GORGEOUS WRAPS OF LACE AND NET

Provided for Cool Days, Summer Evenings and Formal Occasions.

DAINTY WHITE MODELS

Chosen by the Youthful Devotee Who Revels in Novelty.

Wraps for cool summer evenings and breezy afternoons delve deep into the realms of luxury and elegance, but the devotee fortunate enough to possess such a coveted prize of the wardrobe is a hundred times repaid for her seeming extravagance.

Occasions innumerable call for a dressy wrap, to add formality to the costume with which it is worn; and to cope with this all-important problem the energetic "Dame" has established a precedent in graceful robes, dainty and ornamental, rich in lovely floating materials, gauzy nets, laces, ribbons and spangled chiffon.

The added charm to the costume of the wearer is unquestionable, and the necessary protection from cool winds supplied in a wrap that lends distinction rather than detracts.

Lace is favored.

Lace is extensively favored as the chief foundation for many exquisite models, one handsome flaring cloak, which hung straight from the shoulders from a chick little circular yoke, emphasizing the success of lace and chiffon combinations. The chiffon was pleated for the three-quarter "bell" sleeves, edged with two-inch broad, edged white ribbon. The chiffon yoke, applied with rich lace, boasted tiny silk rosettes with pearl centres, at intervals intended to regulate the holding the gathers of the lace skirt portion in position.

Brocade Chiffon.

Another elegant wrap for the matron was developed in black brocade chiffon over a short silk lining of king's blue and French rose. Wide ruffles applied to the hem, which hung in six deep points, lent considerable novelty, and a broad, gracefully rolling transparent lace collar, lace cuffed sleeves and smart wide sash girdle, were other smart features.

The French Government has conferred the Cross of the Legion of Honor upon Miss Josephine Redding, a San Francisco girl, who has been acting as a trained nurse in the Red Cross service of the French army.

Today's Stores Are All "New" --As Different From Yesterday As This Issue of This Newspaper is Different from Yesterday's Issue.

The stores do not stand still. They change, re-make themselves, readjust stocks, present new features and new goods, devise new selling events, new "stunts" in value-giving WITH EACH NEW DAY.

Your "favorite store," like your favorite newspaper, has a new message and meaning for you today. The message is contained in its "ad." Its meaning to you is for your own interpretation.

The store-ads have a news value because the stores themselves have a new interest day by day.

Today's special opportunity to buy the thing you need at a real saving may not recur for a long time. Trade conditions may have made it possible, or at least advisable, for TODAY. But the alert readers of advertising quickly respond to the opportunity thus created --and before the day is done the "bargain" will have become a memory.

The wise buyer is the TIMELY buyer.

When You Punish a Child

It is very necessary when disciplining a child to be sure that one teaches just what one intends to teach. Any punishment that does not aim to teach the child some definite thing is wrong.

When a mother is very busy--and what mother isn't these days?--it is very easy to become impatient and magnify childish misdeeds. Then, too, there is the danger of punishing to relieve the mother's own feelings, and that, you all know, is absolutely unjust. It does not seem fair to strike a child. Yet at times it is a necessary form of discipline, if the child is too young to reason. If we punish by whipping only up to the time when the reason developed, we would not teach a lesson by punishment, because the child is too young to know right and wrong, and is able to judge between them, there are many forms of punishment available to the wise parents.

The faults of a child are so closely associated with his virtues that one requires great caution in dealing with them. Often mothers fail completely to teach a lesson by punishment, because they confuse children until the reason for the punishment is lost sight of.

Subliminally, by the way, is not a thing to be whipped out of a child. We all need every bit of determination we have, and that is what subliminally is only misdirected. The thing to do is to direct a child to determine wisely, and show him that he will suffer if he determines unwisely. A strong will, well directed and controlled, is one of the most majestic of human qualities. It will never become majestic by overpowering--but by instructing.

THE GARDEN

CONDUCTED BY R. TODD

SOME ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Sometimes it seems hard to decide just what is the best thing to do regarding the voluminous correspondence that this department is growing accustomed to. True, queries must be answered, but sometimes it goes much against the grain to say the same thing over again and again. I suppose it must be that other people's troubles never trouble to our gardeners until those who must be answered at once.

At any rate unusual inquiries do occur that must be answered at once. And here is one, the answer to which should afford help to more than the single one inquiring:

Sweet William: The new leaves of your begonia are turning yellow and dying, you say. Several things may be the reason for this untoward occurrence; a draught; standing the plant in the sun immediately after watering; or, especially if the sun comes thru the window pane, or your soil may have dried up without your noticing it; or the plant needs re-potting. Re-pot the whole plant in fresh soil, and after taking away the dead and dying leaves, and the old flower-stalks, set the fresh pot in a cool dark place, preferably the cellar, for some two or three weeks, and then repotting. Re-pot the new plant, which will require all two or three weeks, keep the plant for a month or more in a half-shady spot, and expect blossom stalks about September again. Write me again on this matter.

Honey suckles will be treated in a special article soon. But don't prune away the new shoots just now, because these are getting ready to send out blossoms as soon as ever they can.

"Fair Gardeners," be your hyacinths and tulips, and put away in a cool dry place until fall, when you will plant them in freshly prepared beds.

L.O.M. Jessica, Rockbottom, and "In Spite of All": Well here are four people in some trouble, and so all are together. Why, "In Spite of All"? Talk on to your pseudonym "Cheer Up," or perhaps you don't need to.

WHILE HOLIDAYING FINGERS WILL WORK

Patriotic Women Do Not Intend to Be Idle During Summer.

ONE CIRCLE FORMED

Stony Lake Auxiliary Already Organized for Season's Activities.

That enthusiasm in all patriotic channels has only been strengthened by the realization of the appalling work of the summer, and the highest of "by" a characteristic determination, is evidenced in the attitude of women workers at this the approach of the summer.

When the call first came last autumn to Canadian women, they responded eagerly with energy that none thought could last, and now, after months of truly hard labor to those so unaccustomed to this over-tax of strength, enthusiasm runs just as high, and determination is just as deep.

The summer circles are being formed, and the great success during the winter, and to it will undoubtedly be due the splendid work of the summer. At all events, whether in city or country, on lake or mountain, the patriotic woman will continue rolling long stripes of gauze into bandages and pads, and gashioning warm gray flannel into "get well" shirts for the wounded boys in the hospitals of England and France.

One of the first out-of-town summer circles to be formed is that of the strong, enthusiastic women of the Stony Lake Red Cross Auxiliary, which met last week at the residence of Mrs. Richard Russell, 353 Markham street.

During the summer months the women of the Stony Lake region will meet Tuesday and Friday afternoons, in the pavilion at Juniper Island, to work for the University Hospital, or country, or lake or mountain, the patriotic woman will continue rolling long stripes of gauze into bandages and pads, and gashioning warm gray flannel into "get well" shirts for the wounded boys in the hospitals of England and France.

The following were elected on the committee: Hon. president, Mrs. R. A. Falconer; president, Mrs. Wilton Edie; Toronto; vice-president, Mrs. Neil, Peterboro; secretary, Miss Edna Knox; Toronto; treasurer, Miss Evelyn Knox; secretary-treasurer, Peterboro; branch, Mrs. John Knapman; committee, Mrs. Richard Russell, Mrs. A. E. Vernon, Miss Dorothy Eddis and Miss Dene.

Work will commence at the lake the first week of July, and a large circle is anticipated, as encouraging reports have already been received from the Peterboro branch.

Of the others, five are missing, 15 are prisoners in Germany, and many more are in hospitals.
