Comforts for Our Soldiers.

One much looked forward to Sock, the Ladies of the Patriotic Association, held in the Presbyterian Hall, and no one should mistake it. The subject of the affair is to procure comforts for our Newfoundland soldiers. A concert will be held on the following will contribute members: Mrs. King, Mrs. Foster, Miss Mitchell, Herder, E. Johnson, Johnson, Mrs. L. Anderson and Mrs. T. H. O'Neill, A. Bullock and F. Emerson. The names of these talented performers is alone a guarantee of success. Besides, Capt. A. J. Hamilton will give an address on "Lighting men in the Old Country." Admission fee is a pair of socks equivalent in wool or money, the goods or the cash will do. Help toward the amount of socks by your entrance.

Wonderful Bilious Remedy Actually Prevents Attacks

There are two great causes of biliousness—they are constipation and defective liver action. When Dr. Hamilton's Pills are taken, they not only correct constipation and bowels, but act upon the liver well.

Quite unlike ordinary medicines which purge and give temporary relief, Dr. Hamilton's Pills remove the conditions which cause biliousness. Such permanent cures are effected. No person who occasionally uses Dr. Hamilton's Pills will ever suffer from the headache, bad stomach or other complaints. Get a 25c. box today.

AT THE CRESCENT.
 Take a look at the advertisement in the Crescent Picture Palace in another column for particulars of the companies are shown at the Crescent. Tomorrow's feature is a three reel Broadway Star release: "The Mission of Madame Barastoff," a Russian Military Drama. On St. Monday Day: "Arra-na-Poque," a 3 reel Irish drama of the days of the great rebellion, which we are assured don't miss one of them.

BRITISH THEATRE.

The programme of photo plays at the above theatre last night was one of real merit and patrons were delighted with it. "Her Bargains" which was the feature of the evening was a beautiful picture and too much cannot be said in praise of the acting of Mrs. Ayres and the supporting cast. In plot, setting, story and dialogue this picture is worked up by the camera in a manner that appeals to the audience. "The New Dress," "The Day of Tomorrow," a comedy and several other up to the minute war views comprise the programme. This will be repeated to-night, and to-morrow the seventh episode of the great popular picture "The Boy Who Went to Sea" will be shown.

BY TRAIN TO ENLIST.—Two persons arrived by yesterday's train. Stephen Green, aged 18, Thorne Road, St. George's, for the Navy; Lawrence Jones, aged 21, Laurence Road, Exports, for the Nfld. Regiment. They are fine strapping young men. They have answered their country's call.

Mr. Edwin Murray Visits Wandsworth Hospital

AND MEETS OUR BOYS.

Editor Evening Telegram.
 Dear Sir,—I had the pleasure recently of visiting the 3rd General Hospital, London, where some of our boys are, and I thought a short description of my visit might interest your readers. Wandsworth is one of the suburbs of London about four miles out and is easily reached by underground and surface railways in about twenty minutes. After arriving at the station one has a walk of about a mile to the Hospital over Wandsworth common, nicely laid out in walks and artificial sheets of water and shrubbery and in the spring and summer it must be a delightful spot. The hospital itself is an immense building of considerable architectural beauty, surrounded by fields and shrubs which in this country remain green all the year round, and is capable of accommodating 1,500 patients, but since the war its capacity has been greatly extended by the addition of temporary wards so I suppose 2,000 at least can be provided for. The different wards are separated by long aisles from each other and it takes a long time consequently to get about and as only two hours are allowed for a visit one really cannot see and talk to many in the time, and of course many are round about the building and grounds and so hard to get at. My wife and I had a very pleasant chat with Lieut. Cyril Carter who was very cheerful and happy notwithstanding his long time in hospital, and also had a chat with Messrs. Hutchings, Clouston, Oke, Moore and several men from Trinity and other places whose names I cannot now remember. They all looked fat and jolly and were pleased to see some Newfoundland faces; they seemed to be very comfortable in every way and had the best of food and attendance. Many had been discharged as cured and the others were looking forward to getting out in a short while. It gave us much pleasure to see them and to hear of their experiences and welfare. It was also very enjoyable to chat with the boys at the Newfoundland Pay and Record Office and to hear from them the good records our men had "in the face of the enemy." It is very interesting to see cool under fire and showed much resource and bravery in action. They were given the place of honour in the retreat from Suva and Anzaco and held the ground, while the troops embarked. This was good hearing and made one proud of one's fellow countrymen.

New Purchase.

We understand that Messrs. Baine, Johnston & Coy., have purchased a new vessel in Lunenburg. She will be used in the foreign fish carrying trade. Capt. George Hearn, late of the ill-fated Idalia, is going in command of her and leaves for the Nova Scotia port shortly to bring the new purchase here.

The proprietors of Nerviline, a preparation long and favourably known in this Colony, hereby notify the trade that after March 1st they will use a slightly different package than heretofore. Formerly the Nerviline package was printed in black ink only, but for the future, the carton will be printed in red and black. This explanation is given in order that no confusion may arise when the new style package is supplied to the consuming public.—mar. 10.

From Suez Camp.

A gentleman of the city had letters in yesterday's mail from some of the boys now at Suez Camp. One from George Jackson, son of Mr. E. M. Jackson, who writes in a very optimistic strain. Despite great hardships endured at Suva and other parts of Gallipoli, they seem "fit as a fiddle." M. L. Jackson, son of Mr. D. J. Jackson, of Bell Island, and Sam Ryan, son of J. J. Ryan, Custom Tailor, all of whom have received a stripe since leaving here, are also well and took occasion to acknowledge receipt of a couple of thousand cigarettes which some stay-at-homes subscribed for a Xmas box. They mean to see it to a finish and express the hope that very soon they will have another chance to get into action.

TO DRESS APPROPRIATELY.
 The simple tailored lines in quiet colors can make of a woman who is no longer slender, a pretty fair rival for her more fortunate sisters of sylph like tendencies. If you are short and thick and attempt to wear things designed for a spineless, boneless, chestless woman, you do an injustice not only to yourself, but to the whole of the feminine world. There are, of course, any number of women who know how to dress, who know just what colors are best suited to them and the type of clothes they look best in, and they rigidly adhere to these lines and proportions. You can't look stunning in clothes designed for a type entirely different from yours. For instance, if your ankles are not slim your skirts should not be too short, nor should you wear light skirts or light topped shoes. Wear a skirt of reasonable length and an inconspicuous but good looking shoe and you will hide the fact that your ankles are not as trim as those of a girl who can wear light topped shoes and short skirts becomingly. The wide and bitowly skirt, floured and beruffled, is charming on the tall, thin girl. It breaks her height and gives her just the fullness she requires. Put that same skirt on a short thick woman and she looks only ridiculous. So it is with large patterned goods. Huge flowers and plaids if worn at all should only be worn by tall and slender women. Put a huge plaid girdle, or one that is horizontally creased on a heavy woman and you lose her waist line almost completely. Temptation lies, too, behind the well counter, so don't fall for the curtain veil if you are fat. It cuts your height and adds breadth. The difference between a woman of stoutness who is not smart and one who simply uses common sense is that the smart one uses her mirror, has no illusions and is made happier and more beautiful thereby.

My England.

(By William Winter, in the "Times," New York.)
 My England! Not my native land,
 But dear to me as if she were,—
 How often have I longed to stand
 With those brave hearts who fight for her!
 Beneat for Fortuna, worn with Age,
 My life is all I have to give,
 But freely would that life engage
 For those who die that she may live.
 Mother of Freedom! Pledged to Right!
 From Honor's path she would not stray,
 But, sternly faithful, used her might
 To lead mankind the nobler way.
 Her task was hard, her burden great,
 But round the world her edict ran
 That feared and ruled a Sovereign State,
 Securely, on the Rights of Man.
 No vandal foot should tread her land,
 No despot hold her realm in awe;
 The humblest peasant should command
 The shelter of her righteous law.

In vain her lion port was braved!

Her pennant streamed o'er ev'ry sea,
 And where'er her ensign waved
 All fetters fell and Man was free.
 To-day he all her faults forgot—
 The errors of her nascent prime,
 Or wily politician's plot,
 Or blunder that was almost crime.
 To-day, when desperate tyrants strain,
 By Greed, and Fear, and Hate combined,
 To blast her power and rend her reign,
 She fights the fight of all mankind!

She fights for us,—for this fair clime,
 Our home beloved, where freemen dwell,
 Columbia, grandest born of Time,
 That Teuton malice burns to quell.
 My England! should the hope be lost
 In which she taught the world to strive,
 Then all the Virtue would be lost
 And naught of Manhood left alive.

But 'tis not in the Book of Doom
 That Justice, Honor, Truth, should fail,
 That earth be made a living tomb,
 And only brutal Wrong prevail.

It cannot be the human race,
 Long struggling up to Freedom's sun,
 Is destined to the abject place
 Of vassal to the murd'rous Hun!

In ev'ry land that knows the ills
 Of Bondage, and has borne its aches,
 The deathless pulse of Freedom thrills
 And Reason's noble rage awakes.

See splendid Italy advancing,
 And grimly issuing from his lair,
 To grasp the hand of glorious French,
 Stalk forth th' intrepid Russian bear!

My England!—patient, valiant, true!
 Nor foes without, nor frauds within
 Will shake her purpose to subdue,
 The cohorts of embattled sin;

The swinish horde, the glided beasts,
 In whom no touch of ruth survives,
 Who ravish women, murder priests,
 And strew the sea with infant lives;

The Lords of War, who kill and maim,
 Exultant, while their people groan;
 Steeping themselves in crime and shame,
 To keep a despot on his throne;—

That pigmy, to whose wildered brain
 Himself in Attilla appears,
 Who takes the name of God in vain,
 And drowns the earth in blood and tears!
