T. A. Billard Dinner.

A MOST PLEASING FUNCTION.

The Annual Billard Dinner of the Total Abstinence Society held in the Armouries of the T. A. Hall last night was undoubtedly one of the most pleasant and enjoyable functions of its kind held by that body. The supper room presented a most striking appearance, the decorations were unique and attractive, while the supper tables were filled with excellent dainties for which the Ladies' Auxiliary is noted. Amongst those present were Mr. W. R. Howley, K.C.; J. G. Higgins, B.L.; Dr. A. H. Carnell, Rev. J. Piggy, the Societies Spiritual Director, Representatives of the Sister Societies, the Press, and a large number of distinguished guests.

Mr. Jas. J. Spratt, who presided over the brilliant affair, made an ideal Chairman. There was not a hitch or one dull moment in the whole proceedings and everything was carried out in a satisfactory manner. At 9.30 the gathering was seated, and the men, an excellent one, was done full justice to. The feature of the entertainment was the singing by the entire gathering of various popular melodies from a song sheet that had been specially prepared for the occasion.

After supper, the following Toast List which was interspersed with song was gone through:—

Girl Guides.

ENTERTAINMENT AND DANCE.

Last evening at their Headquarters, Smallwood Building, the 1st Caribou Ranger Guides held a most enjoyable entertainment, which was thoroughly appreciated by all those present. Dancing was indulged in until 10.30 when all partook of excellent refreshments served by the Guides.

Lady Allardye, Island Commissioner, kindly consented to be present and was accompanied by Miss Allardye and Captain A. G. Stewart Goodfellow. Miss Purton, M.B.E., filled the role of chaperon. Proceeding the interval Lady Allardye addressed the gathering and in a few well chosen sentences thanked those present for giving their support to the movement and hoped that all entertainments given by the Girl Guides would receive their patronage, especially that to be given on Empire Day which promises to be one of the greatest events for the season. The hall was tastefully decorated in the light and dark blue of the Girl Guides and the Claret and White of the 1st Caribou Company and was a credit to those responsible. The music was supplied by the C.C.C. Orchestra who, by the kind permission of the Officer Commanding, gave their services free of charge and as usual rendered their best numbers in their own inimitable way. After refreshments were served dancing was resumed and at the close of the National Anthem everybody voted the affair a tremendous success and all were sorry it was over.

Swearing—Just one word—on the street during Holy Week cost Cecil Moffit, of St. Croix, Quebec, $10 and costs with the alternative of a month in jail.

"Doesn't matter," said the judge as the prisoner insisted, "I only said it once." He'll have good reason to remember his visit to Montreal. It's too bad that many persons in the city have the pernicious habit of swearing could not be punished like the citizen from St. Croix.

"Leave it to me.
The rights to see;
Free from all care,
I have the fare,
To enjoy myself."

Thus mused a little girl of 11 years whose mother had given her $10 to pay the grocer's bill. After remaining away from home for nearly five days, she walked into her mother quite unconcerned, and calmly announced, that she had been "seeing Montreal," and had had a "wonderful time." The money was all gone, so she thought that after all "there was no place like home." She did not receive a very good reception at home, for her dad gave her a good spanking and put her to bed. The next morning she got up early, broke open a little savings bank which her parents had bought for her, took the lone dollar out, and was off again to enjoy herself. The next thing that the distracted parents knew was that a departmental store in the east end of the city telephoned to state that their

Our Weekly Letter.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
MONTREAL, April 7th.

"Back came the Winter's cold blast and frost, and the snow-flakes in the air were tossed; Stopped was Spring, and each one did ponder, Why such a change, each one did wonder, And stood shivering in the streets, saying, 'Winter over again.'"

March has gone on record this year. When! the worst in fifty years. The thermometer down to 12 below zero during its closing days, together with snow storms, drifts and piercing winds, make the furnacemen busy, the coal merchants happy, and the citizens miserable. "Hope deferred makes the heart sick." While we got it good and heavy, parts of Ontario and the Lower Provinces got it with vengeance. In Port Arthur the thermometer ran down to 40 below zero. Bathurst, 22, Campbellton, 20, Quebec had 14 below, Ottawa 13, St. John, N. B. 8, and Halifax 2. A week ago the water ran in torrents down the streets, and at the crossings you had to watch your steps lest you might go ankle deep in the rushing streams. Winter garbs were put aside for Spring attire. Two days after "King Winter" returned in storm, frost and Northeast winds, that made citizens don their winter furs and heavy overcoats again. Parts of the Lochlin Canal, that were kept open during the heavy spurts of frost, owing to the hot water from the different factories running continuously into them, were frozen for the first time this week. According to Sir Robert Stupart, Director of Meteorological Service for Canada, the present weather is the coldest ever recorded in Toronto so late in March back to 1840. He does not feel very optimistic regarding the characteristics of the coming Spring. In 1885, Montreal witnessed a cold day in March 17th, when it was 18 below zero. This mark holds the record for the middle of March, but each one is wondering if April is going to be like March. We generally get four months of solid winter weather, but this year we'll have five if not six. Navigation will be late in opening, as the Gulf rivers and lakes still hold solid. The kiddies are waiting to sing:—

"Spring is here,
Winter passes;
Now the Sulphur
And molasses."

"But whether I live an honest man,
And hold my integrity firm in my clutch,
I tell you, my brother, as plain as I can,
It matters much."

It didn't matter very much about being "an honest man" to Napoleon Gagnon, aged 63, according to his life's record, when he stood before Judge Monet in the Arraignment Court one morning last week, after spending 47 years of his life in penal institutions.

"What kind of a man are you?" said Judge Monet to the prisoner as he stood in the dock. "Of the 63 years you have spent on earth so far, you have been at liberty for only 16."

"Yes," he replied. "When I was 13 years old I was sentenced to two years in jail."

"What do you think I should do with you?"

"I don't care very much, your Honor, as long as you don't send me to Bordeaux. I don't mind going to St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, but I do hate that jail."

Gagnon was arrested over a week ago charged with the theft of a parcel of laundry from a rig standing on Mount Royal avenue.

The judge will oblige him in a few days, when he'll receive his sentence, and he can add a year or two more to think over life's problem, "in durance vile," especially that he has been a wreck on life's vast ocean.
