To the Voter

10 establish that the 2.51% beer to be voted on-the "Beer of the Ballot"-is not intoxicating, The Ontario Brewers' Association deposited $5,000 with the Canada Permanent Trust Company on September 16th.

9 On September 19th, The Ontario Brewers' Association formally challenged the Referendum Committee through the Press to deposit an equal amount with the same Trust Company to support their contention that this beer is intoxicating.

I That challenge has never been accepted-clear admittance by the Referendum Committee they do not consider that they have a case. It is too late now to make the tests and render a decision before the day of voting -October 20th-but the failure of the Referendum Committee to answer our challenge will not be overlooked by the man or woman who votes on facts and evidence, and not on sentiment or false statements.

9 We again assert that 2.51% beer-"The Beer of the Ballot"is not intoxicating. Tests have only recently been made which prove this conclusively-we will mail a copy of the test to anyone sufficently interested to write for it.

I Moreover, while the "Beer of the Ballot" has an alcoholic strength of but 2.51%, official tests

Despise not the old friends, the old customs nor the old places? For the day cometh that even to think of them will be a joy to the heart.

There is a period in the life of every man and every woman when they beome reminiscent, a time when their come reminiscent, a time when their thoughts return to the days of child-hood, To the old places, the old friends, the true friends and the sur-roundings of their youth, Even the minor trials and hardships endured then, when looked back to from the golden sunset of life, give us a plea-sure and we hold them as blessings in discuise from our mature area. then, when hone to be a back of the problem sunset of life, give us a plea-sure and we hold them as blessings in disguise from our mature age, I be-lieve the little worries and troubles of childhood is most essential to our being, for they fit us for the more try-ing afflictions and adversities of the after life. If we emerged from the primrose ways of youth to the thorny paths of manhood and womanhood, without experiencing the minor trials of early youth, I doubt if many of us would bear up under the stress and strain of the misfortunes and afflic-tions which beset the lives of all. more or less. The tears of childhood serve to temper the trials of manhood. I have often thought that our lives might be divided up into five periods. First period, Infancy The period of Innocence. Second Period Youthhood. The period of Love. Third period of Toil and Turmoil. Fifth period Re-trospection the reflecting period. Dur-ing the third and fourth periods we have little time to reflect back, little time to waste with old-time Associates and friends, We are busy in the by-ways of accummulation, Life espe-cially at the present day is a matter of dollars and cents, The better qual-ities such as Sympathy. love and Kindness which we possess lie dor-mant within, We live from day to day in the future with buoyant hopes and great expectations centered therein, The years wing by, and we come to the sunset of life, it is now nast the

The years wing by, and we come to the sunset of life, it is now past the mid-day, We have been buffeted and defaced on life's tempestuous ways, we have mingled in its joys and its sorrows endured its misfortunes and adversities now comes the recoil it is defaced on life's tempestuous ways, we have mingled in its joys and its sorrows endured its misfortunes and adversities, now comes the recoil, it is the retrospective period of our lives and our thoughts go back over the years to the periods of Innocence and Love. They do not even hesitate at the periods Of Ambition or Toil, there is no consolation for the heart there, but our thoughts wing direct back to the days of childhood. To old-time places and old-time friends, We will journey miles to meet and visit our old schoolmates, it is a delight to meet with them once more and talk over old times away back there in the home town, Those we cannot meet we locate. We rejoice in their suc-cess and sympathize with them in their sorrows and afflictions, The Vil-lage which we considered slow and backward which we gladly left be-hind, years ago and in high spirits to face the world, to-day we hold sacred, and its beauty and charm stands out as almost divine, Hid away among the trees in the home-cot the hallow-ed abode of our parents, with its grey gables and narrow windows with their minuce panes, and the flower garden in front, Every nook and corner in the old house is dear to our hearts, even the time-worn furniture we trea-sure and look upon as works of art. The By-By Chair. The old Set-tee. The Seth Thomas clock that ticked away the halycon hours of youth, The little turret room and bed with fts patch-work spread, the window where the sun used to come peeping in at morning to awaken us from our child-ish dreams, And then the Village street, quiet and tree-arched where we strolled with that old sweet-heart of ours, The vacant lot where we played with merry-making compan-ions. We go back to all these at the sunset of life. We bask in memories of pastimes and their associates, The old-time Singing School. The Debat-ing Society, Dramatic Club, and ing Society, Dramatic Club, and Husking Bee. Every haunt around the old home town has a sweet silent story to tell and whisper to us, Images and idols flit before us of the story to tell and whisper to us, Images and idols fit before us of the happy by-gone, like a delightful pan-orama a feast for the eyes and a con-solation for our mature minds. Through the period of Ambition the turmoil made our hearts hard and the bane of greed perhaps calloused the mind, But the period of Retrospection has again made them mellow, and we turn to childhood and early youth the brightest parts of our life for comfort, We want to hear the old-time songs, the melodies we sang long ago when we were boys and girls to-gether, Compared with those the mod-ern songs are tame to us Simple stories which are told to us by a lov-ing Mother or a reverent Granny, which have laid dormant within us for years come back to the memory as fresh as if told but yesterday, and we sigh and have a longing for the "Old Folks at Home". The sweetest words in the English language to us under declining conditions are. When oppressed let me go home. The time worn adage of "Once a man and twice a child" is fitly applied to the lives of the most of us I have often thought. I'd like to be a boy again just for one I'd like to be a boy again just for one Throw manhood's worries to the winds, and run away and play, Adown the tree-arched pasture lane with Johnnie Ned, and Tim, We'd scamper to the meadow creek and have a splash and swim, And somehow I imagine that the swim would wash way, The rust and stain and canker of many years decay, Bring images and idols and dreams of long ago, And drench the world with stardrops in the way it used to go Again I'd watch the ripples go swirl-And speculate and marvel on the great man I would be, Perhaps the golden vision of what I thought I'd be, From out the dusky past would come a-winging back to me.

Has Done Good Work Ontario Temperance Act A Great Benefit to Province

'HE Ontario Temperance Act has reduced crime by over one-third and drunkenness in public has practically disappeared.

Alcoholic insanity has disappeared.

Gold cures and alcoholic institutes for treating alcoholism have been closed for lack of patients.

Ontario has been saved an annual drink bill of $36,000,000, enough to pay our share of interest on the War Debt.

Many victims of alcohol three years ago, thank God to-day for the Ontario Temperance Act.

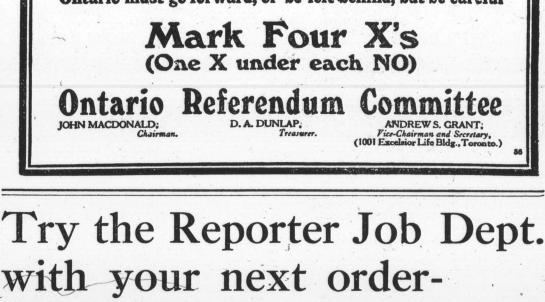

To repeal the Ontario Temperance Act would be a calamity. The amendments would make it practically worthless. To every ques-tion on the Referendum vote NO.

made by the laboratory of the Inland Revenue Department -published in Bulletin 196showed that the beers on general sale before The Ontario Temperance Act and Prohibition were enacted, had an alcoholic content ranging as high as 7.33% by weight measure-practically three times as strong as the beer to be voted on October 20th. Even such American beers as were sold in Canada and always spoken of as "very light, non-intoxicating beers," were over fifty per cent. stronger than the "Beer of the Ballot."

Beerof the Ballot is not Intoxicating

A determination as to whether or not a particular beer is intoxicating can be A reached only by a proper understanding and analysis of the manner in which the alcohol in such beer affects the human organism.

Beer containing 2.51% alcohol by weight has been proven non-intoxicating by actual experiments, scientific tests, thorough research.

Fourteen specially qualified experts, testifying before the United States Circuit Courts of Appeals, were unanimous in agreeing that beer containing even as high as 2.75% alcohol by weight (or .24% stronger than the beer of the Referen-dum Ballot) was non-intoxicating.

These experts were Professors of Chemistry, Toxisology, Therapactics, Nerve Specialists, Physical Training Instructors, Medical Doctors and specialists in charge of city departments where alcoholios were caref for. Experiments were conducted upon twenty-four men chosen from various welks of life-medical students, laborere, mechanics, business executives, clerks in banks and brokers' offices, artists, writers and professional men.

2.51% BEER-the

The experiments proved conclusively that beer of 2.75% alsoholic content strength could not possibly be intoxicating—not the slightest signs of intoxication were shown by any of the subjects.

In view of the sworn statements of these experts, based upon the results of their experi-ments, that beer containing 2.75%, alsohol by weight is non-intoxicenting, it must follow that 2.51% beer, the Beer of the Ballet, is non-intoxicenting. It is the stread convincion of the Chinard

It is the strong conviction of the Citizens' Liberty Langue that—as no harmful results can possibly some from drifting 2.51% beer —then there is no fair or just reason why the general agie of heer of this quality should not be permitted.
