PRINCESS

Bryant Washburn in "Kidder & Ko." at the Princess on Monday and Tuesday.

Businessmen of this city—especially those who have achieved success in the face of handicaps and largely by the great force of advertising and live wire methods—will find a lot of whole-some enjoyment in "Kidder & Ko," the Pathe Play that comes to the Princess Theatre on Monday and Tuesday.

Bryant Washburn appears in the principal part. He is the son of an old chap who lives in Maine, and who has jogged along for many years as a canner of codfish. He sticks to the old ways of doing business, but manages to amass a considerable fortune. He sends the son to college, but is convinced that the boy will never amount to anything. He's full of fool notions, the boy is, according to the old man's way of thinking, and his chief distinction is as a pool champion.

Then when dad tells him to go away and return with 10,000 "iron men," the boy, who labors under the name of Cuthbert, comes to life. He goes away. He falls in love. And falling in love he makes up a lot of ambition to amount to something, for he knows that there will be no gay wedding bells for him unless he manages to make a success of himself.

How he does it is delightfully novel, so natural, and so amusing that one warm right up with sympathy for the young lovers. Bryant Washburn made a big hit when he appeared in "Skinner's Dress Suit," and followed that with "Twenty-One," but it is a certainty that he will surpass his previous record with "Kidder & Ko."

WORLD'S GREATEST STARS IN THE GREATEST PRODUCTIONS AT MAJESTIC NEXT WEEK

W. S. Hart in "Border Wireless" on Monday and Tuesday; Dorothy Gish on Wednesday and Thursday in "Battling Jane"; Lila Lee on Friday and Saturday Next.

Enid Bennett, the dainty Thomas H. Ince star in Paramount pictures, is a young actress with a record that is unique, almost, even in the screen annals. She climbed to stardom with the facility of a sailor going up the ratlines in a storm. She came, saw and conquered. Everybody loved Enid from the start, because she has such a wistful smile, such big pleading eyes and pretty teeth. And she can act. That was what helped. So she became a star, and she's getting brighter all the time. Now she is to be seen here in

ENID BENNETT in "The Marriage Ring"

Appearing at the Majestic Theatre today only in her greatest success. A special feature of this afternoon's performance will be the big song festival led by Jack King and Cloya Terry.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN, the world's greatest screen comedian, appearing at the Majestic with "Fatty" Arbuckle on Friday and Saturday next. The comedy, "His Reckless Fling," is the only photo-comedy in which these two comedians have been featured.

her latest photoplay, which, they say, is a really splendid emotional drama, the story of which is laid in Hawaii. Fred Niblo directed the picture, and Jack Holt is the leading man. Robert McKim, Charles K. French and Maude George also are in the cast.

"The Marriage Ring" will be shown at the Majestic Theatre today only. Also a News Weekly and two comedies, "The Polished Villain" and "His Friend's Wife."

Jack King to Lead Great Chorus at the Majestic This Afternoon.

Jack King, "the golden-voiced tenor," assisted by Miss Cloya Terry, will lead the big song revue at the Majestic this afternoon. This feature is being repeated again today at the earnest request of patrons who participated in last Saturday's song festival.

Wm. S. Hart at the Majestic Monday and Tuesday in "Border Wireless." William S. Hart, peerless portrayer of strong virile western roles, will make a distinct hit in his new Arctcraft photoplay, "Border Wireless," at the Majestic Monday and Tuesday. The picture, which was directed by Mr. Hart under the supervision of Thomas H. Ince, is intensely dramatic and of that Hart type which is bound to attract widespread and favorable comment.

Steve Ransom, a brave Westerner, becomes a bandit in revenge for the death of his aged parents, who are of grief when they are deprived of their ranch through the dishonesty of a railroad corporation in Wyoming. He commits several daring robberies at railroad stations, and soon is an outlaw with a price upon his head. He assumes the name of Alton, and goes to Yellow Dog, near the Mexican border, where he rescues Elsa Miller, a telegraph operator, from a band of Mexican bandits who attack her as she is delivering a message to the Magdalena Mines.

Their love is mutual. Steve is intensely patriotic, and when the United States declares war against Germany, he decides to go to Fort Scott and enlist. He meets Hermann Brandt and Frederick Schloss, two Hun spies, whose headquarters are located at the abandoned Magdalena Mines, and when Brandt makes disparaging remarks against the United States, Steve forces him to kiss the American flag.

Brandt causes Steve's shack to be searched, and evidence is found revealing Steve's identity and the fact that he is a fugitive from justice. Brandt learns that Steve has gone to Fort Scott, and he telegraphs the facts to the commandant of the fort, with the request that Steve be arrested. Steve escapes, and with the aid of Elsa runs down the spies, destroys the wireless plant, and for his services he is pardoned. He and Elsa then plight their troth. The support is excellent, the portrayal of Elsa by Wanda Hawley being most artistic.

An added attraction on the program Monday and Tuesday with the features, comedies, etc., will be a special film of the Windsor fair, which was such a great success this year. The film shows all the principal events of the fair, the stock show, the automobile parade, the judges and the throngs that were at the fair, and also a number of close-ups of the performers and their performances which entertained the crowds.
