Letter to the Editor

Trenton, Jan. 6, 1919.

Editor Ontario: Dear Sir:—While on the streets, Saturday, our representative heard from several sources, a rumor, that after canvassing and securing a promise of the patronage of several Cheese Factory Companies, in the district, we had sold out our business.

Feeling, sir, that the insinuation connected with the rumor is unfair, both to our representative and the Company, we beg space in your valuable paper to say that the report is not true, but we expect originated from the fact that we sold some time ago the "dairy" that was run as a side-line, in connection with our creamery business.

We have no inclination whatever to break faith with our customers, and while thanking them for their patronage both past and promised, we wish to say the reason we sold the dairy side-line was that we might give our cream customers our undivided attention and more efficient service.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your kindness, we are, Respectfully yours, Trenton Creamery & Dairy Co. Per F. L. Valleur, Mgr. 18-dew

It is reported that the C.N.O.R. freight shed was entered by small boys and a quantity of honey and other food stolen. The police investigated the case.

BAYSIDE BRIEFS

Consisting of facts, fiction and foolishness.

We've been trying very hard to win the war, That is why we haven't written long before.

Since we have a brand New Year And the dawn of peace is here, We will give you all the news and likely more.

Considering that this ancient little hamlet is scarcely six miles from the city of Belleville, and less than five from the terrible T. R. T. (or Tiny Naughty Trenton, as it is sometimes called), yet we have not suffered from the severe storms that have had as their starting point, the City Hall, Belleville, or from the unusual explosion that took place in Trenton some time ago. But we have suffered from the "flu" in general as well as in particular.

"My kindest New Year's wish to you is, that you never take the 'flu'."

If we could only convince ourselves that we are safe from the storms in the east and explosions in the west, and that the flu would not only enjoy a certain sense of security, but we could also exclaim to the world that we are a peculiar people, zealous of everything but good work, a bunch of beautiful beings conveniently situated storm proof, explosion proof and flu proof.

Although we live away out here in the open nevertheless we take a lively interest in the municipal affairs of the City, partly because we derive some amusement from it and also that Belleville happens to be the good old county town.

In the heat of an election we hear some rather interesting and amusing yarns. Some yarns contain just enough truth to make them look feasible, but this particular yarn we are about to "chafe" doesn't contain enough of the good light to blind anybody. A lie or not, it is here goes: We have heard it whispered around that there is a band of individuals in the City of Belleville known as "Retired Farmers". Men who have retired from active service on the farm and whose retirement become more pronounced when they reach the city. We have also been told (very privately) that whenever important improvements are called for in the city the "Retired Farmers of the soil" immediately "take on their retired look and begin to knock everything that looks like good business, or in their words, they perform a good deal like a Kansas mule—always with their own way leading for something to kick at. A pleasant frame of mind to be in, eh? But that isn't the best of the story by half. This portable information bureau also tells us that it's simply impossible to get any money out of these miserable, miserably meanest of monkeys, and to prove his statement he said that somebody tried to pry a nickel out of one of those retired gentlemen one day, with a crow bar and had to give it up for a bad job. Sounds sensible don't it?

We have wondered and wonder still if it ever occurred to the guy who volunteered this precious bit of information, that the people of Bayside live in the country, that some of Belleville's best men are from the country and that his own dear folk happens to be from the country also. Are we to believe that his people are what he would try to convince us all retired farmers are—a bunch of miserable kicking mules. If they are, then we think they would be doing a real service if they put their ears back and kicked the fence out of their braying specimen of muledom. If the features of this particular chap were studied for a moment or two, the examination would prove beyond a doubt that even among mules there is no honor. We hope that at the beginning of the New Year this young man may see himself as others see him, and cease to practice those qualities that are certainly beneath the dignity of a gentleman.

Relieves Asthma at Once.—If you could read the thousands of unsolicited letters received by the makers from grateful users you too would realize the remarkable curing powers of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. All cases, incident and chronic, are benefited by this great family remedy, and many of them are cured. Why suffer or experiment with worthless preparations when the genuine Kellogg's can be purchased everywhere.
