

BOMBING SCHOOL DEMONSTRATIONS—SMOKE ATTACKS

THESE photographs of infantry working under smoke are sure to catch the critical eye of the old soldier; but the official caption—"Bombing School Demonstrations—Smoke Attacks"—will disarm him in an instant. Not in these pages, nor in the pages of the numbers to follow, will any specimen of "faked" pictures be found. These photographs are genuine—as genuine as the British Army! They are official—as official as the War Office! The above are interesting photographs of exactly what we claim them to be—of Canadian infantry practising an attack under smoke from trenches in our second or third line. These same men came out of the first-line trenches to attend the bombing school of their particular brigade, and, upon the completion of their course of instruction in the use of smoke bombs, hand-grenades, and rifle-grenades, returned to their units and the fire-trench of our front-line.
