—Detectives Gill, of Brantford, and Cuddy and Black, of Toronto, are in the city during the Fair looking after the viritors and keeping their eyes open for crooks and evil-deers generally.

—The Fair traffic by the G. T. R. is enormous. Up to last night the trains of the company had carried over 8,000 more people to the city than had been recorded in the same time at any previous show. The special and regular trains arriving to-day were also crowded.

—Another crowded house greated Kate.

The special and regulate trains at rains drawing to day were also crowded.

—Another crowded house greeted Kate Purssell and her company in the "Queen of the Plains" last evening at the Grand Opera House. Kate is well-suited to the role she plays, both by her talents and her physical gifts, and is perfectly at home in all of the live characters she assumes. J. J. Kennedy, as Barney McSweeney, and John Woodward, as Jones, the inn-keeper, as usual drew forth rounds of applause, while the specialties of the vivacious Miss Grace Sherwood, as coquettish Mollie Jones, were features of the evening. Altogether the company is a talented one, and during their three-nights' run in the city have been very successful.

A Youthful Star of the Stage.

The youthful genius, Tommy Russell, appears at the Grand Opera House this evening in the dramatic version of Mark Twain's celebrated story, "The Prince and the Pauper." This favorite child-actor, who is a fine, bright-looking boy of 13, has been on the stage some years, during which he has played with such stars as Edwin Booth, Joe Jefferson, Modjeska and in French with Sara Bernhardt. Though his talents are of a brilliant nature, yet, unlike so many children of the stage, he is not precocious. He is under the immediate supervision of his parents, who have wisely surrounded him with a large and carefully-selected company of artists. No lover of the drama should miss this rare treat.

A Congregation's Present to Its Pastor.
While Rev. W. J. Clark, of the First Presbyterian Church, who has just returned from a honeymoon trip, was attending the marriage of Miss Leonard and Mr. W. C. Barron yesterday afternoon at the residence of Hon. Senator Leonard, two handsome chairs were left at the manse, and also an elegant marble clock. These handsome gifts were accompanied with a card from the ladies, on which was neatly written: "To Rev. W. J. Clark and wife, with the best wishes of the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church." The chairs were beautifully upholstered and uniquely designed, one being a lady's reception chair and the other a gentleman's easy chair. The timeplece is also a work of art. Mr. Clark was greatly surprised to find these tasteful additions to his parlor furniture, on his return.

Dr. Leonard, American consul—"What's your opinion of cur Fair?" was asked.
"Well, you can just say that I say it's immease," replied the jolly U. S. representative.

Ald. Murray Anderson—I never saw such a large crowd of respectable farmers and their wives at any fair in my long term of years in London. It is gratifying and reflects credit on the directors. They will go Talbot Street School En Fete.

Taibot Street School En Fete.

Yesterday afternoon was the day upon which it was decided to organize the Taibot street school in accordance with the regulations of the Board of Education, introducing the graded system into the various ward schools of the city. At 2 o'clock the senior pupils of the Central school, headed by Chairman Jeffery and Principal Stewart, marched in orderly procession with the bannerette "Talbot Street School" in the van and another "Old Union" in the rear, with several Canadian flags carried by boys in the ranks. Arriving at the new school, their future educational home, those in procession were countermarched and assigned to their various classrooms, while the parents and visitors assembled spent short time in visiting the classes and inspecting the new building. Gradually the visitors began to fill the room reserved for the kindergarten, which had been provided with seats from the City Hall. Chairman Jeffery, of the Board of Education, and Trustee Stephenson, both representing this ward, were kept busy during the afternoon explaining the various conveniences introduced under the new system, and they ware highly complimented by the grateful parents for their zeal and energy in furnishing such comfortable quarters for the pupils of the district.

Five-minute speeches were made by the Visitive of the pupils of the district. Through and street. Tintypes, four for 50 cabinets at Norton's, corner Dundas and Richmond street. Tintypes, four for 50 cents.

Talling, Dr. Cl. T. Campbell, Ald. Fitzgerald, Trustee Rowlands, Inspector Boyle, Water Commissioner Essery, Trustee Brady, Trustee Stephenson, Head Master Stewart and City Clerk Abbott. Trustees Craig, Childs and Cryer were also present. At the conclusion of the remarks of Mr. Boyle and Mr. Abbott two little girls were introduced by Messiz. J. F. Jeffers and E. T. Essery, who presented Mr. Boyle and Mr. Abbott respectively with handsome bouquets of flowers. A number of songs were sung by a class of pupils under the direction of Music Master Barron, which added to the pleasure of the afternoon's exercises very materially.
