Yesterday the University Club, of Toronto, suffered two defeats on the grounds of the Alerts. Both games were well-attended. The afternoon game was especially so, while the boundaries of the fence were lined several deep with interested spectators. The University Club took away $135 as their share of the gate receipts, which was one half of the covered stand for both games. The Toronto club are a jovial lot of boys, and took their morning defeat with smiles and college songs on driving back to their hotel. To all appearances the two Alerts play a much steadier game. Poor headwork was noticeable on two occasions. The base-running of the Universities was superb, especially in the morning game. W. A. Reid umpired both games. Close decisions had to be given on several plays, and great many spectators thought he favored the home team to some extent.

MORNING GAME.
London scored four runs in the first on a base on balls, an error of Wilson, two doubles and a single hit. Two more were added in the third by one single, with the aid of Pitcher Sampson, who hit the two Alerts and sacrificed. The Alerts did their best batting in the second, eighth, when singles by Hiscott, Burton, Collins and Hall, errors by Martin, Wilson and Garrett ran the score up five more. Toronto did nothing until the third. Sheere was wild in this inning, sending three men to first on error, a stolen base and a wild pitch. McIntosh scored in the eighth, and Garrett in the ninth on clean hitting and slick base-running.
