KING TRAINS FOR THE CORONATION

London Looks for the Monarch Each Morning, His Route Being Changed Every Day.

London, April 4.—The ride in Rotter Row in which King George is now in-dulging every morning is not the only indication, according to what is said in court circles, of the royal resolve to de-all that lies in his power to be thoroughly a bricklayer by the name of Pietro Desanti, and that he was 42 years of age. He said that he is neither a socialist nor an anarchist, but an anti-clerical, who hated all religions and priests.

Continuing his narrative to the police, he said that he came to Rome last August with the fixed intention of killing the pope. At first it was his intention to secure a place as a gardener in the Vatican grounds and wait an opportunity to shoot his holiness as he was taking a walk in the gardens. After thinking it over he realized the Impossibility of this plan or of the alternative of reaching the papal apartments, owing to the strict surveillance maintained by the Vatican guards. In view of all this he decided to kill a priest, and for that purpose he purchased a revolver and went to St. Peter's, where he waited till the mass was ended. Then he drew his weapon and almed at the celebrant as the latter passed him on his way to the sacristy.

Much to his regret, he said, he missed the priest, but the would try again if he every got the chance.

The Pope Shocked.

Desanti, and that he is neither a and thoughtly in the opposite direction, and hospitals, pleture galleries and toxtage homes alike are included in the wide sweep of roxal inspection, with the consequence that the popularity of the King and Queen among the masses in the capital is rapidly increasing.

"Early to bed and early to rise" is a maxim that both King and Queen ilke to follow when possible. Supper parties are likely to be few and far between, but there is a possibility, it is said in court circles, that on each of the keen, but there is a possibility, it is said in court circles, that on each of the world on the proper parties are likely to be few and far between, but there is a possibility it is said in court circles, that on each of the world on the proper and went to St. Peter's, where he waited till the mass was ended. Engineer Wright the Right Man.
To the Editor of The Advertiser:
There does not sem to be any difference of opinion among the citizens as to the course which the city council should take in regard to the appointment of an engineer. As far as I can judge, the concensus of opinion seems to be that the promotion of Assistant Engineer Wright would be the proper thing. He is a tried man, has proved himself capable so far as his limited opportunities permitted him, and his appointment would obviate the risk inseparable from the engagement of a new and untried man.

Mr. Alfred E. Davis, Gorrie, Ont; writes:—"For some years I suffered from risk inseparable from the engagement of a new and untried man.

Ensiner Wright has shown a grasp of the principles of road building, and the first requisites of the situation in this city is that the appointee, whoever he may be, shall be competent to put the istreets in a passable condition as speedily and as economically as possible.

I believe the general feeling among the citizens is that Engineer Wright should be intrusted with the task of improving our city streets. Yours truly.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I cannot help wondering that people so suddenly stopped in helping the China famine. Some $20,000 has been given through Toronto, but we shall not be fin-boverlished by giving much more. It is lending to the Lord, and He will repay. A single religious paper in New York has received more than $50,000 for this purpose, and the work is still going on. It was gratifying to read what St. Andrew's Church had done. I fear that many churches in Ontario have done nothing as churches. I hope the good work will still go on. Yours truly,

What are the remedies for these evils? The only suggestion we read of these associations making was that the Government should do something. That is always the way—and a poor way it is. Non-Catholic moralists rush to the politicians as if they could, or ever did, make the world. For the novels we think there ought to be an Index Expurgatorius. For the schools religion must be the basis and the copesione. For the club wives and mothers must control husbands and sons. Home has much to do with moderating the first of these evils. Home can supplement the imperfect school training. Lastly, home has much to say, and should have much to say upon the kind of reading induiged in by the fireside.
