FOUR BABY CUBS BORN AT FERARI'S WILD WEST SHOW LAST MIDNIGHT

Last night at 12 o'clock Big Rosella, the big lioness, gave birth to four cubs. The cubs are doing well and will be named after the three successful candidates in the Queen contest. The fourth will be named after the City of St. John. They will be known as the four Canadian lions. Rosella is one of the largest lionesses in captivity, and has a record of killing eleven of her trainers.

She was brought to this country by Colonel Francis Ferari, who was with Colonel Roosevelt on his last hunting exposition to the wilds of Africa. Rosella was captured in the African deserts and put up the hardest fight of any lioness ever known in that region. If possible the baby cubs will be put on exhibition in the big steel bound arena each afternoon and evening for the remainder of the week. They are the most beautiful specimens of lions ever born in Ferari's shows.

The shows will leave here on Saturday night for Halifax. Now is your chance to see the shows before they leave, giving two performances daily, starting two o'clock and seven in the evening.

ONE MORE DAY FOR THE BIG QUEEN CONTEST

Ballot boxes will be removed from stores and locations about the city tomorrow afternoon. The contest will continue on the exhibition grounds until nine o'clock on Saturday evening, then the ballot boxes will be closed and the prizes awarded to the three successful candidates. Anyone wishing to enter now may do so without any further use of publication through the press. The successful candidate winning the $150 diamond ring will have one beautiful present. Second receiving a manicuring set will also have a present worth working for. The umbrella or third prize is also a nice present. Ballot early tomorrow morning, as you will have to vote on the exhibition grounds. The main polling station is located opposite drill hall on the exhibition grounds, where you can secure voting envelopes.

"He lost his money shortly after we named the baby after him."

Stella—But, Jack dear, I don't think your father will be pleased at our engagement. You know he always said youneeded a practical wife.

Jack—Don't worry. Wait till he sees how you can drive a car and take a motor apart.—Fun.

PRINCE ARTHUR HIMSELF DENIES ENGAGEMENT

Stories Untrue; He is Not a Marrying Man, But Devoted to Military Career

London, July 12—Prince Arthur, of Connaught, personally authorizes a denial of the report that he is engaged to a cousin of the Czar. He says he is not engaged to anybody.

The continued rumors of his engagement, first to one and then to another princess, have caused the prince the greatest annoyance. Prince Arthur often declares to intimate friends that he is not a marrying man. He is devoted to his military career, and is anxious to take it seriously, and it was at the king's special request that he did not accompany his father, the Duke of Connaught, to Canada as aide de camp.

SAID THAT SOLDIERS ROBBED HENHOUSES OF SUSSEX MEN

Sussex Record:—Several local henhouses were robbed last week by members of the militia. Robert Bruce, Seth Jones and Joseph Hornbrook were among the losers. The birds taken were all pure bred types. The thieves in all cases destroyed the birds where they took them. Mr. Hornbrook lost no less than twenty pure bred chickens. This sort of thing will result in a decidedly less friendly feeling towards men in camp next year. It has been a long time since members of the militia were guilty of the regrettable acts which marked their visit to Sussex this year. Without doubt the town authorities will enforce the law much more strictly next year. It is pretty well known where Mr. Hornbrook's went, the raid having been made while the regiment to which the guilty parties were attached was entraining at the camp siding.

A mere good impulse that does not result in good works is rather worse than useless, for if not carried out in deed it has a reaction instead of an action as its outcome.
