Established 1879
Whooping Cough, Croup, Bronchitis, Cough, Grip, Asthma, Diphtheria
Cresolene is a boon to Asthmatics

Does it not seem more effective to breathe in a remedy to cure disease of the breathing organs than to take the remedy into the stomach?

It cures because the air rendered strongly antiseptic is carried over the diseased surface with every breath, giving prolonged and constant treatment. It is invaluable to mothers with small children.

Those of a consumptive tendency find immediate relief from coughs or inflamed conditions of the throat.

Helpers of the Farm.

From all appearance, there is going to be a large number of unemployed in our cities this winter. This is only a natural outcome of the policy that has been pursued by the emigrants this year. They have studiously avoided country life. The farm was too poor a place for them, with too little amusement and too much work.

It seemed much pleasanter for them to accept a wage from some city employer who has now no further use for their services. Had they gone to the country in the summer they would have had fair wages all the time, and best of all, they would have had a chance to get into a good house and lot for the winter at a little cost, and eventually to have acquired the means to own a home for themselves. Workers in this country have been scarce. Wages this fall went up as high as $1.25 for boys to pick apples, and still the shortage was great. Many a youth could find employment on the farm even yet. There are plenty of farms where these men who want work could secure a winter's service sufficiently remunerative to keep them from want. Even if the young man would go out and work for his board, it would be infinitely better than lounging in a great city. To the unmarried man who is floating on the uncertain driftwood of employment, the advice to go out of the city, to the smaller places and hunt for honest work, is certainly not to be despised.—World.

Country Life.

Cannington Gleaner: Country life has its drawbacks, but it has its great advantages, which overcome them. True, those who live in the country are "rubes" and "farmers" and "hay-seeds" to the cigarette smoker in town, but the boast of the business men in the world to-day is that they were born on a farm. Take away the surrounding evils that beset the young men or women on the threshold of life's journey in the city, and substitute the helpful influence of nature, and you fortify for the sterner walks in life. The few things which they do not know about table etiquette and when it is proper to leave two visiting cards and when but one, they will catch on to much quicker than city boys or girls will learn to properly stoke the furnace or make good bread. No boy or girl need be ashamed of living on the farm, for if they have taken advantage of what it has offered they are well fortified for after life.

Some Good Suggestions to Ponder Over.

The man who makes the best use of his time generally has a good time. The greatest truths are the simplest and so are the greatest men. Young men think old men fools, and old men know young men to be so.

There is always room for a man of force, and he makes room for many.

A pawn shop where we could hock our troubles would fill a long-felt want.

There are men who prefer their own blunders to other people's good advice.

Trust not to appearances; the drum which makes the most noise is filled with wind.

The best swimmers are often drowned, and the best riders have the hardest falls.

Don't forget that other people feel about as little interest in your troubles as you do in theirs.

It is the hardest thing in the world to convince the hungry man that the rich have trouble.

A course of sin cannot last; it comes to an end some time, and a man reaps what he has sown.

Thorns in the Flesh.

Even worse is the agony of corns. Why suffer—cure is waiting in every drug store in the form of Putnam's Corn Extractor which relieves at once, cures thoroughly and without pain. For good results use "Putnam's."

Edward, the Peacemaker.

(A. Maurice Law, in the Forum)

A man of extraordinary ability is the present King of England a man whose great capacity was not sustained until long after an age when the world has usually formed and closed its judgment of men. Had the King died when he was stricken down with appendicitis on the eve of his coronation he would have occupied a much smaller place in history than he does now. Up to that time, as the world was able to know him, he was a man who loved life and got out of life all there was in it. He had always been noted for his tact. A marked trait was his desire to make everyone around him happy and to play the peacemaker whenever it was possible, but no opportunity had been given him to give proof of statesmanship of the first order.

In a few short years he has shown himself to be the first statesman of Europe.

Summed up, the result of King Edward's diplomacy of the last few years is seen to be as follows; England and France have settled all the questions that formerly kept them apart, and are now working in perfect concord to keep the peace of Europe; England and Russia have reached a working arrangement, and a clash between the two powers either in the far or near east is no longer feared; between England and Italy and England and Austria there is complete sympathy; an English princess sits on the throne of Spain, which is of importance politically because of the interest England has in the Mediterranean; an English princess sits on the throne of Norway, which is of lesser importance, but not without its political value. England, therefore, can command the support of every European power with the sole exception of Germany, whose emperor rages with impotent fury as he watches the success of his uncle's diplomacy.

There is a movement being advocated in parts of the Canadian West for the organization of an association having for its object the actual farming of lands within ten miles from a railroad and forcing speculators either to dispose of their land to actual farmers or to till the lands themselves. The association will encourage the export of grain and cattle, but would discourage the importing of the luxuries of life. They ask that the duty on farming machinery and steam ploughs be reduced, and that range horses from the United States be allowed to come into the country free of duty, but under close veterinary inspection.

Rules for Christmas Shopping.

A woman in New York has sent out some rules about Christmas shopping, which are worth reading. Here are her suggestions:

First—Do as much as possible of your shopping before Dec. 1.

Second—Have it all done one week before Christmas.

Third—Shop early in the day.

Fourth—Carry home as many parcels as possible.

Fifth—Do not shop during luncheon hours, thus shortening the hour for the clerks.

ITS POWER GROWS WITH AGE.—How many medicines loudly blazoned as panaceas for all human ills has come and gone since Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil was first put upon the market? Yet it remains, doing more good to humanity than many a preparation more highly vaunted and extending its virtues wider and wider and in a larger circle every year. It is the medicine of the masses.

BEER* IS GOOD FOR MOST FOLKS
(HARDLY ANOTHER BEVERAGE FEEDS SO WELL)

BEEER really excels milk as a food-drink for most grown people. And many, many people cannot digest milk easily, because it is so lacking in solid food-contents. Moreover, milk is so liable to contagion that it is seldom pure when we get it in the cities. But Ontario-brewed beer is really pure,—brewed in cleanliness, of sound materials, in a sanitary way, and brought to the user in the same fit-to-drink state.

Beer Is No Stimulant

Drink beer with meals and at bedtime, as an item of diet that will help the stomach do its work better, and will feed the body besides. Don't choose beer as a stimulant, though,—it does not contain enough alcohol for that. Use it as a food-drink that induces lazy stomachs to do their work well, and so helps them get more good out of all food.

Beer Makes Better Nerves

Ontario beer is not only deliciously appetizing and refreshing, because brewed of pure malt and hops only; but, besides, all the power that hops possess to repair nerve wastes is kept in these brews. That is what makes beer so particularly good for women to drink regularly. Ask your own doctor what he thinks of beer for your household.

*BEER is a term which covers lager, ales, porter and stout; and, in the practice of Ontario brewers, implies beverages made under most hygienic conditions from Ontario barley (the best in the world) malt, hops and pure water.
