

was made by the fire-plate at my cottage at Kiggewee, some years ago. The volume which my mother has before her is one of the three volumes of Morley's "Life of Gladstone" which we read together that summer.

I of course remember your brother "Murphy" Graham very well.
He was one of my most valued friends at University and I felt deeply grieved when I learned of his death.

I cannot say how sorry I am to have missed the opportunity of having the picture of my mother in the Christmas number of the Canadian Home Journal. I had hoped, however, that you may still be willing to give it a place in some subsequent issue.

With my very hearty thanks for your kind thought and letter, will you please accept my best of wishes for the New Year.

Mrs Jean Graham,
Canadian Home Journal,
Toronto 2, Ontario.
