

"LE CANADIEN-FRANCAIS"

Its Motto: "SOYONS-UNIS"

The new French monthly paper, organ of the "Societe Saint Jean Baptiste," has just been published with a starting circulation of 8000 copies. Small in size but intense in life, it is presented to the readers by the president of the society. Dr. Boulanger, who writes: " . . . the paper is non-political, but strictly national. Le Canadien Francais is neither red nor blue, but RED, WHITE and BLUE. . . . "

An interesting article, "Nos. Reunions." is signed Albert Thym (Albertain). "La page des Dames" will please the readers with "Le Canadien Grandira" of Madame Dan Lombre and "L'Enthousiasme" of Madame France Haize.

On the fifth page is "God Save the King" translated in French, especially for "Le Canadien Francais," by the secretary of the Royal Society of Canada, Benjamin Sulte.

On the last page, mingled with other readings, is the program of the meeting of the Societe St. Jean Baptiste, where Father Hudon, S.J., rector of Jesuite College, will speak of Alsace-Lorraine on the 14th of November.

It is to be noted that English-speaking people who understand French are welcomed at the meetings of the society. The paper "Le Canadien Francais" is sent free upon request. Appropriately displayed is the crest of the society in red, white and blue.

"Le Canadien Francais" was also commented on favorably by The Edmonton Journal.
