Turning now to the question of the cattle market. The immediate cause of council's decision to erect an abattoir was the fact that two of the packwas the fact that two of the packhouses which had formerly part of their cattle on the city market, Under gray skies which threatened announced their intention of henceforth ouying on the Union Stock Yards only. One of these was the Harris Abattoir coming to Toronto, nor is any land edif available in the neighborhood for the enlargement of existing plants, or for the establishment of new houses or kindred industries. The band of the Royal Grenadiers, decision of the Harris Abattoir Comlast public park concert of the series this decision. We need scarcely say and replaces the concert postponed that a decision to abandon a plant buying operations naturally followed which had cost nearly half a million dolairs and to erect a new one, was not lightly arrived at, and was due so ely to the compelling facts mention-We believe that the city, in undertaking a new and highly technical business, cannot afford to neglect conrolling economic facts any more than an individual or a corporation. The following, we believe to the be the controlling facts in connection with the contemplated building of a civic

1. That the essential interests of every one associated with the cattle trade demand a single cattle market. 2. That the city market is impossible as a single market for its area is inadequate, and its location unsuitable as the centre of a packing house trade. (3) That the city cattle market can he kept open only at a loss owing to the withdrawal from it of the large buyers. This is proved by the figures ecently published for the first six months of the year. (4) That the city has open an alternative disposition of the market pro-perty which, instead of an annual loss, yield a large annual revenue. The property can be sold or leased for factory sites to produce an income greater than it ever yielded as a market.

Would Give Site.

For these reasons we think the wis-est policy for the city is to close the city cattle market, and establish the civic abattoir on the Wast-Toronto yards. We believe that the Union Stock Yards Co. would gladly give to the city a free site ample for all present and future requirements. If it is thought that any public interest is -rejudiced by the closing of the city yards the protection of such interest could be made a part of the negotiations with the Union Stock Yards Co. We believe the Union Stock Yards Co. would be willing to make the mayor a member of the board of directors as in the case of the gas company. One thing more is of importance. A civic abattoir built on the West To-ronto Market would each year have an increased value, due to its location at the centre of the packing house trade. It would always be salable as a going concern. If, on the other hand, the civic abattoir were built on Stanley and if the city market were closthe price to be charged for beef or ed not now, but ultimately, which even any other subject. mit is possible, then the civic plant would be stranded in an isolated position, and would be salable only at ts scrapping value.

The remarks above deal with the

Are in Sympathy.

With the principle we are entirely n sympathy. We are aware that for long time the medical health officer of the city and the public health committee of council have been studying the problem of how best to protect the citizen from the unwitting consump-ti of diseased meat. The only effec-tive method of securing this protec-tion is that all meats offered for sale in the city should be slaughtered un-der inspection and in a plant equipped with proper sanitary appliances.

The city has now decided to erect The city has now decided to erect such a plant which will make these two things possible. This plant will replace the fifteen or twenty small uninspected slaughter-houses of the city. As stated above, we do not think the interests of the packing houses are involved in this decision, for the competition of the smaller slaughter-houses will be neither increased and the smaller slaughter-houses.

will be neither increased nor diminished.
If in the preparation of the city's plant access to our plant, or a state-ment of our experience on doubtful tendent or mechanical staff are of any value, they are freely at the disposal of those in charge of the work. We place a set of the plans in the hands of your commissioner or architect if it

The plant which we are building would not be suitable as a public abattoir, but it is the result of fifteen years' experience, and it is not unlikely that some features of it may afford useful
