

Dr. Seixas, Who Has Charge of Wealthy Americans' Camp, Looking Forward to Game With Marathons. The Marathons will meet the masters when the boys from Camp Utopia strike town, thinks Dr. P. M. Seixas, who is in charge of thirty-eight families of the United States camping out in the wilds of Charlotte county. Dr. Seixas came to the city on Saturday with several boys who are returning home and he gave a Standard reporter a glowing account of the good time the young Americans are having in the St. Croix. The time is spent in fishing, long walks across country, bathing and canoeing, and all kinds of athletic games. The St. George baseball team was defeated by the campers 9-2, and other games have been arranged. On Tuesday the Beaver Harbor team will be given a game and on Thursday the Utopia boys will be taken across to Campbellville in a yacht for a game on the island. Early next week the boys will leave Utopia on their long tramp of fifty-two miles to St. John, and expect to cover the distance in two days. After a rest the young favorites of fortune would like to get on a game with the Marathons. If they are all in the same condition as Dr. Seixas they should be able to make the champions' laurels. Quite recently, Dr. Seixas says, the campers returned from a long tramp in the Maxconduvic and Bonny river territory through to McDougall Creek, while another section traversed the Sparks Lake and Bear Lake districts.

A Mahoney Out of the Game.

The followers of baseball in the city will regret to hear that Mr. Mahoney, the clever young St. Peter's pitcher, sustained painful injuries in Saturday's game with the Marathons and will be out of the game for the season in consequence. While chasing Murphy's fly in the fifth inning, young Mahoney collided with the fence and the game was delayed for a few minutes until he was recovered. He pluckily remained in the game until the close, and an examination of his injuries revealed that he had fractured his right arm, and after he reached home, it was found one rib was fractured and a tendon in his leg severely strained.
