

Canadian Poultry Review.

DEVOTED TO POULTRY AND PET STOCK.

Vol. I.

STRATHROY, ONTARIO, AUGUST, 1878.

No. 9.

DARK BRAHMAS.

Dark Brahmas are one of the most beautiful varieties of the Asiatic class of fowls. Their stately carriage, great size, and beautiful contrast in colors of cock, and the exquisite penciling on the plumage of the hen, cause them to be greatly admired. When added to this is their excellent constitution, good winter laying and table qualities, their popularity is not to be wondered at.

The number of breeders of this variety in Canada has decreased during the past few years, but the quality of the stock shown is of greater average excellence. This decrease is partly accounted for