The Daily Hint From Paris

Hats of Characteristic Shape.

The rose trimmed hat suggests the south of years ago. It is a fine yellow straw, with a black velvet binding around the edge. The blue satin ribbon extends over the crown, passing under a large symmetrical bunch of natural looking cinnamon roses.

The tricorn hat is much elongated towards the sides. It is a grey straw and simply trimmed by draping the edges with black and silver spotted velvet ribbon.

GIRL'S ROOM WITH ROSE DECORATION

A girl of 12 or 14 can make for her room a pretty curtain of scrim with wide hemstitched hem and a stenciled border in a conventionalized flower pattern. The flower should be her favorite one, represented in coloring that harmonizes with the walls. A chaircover of the same material might be made for summer use, and the same flower used as the motif, the design modified to suit the difference in spaces. A shirtwaist box cover made of denim could be stenciled in a similar way.

A pretty bedroom set I have seen, says a contributor to The Woman's Home Companion, consists of curtains, bedspread, dresscover and screen covering of unbleached muslin, decorated in applique done with rose-colored linen, and with embroidery in simple outline stitch. The motif adopted is the rose. The embroidery, in dull green, is done with washable mercerized cotton. The work occupies the leisure time of several months, and was a pleasure to the girl worker who is now enjoying the results of her efforts.

Pillow covers form a field of endeavor in themselves. They may be in plain colors, introducing some needed note in a scheme, or they may be stenciled or embroidered in simple patterns on all sorts of material. Resizable covers in linen, cotton, or lawn are perhaps the most suitable for a bedroom.

Nothing is prettier for draperies for a young girl's room than white muslin. In one instance the dressing table is stenciled covered, the sides with a founce of muslin, on the top with a tiny pad and a cover of the same material. The mirror above is painted white and has an overdrapery shirred on an oval loop. The decoration of draperies and window curtains consists of strips of crepeone torn from a striped pattern showing pink, rosebud and green leaves. The strips were sewed on the muslin by machine, the sewing machine proving as efficient an aid in this case as the embroidery needle. The rosebud border is echoed in the wall paper, which has inside the border a panel of gray blue, and outside a strip of tan colored paper. The ceiling is blue gray, the moulding blue and the other woodwork a rich creamy white. The rug is blue gray, and the couch cover is a tan colored imported canvas. The room has a girlish charm, with its white draperies and the simple arrangement of little pictures is especially noticeable. A pretty room, such as this one, goes long way toward making a young girl happy in her home.

The Nursery

Ten Commandments for Mothers.

1. Feed your baby from the breast if possible.
2. Feed regularly; not whenever the baby cries.
3. Don't feed the baby any raw food, or any kind of fruit, or tea, coffee, beer or spirits, and give no solid food under twelve months. Feed only pure milk.
4. Bathe the baby every morning in cool or lukewarm water, and in hot water two or three times a day. Always wash the baby when the diaper is changed.
5. See that the baby's bowels move daily.
6. The baby should sleep alone in a crib.
7. Give plenty of fresh air—always have the windows open.
8. Keep bedding clean, and always air it when not in actual use.
9. Leave the baby alone.
10. Let your baby know the baby alone! Don't coddle or fondle him, or make him "show off" before visitors.

How to Save the Baby.

If mother's milk is impossible feed plain cow's milk, not pasteurized, but pure and fresh. Sterilized milk is poison for babies, and causes scurvy.

Beef juice should be given once daily and barley water at least once every other day.

Gruels of wheat and rice, custards and broths may be given to babies in their second summer.

For babies fourteen months old, the juice of half an orange. When two years old a couple of oranges should be given.

Above all things, keep the baby, its clothing and its sleeping place, clean. Babies will stand a lot of heat. The greatest danger from hot weather is in the chemical changes it causes in baby's food. All food should be absolutely fresh, prepared in absolutely clean vessels.

Plenty of water, inside and out, will help the baby live.

The above advice is given to mothers by a physician. If there is anything to add to it, it is: remember that underfeeding is safer than over-feeding, especially during this excessive heat.

GETS KING'S PRIZE

Mrs. John Montague, Earls Court, Gave Birth to Triplets.

Another happy couple has qualified for the King's three guineas. Triplets, two girls and a boy, have been born to Mrs. John Montague of Earls Court. All concerned are doing well. What is most remarkable about the occurrence is that this is the third time Earls Court has been blessed in this way within the space of a couple of months.

CALLED IT THE "BETTER HALF"

At a local club room the other evening a group of well known sportsmen were discussing financial prospects for the coming season. As an introduction and to start things off right, one of the group ordered "one complete bottle of Canada's best whiskey." The inexperienced waiter, who had been only a few days in the club's employ, produced the whiskey. "Well—where's the Radnor?" said the astonished member. "You didn't say Radnor," said the waiter. "No, I didn't say Radnor, but you are expected to have a certain amount of common sense—why, sparkling Radnor Water is the better half and is the only thing that makes whiskey worth drinking."

CLOSE AT FOUR O'CLOCK

New Orders Affecting Parliament Buildings Are Enforced.

Despite an announcement two weeks ago that the departments of the government at the parliament buildings would close at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, many people having business with the departments continue to call after the closing hour. A PASSING VISIT.

Two hundred members of the Newspaper Club of the Southern States passed thru this city yesterday, en route for Niagara. The party arrived in the morning by G. T. R. special from Detroit, and left during the day for Falls.

FRUIT PRICES TOOK A TUMBLE

Cherries and Strawberries Were a Lot Cheaper Than Any Day This Year—Red Currants Soon.

Fruit prices yesterday were on the whole rather cheaper than they have been lately. The California plums and peaches, as well as the berries and Canadian fruits were all quoted at figures much lower than those of the day before. Bushel baskets of cabbages were placed on the market at 75c, the large crates bringing $2.50.

There were some American apples on sale, but none from the Canadian apple growing provinces. Some baskets of green peas from Clarkson's sold at 60c the basket. The red currant shipments may be expected soon, the first consignment having already come in.

Fruit prices quoted yesterday are as follows: Strawberries, 15c to 17c the box; cherries, 30c to 40c the box; the case; California plums, $1.50 to $2.00 the case; peaches, $1.50 to $2 the case; pears, $1.50 the half case; American apples, $1.25 to $1.50 the hamper; beans, $1.50 the bushel; cabbages, 75c the basket; $2.50 the large crate; red currants, 48c to $1.25 to $1.50 the hamper; plums, $1.50 to $2 the case; watermelons, 50c to 60c each.

EELS WILL FLY TO THE HEARTRE

Aviator Intends to Drop a Box of Chocolates to Miss Haswell To-day or To-morrow.

Miss Percy Haswell, altho she does not know it, is going to be the recipient of a choice box of chocolates, which will be presented to her in a very unique manner. Last night Aviator Eells witnessed the performance of "Are You a Mason?" at the Alexandra Theatre as Miss Haswell's guest. He appreciated the performance so much that he is going to visit Miss Haswell again to-night or to-morrow night, weather permitting. It is his intention to fly from Hanlan's Point to the theatre, drop from his hydro-aeroplane a package of sweets addressed to her. Mr. Eells will leave Hanlan's Point at 8 o'clock sharp, and he is prepared to wait that five minutes after he leaves Hanlan's Point, Miss Haswell will be munching the bon-bons. This is probably the first time an actress received a gift in this way. After delivering his gift, Mr. Eells will return to Hanlan's Point, where he will make his first attempt to break his former record.

Seasonable Recipes

Rice Omelet Squares.

These squares are nice for luncheon. To make this omelet dish, beat three eggs, whites and yolks together, until very light, season to taste with salt and pepper, and fold in lightly a scant cupful of cold boiled rice. The rice must first be well broken up with a fork, so that each grain is loose. Pour into a hot, buttered omelet pan and cook, setting it in the oven for a moment to brown on top. With a sharp knife cut it into squares and transfer these quickly to hot platters. Garnish with crisp lettuce leaves and squares of tart currant jelly, and serve immediately or it will lose its crispness.

Filet of Beef in Casserole.

Cut a three pound filet in slices one and a half inches thick. Tie each with cord; dust with salt and pepper. Put in an earthen casserole two tablespoonfuls of butter; when it is hot put in the filets and cook five minutes on each side. Remove and cut off tines. Put in the casserole two tablespoonfuls of browned bread crumbs and two of chopped pickles and parsley. Stir and add butter. Put the filets back for a minute. Serve at once.

Bunny Cookies.

Make a good stiff cookie mixture, as follows: Mix together thoroughly one-half pound butter and one-half pound granulated sugar. Break into the bowl with two eggs. Do not beat them, but mix them, unbeaten, into the creamed butter and sugar. Then put in the flour, and gradually add four until three-quarters of a pound has been used. Kneading it in thoroughly with the hands. Roll out quite thin, using powdered sugar instead of the usual flour; cut into bunny forms, and bake. When done, frost in white and sketch eyes, nose, etc., with a brush dipped in melted chocolate.

SERVICE TO OLCOTT.

Commencing this morning, the People's Line will resume their service to Lewiston. The steamer Olcott will leave Toronto harbor twice daily for the port across the lake. At the first of next week the company's other steamer, the Frontier, will be put into commission. The Olcott will leave the Bay-street wharf each day at 7:45 a.m. and 2:45 p.m.

Tea Tray.

A charming design for a tea tray is a stencil of morning glories in shades of blue on a white ground.

The stencil may be accentuated by touches of embroidery, using just enough embroidery to throw the stencil into greater relief, and yet to give the effect of a stencil rather than an embroidery.

The frame should be of light brown unvarnished wood and measure 16 by 24 inches.

Handles for these trays may be purchased in any hardware store.

"At the White Horse Tavern."

Miss Haswell receives many letters requesting her to produce certain plays, and she is always glad to comply when possible. But of all the plays she has been asked to present, none appear to have so many admirers as "At the White Horse Tavern," that amusing farce from the German by Blumenthal and Kadelburg, and that is the reason it will be the attraction at the Alexandra Theatre next week. The German playwrights are noted for the excellent comedies they have given the public, and this one became so popular in both Europe and America that a sequel was written to it. The play requires an elaborate production, as it is set in the Alps, and affords opportunity to use their brushes. One of the most amusing and realistic scenes I had a party of tourists are caught in a rain storm. Real water is used, but it is not filtered and they receive proper drenching. There is plenty of good laughter in the play, the lines are exceedingly witty, and full of bright sayings. The usual matinees will be given on Wednesday and Saturday.

AFTER PRIZES AT BIG SHOW

C.P.R. Department of Natural Resources Will Send Potatoes to New York Exhibition This Fall.

Systematic effort is to be made to land the big prizes at American agricultural exhibitions for the Canadian West by the Canadian Pacific Railway. The latest move is to get exhibits of potatoes from all over the west and to send them to the American Land and Irrigation Exhibition at New York. Last year British Columbia potatoes were the champion of the world, and the Canadian Pacific Railway is sending out circulars, urging farmers all over Western Canada to enter for this competition. Prizes to the value of $1000 in coin and cups will be awarded, and all entry blanks must be on file in New York not later than Nov. 5, 1912. The capturing of the world's wheat prize by Selgei Wheeler of Rosburn, Sask., at a similar exhibition has but whetted the appetites of westerners, and they feel that all they need to win is to compete. Mr. Wheeler competed in the contest under the suggestion of Mr. J. S. Dennis, chief of the Natural Resources Department, and Mr. Dennis is again taking charge of the work.

"St. Elmo" at the Grand.

At the request of patrons, the Phillips-Shaw Stock Company will present at the Grand next week a new stage version of Augusta Evans Wilson's popular story "St. Elmo." It is one of the best of the book plays that have been given to the stage in recent years and has always been a favorite with the theatregoers. A complete scenic equipment will be provided for the production here, and as the members of the company are all competent people, a first-class performance is assured. During the week the regular Wednesdays and Saturday matinees will be given, when seats can be reserved for any part of the house at twenty-five cents.
