THOROLD

The concert, whist drive and dance under the auspices of the Sons of England which was held last night proved a huge success in every regard. The programme was exceptionally good, each number receiving a hearty applause. A neat sum was realized which will be used for good purposes.

Mrs. Smart and little daughter, Chappell Street, left on Tuesday to spend an indefinite visit with relatives at their former home in England.

Mr. Samuel Bradley, who has since his return from overseas been the guest of his sister, Mrs. Samuel Martin, St.
Davids Street, also his brother, Mr.
Arthur Bradley, Queenston Street, St.
Catharines, left on Wednesday for his home in Oakville, Manitoba.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan, of Langley Avenue, Toronto, is spending a few days with friends in Thorold and Merriton.

Miss Dorothy Millar, who has been spending her Easter holidays the guest of her parents Mr. and Mrs. D. E.
Miller, Welland Street, has returned to her studies at the Toronto University.

Mr. Tim Jordan, Queen Street, who accidentally shot himself on Tuesday night when a revolver which he was carrying in his hip pocket exploded, and who was later taken to the General and Marine Hospital, is still in a serious condition, but good hopes for his recovery are entertained.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the Methodist Church last night when the teachers and officers of the Sunday School entertained the older members to a social and entertainment.
A very interesting lecture was given by R. G. R. S. E. Large, and illustrated by one hundred slides exhibiting views from England, Ireland and Scotland.
Mr. L. B. E. McCleary rendered a very pleasing vocal solo, Mr. McCarthy a violin solo, and Miss Mable Hall played a piano number, each selection being much enjoyed and hearty encores received. After the programme a dainty luncheon was served and the large number present returned to their homes reporting having had a very pleasant time.

Rev. Father Miller, of Toronto, a former priest at the Church of the Holy Rosary, is spending a few days renewing old friends in Town. At present Father Miller is connected with St.
Michael's Cathedral.

A joint meeting of the Water Commissioners from Welland, St. Catharines and Merriton, was held in the library building on Wednesday afternoon to consider the necessity of sending a deputation to Ottawa to interview the Minister of Railways and Canals regarding the pipe-line from Port Colborne to supply St. Catharines, Thorold and Merriton. Mr. George Peterson, Chairman of the Water Commissioners, St. Catharines, presided. They decided that the Superintendents and Chairmen of each commission wait upon the Government, their hands to be strengthened by a memorial from each commission.
J. D. Chaplin, M. P., Evan Fraser, M.
P. and Mr. Grant, Chief Engineer of the New Welland Ship Canal, were in attendance.

A LITTLE ADVICE FROM A

BUYER

Here is what experience has taught one buyer of coats and suits and dresses: First, get that which is becoming, for the really becoming frock is never out of style. At least, there are always occasions when the becoming garment can be worn, whether or not it is this season's or last year's.
Seek the color that is most favorable to you, and avoid the one that is not especially so, no matter how smart you may think it appears. Then, in general, if you really must, get the odd and unusual garment.

The SILBERBERG Label

What It Stands For

It stands for absolute satisfaction with every purchase; for reliable merchandise at fair prices; for new styles as soon as they're out; in fact it can be summed up as standing for honest business methods which has built this greatest store on the Niagara Peninsula.

What It Means

It means that your money will be cheerfully refunded for any purchase that doesn't give complete satisfaction; that anything bearing this label is correct in style, reliable in quality and reasonable in price. It means that any man or boy wearing an article of clothing bearing this name may feel a sense of pride and satisfaction, for he is owning and wearing the best apparel produce.

Famous Pass over the Rockies

WHEN Sir George Simpson, in 1841 made his overland journey round the world, in the interests of the Hudson's Bay Company, no region impressed him with its sublimity and with grandeur more than the ridge of the Rockies between the prairies and the Upper Columbia Valley. The pass by which he crossed this ridge still bears his name and is used by a few of the more adventurous tourists, but still more by Alpine climbers with ambitions to scale Mount Assiniboine, a pyramidal monarch of nearly 12,000 feet high. The description of this pass across the Great Divide is contained in the journal written by Simpson. After crossing the Bow, following one of its tributaries which is evidently Healy Creek near Banff to the southeast of Mount Brett, he says: "We were surrounded by peaks and crags on whose summits lay perpetual snow; and the only sounds which disturbed the solitude were the creaking of prostrate branches under the tread of our horses, and the roaring of the stream as it leaped down its rocky course."

"About seven hours of hard work brought us to the height of land, the ridge as it were between the eastern and western waters. We breakfasted on the level isthmus, which did not exceed fourteen paces in width, filling our kettles for this one lonely meal at once from the crystal sources of the Columbia and the Saskatchewan, while these willing feeders of two opposite oceans, murmuring over their beds of mossy stones, as if to bid each other a long farewell, could hardly fail to attract our minds to the sublimity of the scene."

"But between these kindred fountains the common progeny of the same snow wreaths, there was this remarkable difference of temperature that the source of the Columbia showed 40°, while that of the Saskatchewan raised the mercury to 54°."

Line of the Great Divide Separating Alberta and British Columbia.

the thermometer meanwhile striking as high as 71° in the shade.
"From the vicinity of perpetual snow, we estimated the elevation of the height of land to be seven or eight thousand feet above the level of the sea, while the surrounding peaks appeared to rise nearly half that altitude above our heads."
"In addition to the physical magnificence of the scene I here met an unexpected reminiscence of my own native hills in the slope of a plant, which appeared to me to be the very heather of the Highlands of Scotland.
I carried away two specimens which, however, on a minute comparison I found to differ from the genuine staple of the brown heaths of the land o' cakes."

The Simpson Pass is now used chiefly by sportsmen, who find this a convenient way of reaching the wonderful hunting grounds of the Kootenay Valley from Banff, the chief outfitting point in the Canadian Pacific Rockies. The route is also being used by the more adventurous tourists who desire to go camping and fishing on a week or fortnight's trip instead of taking their vacation in a more leisurely way near the big hotels. One such party of tourists made the trip last July, finding the pass very much freer from snow than they had been led to believe from Sir George Simpson's description. Indeed, it was an Alpine meadow, on which the horses found sweet and ample pasture. The panorama of the British Columbia mountains was particularly fine. A stone boundary mark signifies the line of the Great Divide between Alberta and British Columbia.

Jim Brewster, the cowboy king of the Rockies, discovered a few years ago, the trunk of a tree on which Sir George Simpson's guide had left their mark. This section of the tree was cut out so as to preserve it from further decay and is now a treasured relic in the Brewster Museum.
