

- of, L. C., iv. 22; Romish religion openly embraced by, 73.
- YORK—(Frederica), Duchess of, fêtes given by, at Oatlands, L. C., viii. 237; verses to by Lord Erskine, 302-3.
- YORK—Richard, Duke of, claim to the throne by, C. F., i. 146; claim argued before the House of Lords, L. C., i. 344-5; judgment in favor of, 345; killed at Wakefield, 346; C. F., i. 146.
- YORK—Frederick, Duke of, discreet speech, L. C., vii. 112; harsh treatment of, by George III., 401; letter to Lord Eldon, viii. 483; proceedings against, ix. 8; report on the state of the King, 57; speech against Catholic Emancipation, 159; celebrated declaration, 205, death, 231.
- YORK—House, account of, L. C., iii. 60.
- YORK—Place, purchased from the Dominicans by Walter de Gray, L. C., i. 121.
- YORKE—family, eminent members of, L. C., vi. 236.
- YORKE—Lord Chancellor Charles, parentage, L. C., vi. 407; education, 408; contributions to the Athenian Letters, 409; studies law at Lincoln's Inn, 413; inclination to a contemplative life, 417; called to the bar, 418; rapid progress, 419; correspondent of Montesquieu, 420, 432; work on Jurisprudence, 420; M. P. for Reigate, 423; defends the Regency Bill, 425; repels attack on Lord Hardwicke, 429; speech on Mutiny Act, 430; advice to Warburton, 431; marriage, 435; Solicitor-General, 436; complimentary speech to Lord Mansfield, 437; conduct on trial of Dr. Hensley and Lord Ferrars, 439-40; Attorney-General, 441; resigns, 443; receives a patent of precedence, 447; again Attorney-General, 448; corresponds with Warburton, and Garrick, 450-1; last meeting with Warburton, 453; counsel in the Douglas cause, 454; allies himself with the Rockingham Whigs, 455; interview with Duke of Grafton, 457; twice refuses the Great Seal, Ib.; fatal acceptance of Great Seal, 459; sudden death, 460; C. F., iii. 182; suspected of suicide, L. C., vi. 4, 60; Duke of Grafton's statement concerning, 465-8; contrary statements, 468; character, 476.
- YORKE—Mr. Redhead, prosecution and conviction of, C. F., iv. 145.