LOCAL NEWS

BIRTHS AND MARRIAGES
Eleven marriages were registered this week with J. R. Jones, registrar of vital statistics and he also recorded the birth of four girls and three boys.

THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
Friends of Rev. Mr. Mahood, pastor of the Congregational church, will be pleased to learn that he is slightly improved after an operation which he underwent this week. His place tomorrow at both services will be taken by a former pastor, Rev. S. W. Anthony, now of Cowasville, P. Q., who is here on a visit.

IS THIS THE KIRBY?
Frederick Barnes called at the Times office today to say that ten years ago he knew a man named Kirby in Williamstown, Conn., who had gone there from St. John, just after the fire. He was then about sixty years of age, and was crossing keeper at Camp Station. Mr. Barnes thinks that the city clerk at Williamstown, or Luke Flynn, a restaurant keeper, could give information to enquirers.

COUNTRY MARKET.
This has been a very quiet week in the country market largely owing to the fact that so many of the farmers were engaged in haying. Today also saw little country produce brought in, but there was a brisk demand for what supplies were offered. Lamb was much more plentiful and may be cheaper. Butter is higher and the lowest asked was about twenty-seven cents. Eggs are also advancing in price, while green goods are on the decline.

POLICE COURT.
John Lane, arrested a few days ago for being drunk and who jumped into the harbor, was before the court this morning and was fined $5 or thirty days in jail. John Allen, arrested on a charge of securing money under false pretences was again remanded. William White was also brought in and remanded. One other prisoner charged with drunkenness was fined $5 or two months in jail but the fine was allowed to stand.

A. O. H. DECORATION DAY.
The A. O. H. members will observe decoration day tomorrow and are planning to visit the graves of their departed brethren in large numbers and honor their memory with floral tributes. Major Thomas King will be grand marshal of tomorrow's parade which will be headed by the City Cornet Band and will leave the hall in Union street at 1.30 p. m. A committee will receive flowers at the hall today and tomorrow morning.

YACHT RACE TODAY.
One of the chief holiday attractions for today will be the yacht race at Millidgeville this afternoon under the auspices of the R. K. Y. C. The race will be for the Commodore's Cup and is open to Class A, B, and C sloops. The starting gun will be fired at 2.45 o'clock and the time limit for the race is three hours. The boats will sail from Millidgeville to Appleby's wharf and return. Quite a few entries have been received for the race. The judges are Robert Thompson, George B. Hegan and J. E. Armstrong. The timers are William White and H. A. Wilson.

LOYAL TRUE BLUE.
Victoria Lodge No. 98 of the Loyal True Blue Association held a supper and entertainment in their hall, Oddfellows building, Simonds street, last evening. A large crowd was present. The tables were tastefully spread and handsomely decorated and were in charge of Mrs. Akery, Mrs. Haines, Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. Matheson, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Morrill, Mrs. Stackhouse, Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Rolston. After supper E. Goodrich presided at the chair and the following programme was carried out—Piano solo, Miss Akery; address, David Hignett; reading, Mrs. B. Haines; piano solo, Miss L. Cooper; reading, Mrs. Morrill; God Save the King.

TELL THE TRUTH.
Joseph Stackhouse, a thirteen year old lad reported for breaking trees in an orchard owned by Blanchard Fowler in Wright street and also stealing apples there, was before Magistrate Ritchie in the juvenile court this morning. He pleaded not guilty but Mr. Fowler told of his catching Stackhouse and another lad in the orchard with apples in their pockets. He said Stackhouse tried to run away from him but was caught. The lad told his story to the court, and after he was finished His Honor told him that his middle name should have been Ananias and that had it not been for lies that he told both to the court and to Mr. Fowler, he would have been allowed to go but that he would now be detained.

DOG FINDS ITS WAY

HERE FROM FREDERICTON
Saturday: Animal Arrived at Their New Home Yesterday

A rare case of dog intelligence is reported. A family named Doran, having moved from Fredericton last Saturday, took a house in Egbert street. In leaving their home in the capital, in the hustle and bustle they left behind their dog. When members of the family went into the yard last evening they were surprised to find the animal there, wagging its tail and apparently glad to see its owners again. Excepting for some cuts about the feet the animal was in good condition. What all are trying to puzzle out now is, how the dog got to the city and still more, how he managed to find the new home of the family. The only possible way of solving the mystery that they see, is that the dog followed the railroad track and although he must have been very often weary and hungry, persevered until he arrived in the city. Truly the dog is man's faithful friend.

WESTFIELD ROBBERY

Home of Frank Lane Visited And Articles Stolen

A telephone message to Chief of Police Clark this morning stated that the house of Frank Lane at Westfield was burglarized between 10 and 11 o'clock last night. The burglars are supposed to be travelling this way. A silver Waltham watch, a black hand bag and a five dollar bill were stolen. The police here are on the look-out. A later report to the chief stated that some of the stolen property had been found on the side of the road this side of Westfield.

MANY BEAT THE STREET RAILWAY IN RUN OF YEAR

An Amazing Collection Of Valueless Coins And Other Articles

THEY ARE PASSED FOR FARES

Medals, Lead Discs, Trading Checks and Even Tops of Syrup Bottles Have Secured Transportation for the Unscrupulous — Many Foreign Money Pieces

In the office of the St. John Railway Company there is a big black box, having eight or ten compartments, and every little compartment has some prize stock of its own. The box is plain enough in appearance on the outside, but when it is opened there is revealed a vast collection of all kinds of coins, foreign, mutilated, smooth, and indecipherable, as well as a large number of interesting assortment of aluminum pieces, bottle tags, medals, trading checks, and other "fares," all of which have found their way to the treasury through the hands of the car conductors. Through the courtesy of H. M. Hopper, manager of the company, a Times reporter was accorded the privilege of an inspection of the strange lot of curios, souvenirs of the fact that many people have been successful in "doing" the railway, to put it mildly. The coins of almost every nation on the map of the world find their way to the office of the company in the course of but a few months, and in an ordinary handful of the rightly labelled "junk" is a matter of but a few minutes to select the smaller coins of France, Italy, China, England, United States, Mexico, Newfoundland, Russia, Germany, Spain, Portugal, Holland, in fact all the countries of more or less importance in the world. In addition there are to be seen, without a very careful search either, coins bearing stamps of such far distant places as Ceylon, Straits Settlements, Uruguay, Deminica, Peru, British Guiana, Hayti, Greece, Iceland, Norway, and Panama. Mr. Hopper said that it was really surprising how soon the "junk" accumulated. In fact such an ordinary occurrence had it become for the boxes to be "stuffed" with this foreign coinage that a special box had been reserved for it, and the compartments had labels designating from which country the coin had come. In a few minutes he had, the coins or articles so gathered would represent about a thousand dollars in fares. Some of the foreign pieces were negligible at first, while others had to be disposed of at much below, and some had to be thrown out because of being about the edges. To the collector of rare coins, the collection would be of little value. It is a selection of the pieces of ancient date, or of a rare issue, but the assortment is interesting nevertheless. Some of the pieces are practically new, and bear the date of last year, or some time within the last decade. The head of many a notable ruler is to be found on one or other of the coins, and names which have been famous in the history of a nation are inscribed about the edges. For instance, in the large collection yesterday in one handful picked up were coins stamped with the profile of Carlos 3rd, Oom Paul Kruger, Victoria Emmanuel 3rd, Napoleon III, Louis XVIII, Leopold of Belgium, Alphonse XII and other notable.

Besides this vast collection of coins, which are slipped into the fare boxes mostly by foreigners, there are a large number of counterfeit fares which find their way there, and which it is thought are not of foreign origin, but intentionally inserted by local people. In the last are included pieces of lead rounded after the manner of nickel, punched, smooth the mutilated pieces of silver, tops of syrup bottles, medals, paper souvenirs, trading checks, and a variety of other articles which at one time carried one, two, or more persons in the street car, alongside those who conscientiously inserted the lawful coinage of the realm in the fare box.

CITY REWARD FOR FAITHFUL SERVICES BY ITS HORSES

Commissioner McLellan's Proposal Will Meet With General Commendation

After a horse has faithfully served the city for fifteen years or thereabouts, the greater part of his lifetime, he is entitled to a fair share of comfort in his declining years, or should he be sold at public auction to whomsoever is willing to bid big enough to procure him? In answer to this question, different opinions may be entertained, but it is to be expected that the majority of views will favor allowing the animal to spend the last few years of his life with a master who will take the best of care of him, and not permit his being over-burdened, rather than favor the idea of his being sold for harder work than he has been used to even in his prime. It has been the custom in the past to have an auction sale of horses which have become old in the service of the city, horses which have been guided to the scene of many fires, or which have performed other duties connected with the municipal department, and done well.

Commissioner H. R. McLellan proposes to make a change in the disposal of these faithful steeds, and regarding the matter from a sentimental standpoint, and being a true-lover of horse flesh, he has decided that in future there will be no public auction of horses which have seen a certain number of years in the service of the municipal departments. Instead a home will be found for them where they will receive the kindly usage to which they have been accustomed, either on a farm, or in some other such place where they will not be over-worked or ill-treated. Or, if necessary, the use of chloroform might be resorted to, should death be thought preferable to a few years of drudgery after a long and faithful record in the public service.
