percent shooting average from the floor and a dazzling 67 percent from the line.

In the second battle, the sharp shooting continued with Bonnie McKenzie hitting a career high of 24 points, and Lordon and Slater adding 20 and 24 points, respectively.

After the successful weekend, the Red Bloomers will be gearing up for their main rivalry against the struggling Dalhousie Tigers in Halifax next weekend.

Blazers Fading?

As speculated in last week's Brunswick, the UNB Red Blazers have allowed themselves to come very close to the end of the first women's hockey dynasty in New Brunswick's history. After winning the past 5 Senior "A" Women's titles, UNB now finds themselves trailing the best-of-five NB final 2 games to none to the Moncton Jaguars.

UNB dropped the two opening games of the series by scores of 3-1 and 2-1 at Moncton's Hillsborough Arena. In the first game Saturday, Moncton scored twice in the final minute of the second period to take the decision, and Sunday a short-handed breakaway goal proved to be the winner.

UNB coach Mike Power called it a very frustrating weekend, "Well obviously, John (Assistant Coach John Toner) and I felt tied up, it was like coaching a different team. Moncton's goalie stoned

The 1987 Student Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation Conference hosted by UNB two weeks ago was an undisputable success. The conference was officially opened 7 p.m. Thursday night with addresses from President Downey, Dr. W. W.

MacGillivray and guest speaker Dr. Daniel Soucie, President of SAHPER.

In his address to physical education students Dr. Soucie stated that the only way to benefit in your career aspirations is to take risks, learning to help yourself in the process. Such topics as new and upcoming mega trends were discussed, as well as the changing lifestyles being experienced by Canadians. An outline on a wide variety of possible careers was presented by Dr. Soucie, as well as the possibility of diversification in already existing jobs.

With the conclusion of the opening ceremonies, guests and students were encouraged to attend the Meet 'n Greet held at Memorial Hall. During the rest of the evening conference members were treated to the antics of Guy Gallibois and Darren Campbell performing their version of Pee Wee Herman, comedian Erik Gingles performing an excellent stand up comedy routine; with vocalist Bill Halpin, and singer, guitarist John Gravelle rounding out a relaxing, friendly evening.

Among universities taking part in this conference were Dalhousie, Acadia, St. F.X., Memorial University College of Cape Breton, and the host University of New Brunswick. For conference Chairperson and Chief Organizer Norma Cody, the Meet 'n Greet was the highlight of the weekend, as it gave the visiting students time to get acquainted.

Friday's conference schedule enjoyed a high turnout as lecturers from various spectrums of Physical Education gave lectures and presentations. Morning topics included Sports Marketing, Sports Broadcasting, and Exercising the Elderly with some of the afternoon topics being "Coaching Careers", Facility Administration and a Physiology Lab Demonstration. Friday night activities centered around a Hawaiian beach party held at the Fredericton Inn.

Due to the snowstorm Saturday, attendance at some of the lectures was down somewhat. However, the guest speakers kept their audience interested in such topics as Recreation Careers, running a YM-YWCA and Manual Therapy in Sports..

As a finale to this informative weekend, conference students were invited to take part in a pizza party held at the Riverview Arms.

The conference ran smoothly, oblivious even to the stormy weather experienced Saturday. A hearty congratulations is extended to all those who helped organize such a well-rounded conference. A special note of acknowledgement to Chairperson Norma Cody for the great amount of time and effort she put into this conference; with her dedication and leadership ability this conference was a great success.

us in the early going and we faded away. They (Moncton) played with more discipline than we did."

Game 3, 4 and 5 if they prove to be necessary, are slated for the Fredericton area this weekend. Friday at 9 p.m. the teams will meet for the potential final game at the Stanley Arena, which was the only rink available. The fourth game would be 8:30 p.m. Saturday at the Aitken Center, while game five would also be at the AUC, 10 a.m. Sunday.

Coach Power feels that the pressure is off his team at least for game 3, "Nobody thinks we can win it now, except for us, we believe we can. You can't forget I've got a team of champions, we had two off games, UNB will not roll over and play dead for anyone. If they want our title they have to win one more game, I don't believe that is going to happen."

Admission to the game is free.

Rendez-Vous 87!?

By JIM MCDONALD

Well, its that time of the year once again. Being midway through the National Hockey League regular season and the period in which some of the top players in each of the Campbells and Wales Conference gather to display their skills while playing under one banner.

Not to my disappointment, but to a majority of people behind the Iron Curtain, the N.H.L. All-Stars prevailed over the Soviets 4-3 in a game whicg the N.H.L. had dominated the play. Despite the attempt of the Soviet Referee, Grant Fuhr, starting goaltender and the penalty killers survived various scoring opportunities by the opposition.

Although Edmonton Oiler Grant Fuhr played a heck of a game, minus the 1st goal, I still felt that Nordique netminder Clint Mararchuk (who logged a great deal of time with the Fredericton Express of the AHL) should have started between the pipes for the N.H.L. He is one of the top goaltenders in the league and also has experience against Soviet opposition. But Head Coach Jean Perron of the Stanley Cup Champion Montreal Canadiens was not obliged to start him and at this moment is not regretting it one bit.

I would like to conclude by stating that the idea of a series between the best in the NHL and Soviet Union facing off almost 3/4 of the way through the regular season just isn't right. I feel the players need the break in order to regain some strength for the drive to the play-offs. What do you think?

Black Bears ready for AUAA's

By DAVID SEABROOK

UNB's Black Bear Wrestling team goes for AUAA gold tomorrow; but, it won't be easy to maintain the dynasty that has garnered 11 AUAA titles in 14 years.

If there is such a thing as home team advantage in wrestling the Black Bears will have it. The competition starts at 10 a.m. in the West Gym and finals are due to begin around 3:30 p.m.

"Of course, the more support the better. A good crowd can really help you out when you need it most in a match," says Bears coach George Multamaki.

Coach Multamaki expects stiff competition from both Mt. Allison and Memorial Univrsty. "It's going to be tough. It will depend largely on our guys who don't win a weight class. If we can get second instead of third or fourth, it won't even be close."

UNB will compete in 11 of the 12 possible weight classes. The first and second place finishers in each weight class get a berth in the national championship. Most team members, according to coach Multamaki, have a legitimate shot at claiming a medal.

The AUAA's also have an interesting quirk. Because Concordia University is the only wrestling club in the Quebec Conference, they have the option to compete at either the Ontario championships or the AUAA's.

Concordia, whose members make up about half the national team, has opted to compete in the AUAA's but their points will not count towards the AUAA team championship. They will compete in the preliminary rounds but will not wrestle for the gold or silver medals.

Coach Multamaki says at least five UNB athletes have a good shot at winning within the AUAA. Dwayne Wakerall and Don Ryan are both defending AUAA champions and he expects them to repeat if things go well.

Coach Multamaki is quick to point out, however, that the rest of his 11 man roster could also surprise and come up big. "The team's ready and every confident about their conditioning. Everybody's going in thinking we have a very good chance to win again," he said.
