Chicago, March 22.—With competition in the five-men team event finished, the bowlers today began final attacks on the pins in the doubles and singles of the American Bowling Congress tournament, which closes tomorrow. The 1912 team championship went to the Brunswicks, of New York, who scored 2,904 pins, and pulled down a cash prize of $750.

Men competing in the events today were mostly Chicagoans, though several western cities had scattering entries. Play in the singles and doubles also was scheduled for tonight.

Steuenville, Ohio, March 22.—The Steuenville-Mingo Baseball Association, owners of the Follansbee, W. Va., franchise in the Ohio and Pennsylvania League, have employed counsel to bring injunction proceedings in the United States court against the National Baseball Commission and the National Association of Minor Baseball Leagues to restrain them from continuing Steuenville on the "blacklist," because the owners of the franchise in 1911 did not pay salaries and bills. Sunday baseball is allowed here, but not at Follansbee, and the new owners want the national commission to withdraw the "blacklist" order, so that Sunday games can be played here.

BIG CLUBS WORKING HARD.

(Canadian Press.)

New York, March 22.—The near approach of the opening of the baseball season found the major league clubs on the southern training grounds working hard today to overcome the handicap of a long stretch of bad weather. With few exceptions, the ball players are behind in their training, and report from the club managers indicates that every day from now until April 11, when the season opens, will be needed to get the men into condition for fast playing. Heavy rains, making quadrants of the diamonds, have interrupted fielding and batting practice, while cold winds have greatly hampered the pitchers in getting into shape. For one week the only practice which the New York American League Club was able to get in at Atlanta was in the narrow confines under a grandstand.

The backwardness of the pitchers on the southern training, reports state, has in turn affected the batting, as the players have not had sufficient practice in batting against sharp-breaking curves. A continued stretch of warm weather for the next two weeks in the south will go far towards getting the players into shape.

I Was a Sight From Superfluous Hair

I Cured It Quickly So It Never Returned

I Will Send Free to Any Woman the Secret of How They Too, Can Remove All Traces of Superfluous Hair

For years I was the victim of a horrid hair growth on my face. I knew I was a sight, and every time I met another woman with this "manly" mark and saw how it spoiled her looks, I became more distressed, for I had tried all the nastes, powders, liquids, and other "hair-removers" seemingly highly indorsed, that I had ever heard of, but always with the same unsatisfactory result. My time, money, and patience were about exhausted, when a friend persuaded me to try a secret from Japan, almost against my will, for I had little faith in owing to former experiences.

What was my amazement when I found that I actually did what was claimed for it. It was so simple that I took but a few minutes time to work a complete transformation in my appearance. Any woman who is troubled with superfluous hair can readily appreciate what a difference it would make to her looks if it were removed, for no woman can be beautiful if she is afflicted with a hairy growth on her face, neck or arms. My experience with this wonderful remedy was so remarkable that I felt it my duty to put my sensitive feelings aside, and tell my experience to my sisters in distress, in order that they may profit by it, and not waste their time and money on worthless "concoctions" as I did.

Therefore, to any lady who will write me within the next few days and who will send me a two-cent stamp for actual return postage, I will send quite free in a plain, sealed envelope, full information which will enable you to forever end all trace of embarrassing hair by the wonderful method that I cured me. Please state whether Mrs. Miss, and address your letter, Mrs. Caroline Oskood, Apartment 152 B. V., 123 East Twenty-seventh street, New York city.

SPECIAL INDORSEMENT: As the method above referred to has been indorsed by doctors, true scientists, and many other publishers, we advise all readers thus afflicted, to take advantage of Mrs. Oskood's offer, and write her at once at above address.

A PHILIPPINE MARVEL

Itugao Terraces—A Most Wonderful Work of Primitive Savage Tribe.

Almost every traveller in the Orient has seen or heard of the rice terraces in Japan, China and the region of the Straits Settlements. But more wonderful than any of these, according to the "Scientific American," are those of the Itugaos, a tribe living in Luzon, one of the Philippine islands. From an industrial point of view the Itugao terraces represent the most colossal undertakings in the Orient. The terraces are perhaps the most stupendous task ever accomplished by a thoroughly savage people. Viewing the terraces, one compares them with such works as the Pyramids or the great wall of China, or even with the Roman viaducts.

By way of contrast with like achievements of more civilized races it should be mentioned that the Itugaos are absolutely primitive, lacking a system of writing and a well defined religious belief. Their writing up to the time when the American school teacher invaded the country consisted of a few hieroglyphics scratched on a rock or in the sand.

The finest of the terraces are along the sides of a steep canon in Nueva Viscaya province. The rice paddies climb like giant steps up the steep canon sides to a height of 1,200 feet or more, and it is said they extend into a secondary range of hills, making the extension almost 3,000 feet. The length of the canon is about twelve miles and is negotiated by a winding foot path that in some places will not allow two to pass.

In one place the trail extends along the retaining wall of a rice paddy. This wall is 18 inches wide and there is a sheer drop of 70 feet below to the next paddy. The paddy varies from 8 to 40 feet in width and approximately 300 feet long following the contour of the canon. Some of the terraces, each of which is flooded with water before the rice planting in the early spring, are wonderful feats of engineering.

At times they follow the contour of a canon for as great a distance as half a mile without varying scarcely two inches, say from a head level. The retaining walls of each wall are built to be about fifteen inches above the water level. All retaining walls are perpendicular and built at right angles to the level of the earth.

In the art of intensive cultivation the Itugaos have progressed far. They irrigate and fertilize in a single operation. Water deflected from mountain streams or arising from springs passes through decomposed vegetable matters, ashes, black alluvial soil and manure, and is then conducted to the topmost terrace the water flows suspension rich fertilizing matter which is evenly distributed.

There is thus no part of a rice paddy which is not fertilized. From the topmost terrace the water flows through a gap from the retaining wall to the terrace next below, still carrying fertilizing matter in suspension. Most of the work in the paddies is done by the women, who wade about stirring up the sediment. Sometimes the rice straw of a harvested crop is covered over with dirt and allowed to rot. The result produces the finest rice raised in the Philippines, of great size, and it is said by experts of practically perfect form. Ranchers in the west occasionally run an irrigating ditch through fertilizing matter, but the practice is not general.

ATTACK OF MEASLES MAY RESULT FATALLY

Mrs. John A. Walker is in a Very Critical Condition.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Walkers, March 22.—Mrs. John A. Walker is so critically ill with measles that it is feared she will not recover. The disease has been so prevalent here of late that the schools have had to close. The epidemic is one of the worst ever known in this district. Joe Moore, whose mother is seriously ill in Walkerville, was suddenly called away to her sick bed last night, as she is not expected to live.

Mrs. Annie McLachlan has left for the west.

The box social, which was held in the Kilmartin schoolhouse, proved a decided success. Some of the fine boxes sold as high as $2. The proceeds amounted to $35. The literary society will close its season with the meeting that is to be held on Friday evening, March 25, when the subject of debate will be "Resolved, that Scotland has done more for the civilization of the world than Ireland." It is expected that Celtic eloquence and Scotch logic will be in evidence on the occasion, and a good time is anticipated.

Mrs. D. B. McIntyre, of Kilmartin, who has been in Chicago all winter with her daughter, will be coming home about the beginning of April.

Farmers are complaining somewhat of the scarcity of feed for their stock, and consequently the prices of hay is very high.

The funeral of Neil Livingstone, of Moss, who had been ailing for several years, took place yesterday. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. McDermid, of Alvinston, and the burial took place in the Kilmartin cemetery.

Mayor Graham Presents Certificates

Promises Gold Medal

Following his well-defined scheme of boosting London, Mayor Graham yesterday paid a visit to the Westervelt School, Forest City Business and Shortland College, Y. M. C. A. Building, and announced his intention of presenting a medal to the pupil of the school who had secured the highest mark in the graduation tests for the year.

He warned the students that they must not rest content with securing the diploma of the Business Education Association, but that the beginning of their business career. They had it within themselves to advance to the goal of business success. In this foundation which such an excellent school as the F. C. B. C. gave them an opportunity to lay was carefully built their success was assured.

At the conclusion of his address, which was much enjoyed by the students, Mayor Graham presented certificates of graduation to eleven pupils, who were successful at the February examinations of the Business Education Association.

Here Is The Construction of The Famous Knight Motor

Here are the Reasons for Its Supremacy:

MORE power, greater quietness and smoothness, greater simplicity and reliability, greater durability, greater economy in fuel and oil

THE Knight Motor has 1-3 fewer parts than motors of the usual type. Fewer parts mean less wear and tear—less opportunity to get out of order. The Knight Motor increases in efficiency under load. It does not lose power at high engine speed. It runs as smoothly at 50 miles as at 15. It needs no tinkering. There are no valves (in the usual sense) with their accumulation of carbon—no valve springs to weaken and break.
