Produce and Provisions.

Market Report in Trade Review.)
CODFISH.—Trade is very dull in St. John's here this week, owing to the conditions reported from the markets of Southern Europe. Mr. W. A. Munnah from Genoa, Thursday as follows: "Conditions bad. Very doubtful whether the Consorzio will be dissolved this year. It is now a political question involving the food supply. Government enforcing rations in Italy." Oporto market is congested. Prices have fallen as low as 45s.

It is estimated that there are 230,000 quintals of dry codfish in Newfoundland. Nearly half of this is in the Northern Outports. The total export from St. John's this week was 23,905 quintals.

CODDLE.—The coddle market is very quiet. Common oil is firm at $3.05 in the local market, with small stocks on hand and very few transactions. The export of common oil this week was 53,243 gallons. Cod liver oil demand is dull, but is expected to improve as the season advances, and the new oil is available. The export of cod-liver oil this week was 8,545 gallons. The few consignments of new oil that has so far come here from the West Coast sold at $2.25 per gallon. Manufacturers are getting ready for the season's work on the East Coast, and it is likely there will be as many into business as last year.

HERRING.—During this week St. John's trade shipped 2,279 barrels of herring to New York and West Indies. These are chiefly split herring. Very little Scotch pack have so far reached the St. John's market. Next month it is likely the fall and winter catch will be coming in over the road wherever the railway touches, and in May the catch at Springdale and vicinity will be coming forward by steamer and schooners. Some 10,000 barrels Scotch pack are quoted at $10 to $12.00 and splits at $5 to $6.00.

BEEF.—What holds good of the pork situation applies equally to beef. Latest advices from the United States show that stocks are accumulating at the packing centres and there is very little buying going on. Brokers report that the packers are all anxious to unload, and are inviting bids for their beef products, and are anxious over the inactivity of the market. Large European demand is over, and the stocks are becoming so heavy at the packing houses that a decline is inevitable. Meantime, stocks are short here and some popular brands badly needed are unobtainable. Prices as last week range from $30 to $40.00.

PORK.—Not much doing owing to the expectation of lower prices, and the timidity on the part of the trade to make purchases when the outlook is so uncertain. The stocks on hand here are running low. Brokers complain of the unwillingness of pork dealers to contract for future purchases. It is thought that the unrest in regard to fishery supplying and curtailment in this regard by the merchants will considerably lessen the pork importation. The prices are the same here as quoted last week, but some dealers look for a decline next month.

Notes From Brigus.

Mrs. S. E. Chate arrived home by Saturday's train, accompanied by her son, George, who had been at the General Hospital for the past two months having a broken leg set.

The amateur hockey match, Brigus vs. Bay Roberts, was run off at the latter place on Monday the 8th inst. The Brigus team was a hastily formed one, the notice from Bay Roberts being so short that some of our senior lads could not proceed. The game, which, according to report, was played in a decidedly rough manner by the "Cable City" lads, ended in a win for the latter by a score of 8 goals to 4. The winners were invited up for a return match. They arrived on Friday the 12th inst., but owing to the mildness of the weather the game had to be postponed.

The following were here to spend St. Patrick's Day with friends:—Mr. and Mrs. William French, Messrs. Louis Bartlett, Gus Stapleton, P. J. Kept from St. John's; Mr. H. M. Hearn from Heart's Content, and Mrs. P. Delaney and children from Bay Roberts.

"Robert Emmet," that great historical Irish Drama, was successfully staged in St. Patrick's Hall on the 17th inst., in the afternoon for the children and at night for the grown-ups. Many were prevented from attending through the inclemency of the weather. However, the performance at night was well attended, and we have no hesitation in saying that those who did attend were amply rewarded for their patronage. Patrons were given an unusual treat in the dancing of a Scotch lasso, in the person of Mrs. Peter Power of Cupids, whose actions—in which were combined with delicacy and skill—won the favour and hearty applause of those present. Between the acts songs were sung by Misses Breahan and Delaney and Messrs. Hall, Aspell, and French, who were each heartily applauded by an appreciative audience. Herewith will be seen the cast of characters, which includes the names of some, who made their debut in "Robert Emmet," but whom we hope to have the pleasure of seeing often in the future on our local stage. After the performance dancing was kept up till the "wee sma' hours."

Advance Spring Styles

in ENGLISH MILLINERY

Every Hat we are showing carries a message of the nearness of Spring. The new styles are not so much the change-of-the-season which always comes with the passing of the Winter as they are a complete change in every feature of model and material. With the war only a far-off echo, and the surety of peace and prosperity growing greater every day, the fashions of the coming season show a re-awakening of the desire for the beautiful, the youthful, and the gaily expressed creations of joyful design to which the makers of this Spring's millinery have responded with lavish use of dainty decorative handwork, and the delightful beauty in colourings and rich materials.
