BOSTON LETTER.

The Assassination of Gov. Goebel and Politics in Kentucky.

New England Delegates to Democratic National Convention Will Solidly Vote for Bryan for President

Rev. John Pickles, D. D., Called to Westfield - Wants $25,000 for the Alienation of His Wife's Affections - The Lumber and Fish Markets.

(From our own correspondent.) BOSTON, Feb. 4.—Public attention was diverted temporarily last week from the South African war by the Kentucky affair, which presents about as serious a situation as any which has arisen in this country for many years.

Kentucky has had three governors in one day, and has two at the present time, one of which is within the state capital at Frankfort guarded by a regiment of soldiers without. The courts are apparently against Gov. Taylor, the republican executive, who has the soldiers on his side, but he has defied all orders issued by the court thus far.

The death last night of Gov. Goebel, democrat, a victim of an assassin's bullet, does not help matters, and most people expect that the federal courts or the national government will have to interfere to prevent further bloodshed.

Although Goebel's methods were condemned by many of his own party, his assassination and the defiant demeanor of Gov. Taylor mean nothing more than the destruction of any chances the republicans might have had of carrying the state next fall.

In short it is believed that if the democratic leaders in the state continue to act within the law, and resist the temptation to oppose Taylor and his allies with arguments of the shot gun variety, the republican party of Kentucky has received its death blow.

Rev. Richard Harcourt, D. D., preached a strong sermon in favor of the British side in the Boer war at Berkeley Temple last Sunday. His remarks were freely applauded by the large congregation present.

The Order of the White Rose, quite as friendly to the British cause, Father Frisby, rector of the Church of the Advent (Episcopal) recently made a statement on the subject, taking sides against the Boer sympathizers.

The Order of the White Rose observed the anniversary of the murder of Charles I. of England by a service at the Church of the Advent last Tuesday night.

William J. Bryan, the democratic leader, addressed more than 50,000 people in the New England states during the past week. Many republicans who do not endorse their party's attitude on the Philippine question were among his hearers, and at Concord the Nebraskaan was welcomed to the state by the republican governor.

Rev. John D. Pickles, D. D., pastor of the Tremont Street Methodist Episcopal church, has received a call to the First Methodist Episcopal church at Westfield. Dr. Pickles is well known in New Brunswick, having been born at St. Andrews, and receiving part of his education at Mount Allison University, Sackville.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen D. Archer of Maiden observed their golden wedding anniversary last Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Archer were married at Yarmouth, N. S. Mrs. Archer's maiden name was Mary A. Magray, and she is a daughter of Capt. John Magray of Yarmouth.

As a result of internal dissensions the Lowell ambulance corps of the state militia has been dissolved. Dr. Robert E. Bell, formerly of Sackville, was a prominent member, holding the rank of lieutenant. The trouble is attributed to alleged arbitrary acts of the captain, Myles Standish. Lieut. Bell does not endorse the captain's policy, and is supported by most of the men.

Hugh Mackenzie, administrator of the estate of the late Rebecca A. Clarke of Truro, N. S., is a petitioner in the probate court here for a sum of money placed in the Five Cents Savings Bank of this city some years ago by Miss Clarke. The case will be heard by the court Feb. 8.

J. S. Winslow, president of the International Steamship Company, emphatically denies the report that E. A. Waldron, Boston agent of the company, is to be superseded. President Winslow says no changes have been thought of.

A suit brought in the United States district court here by the Nantasket Beach Steamboat Co. against the Yarmouth Steamship Co., for $65,000 damages, is still pending. The Nantasket steamer Mayflower was sunk on Aug. 25, 1899, during a collision with the Yarmouth. As an outcome of the accident, the captain of the Mayflower committed suicide. Damages are asked for the loss of the steamer.

David A. Kennedy, son of James Kennedy of St. John, and Miss Grace Kennedy A. Stafford, daughter of Samuel Stafford of Leppanau, St. John county, were united in marriage at the Tremont Methodist Episcopal church in this city on Wednesday last. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John D. Pickles, formerly of St. John. The wedding was attended by a number of New Brunswickers.

P. D. Burns, a farmer by occupation and a resident of New Brunswick, has brought suit in the superior court here for $25,000 alleged damages against W. T. Janvrin of the town of Revere, and a wholesale merchant in Clinton market, Boston. The plaintiff charges Janvrin with alienating the affections of the former's wife. It appears that Burns and his wife came from N. B. in 1897 to work here a few months.

Both were employed by Janvrin. Two months later, the plaintiff claims that he was discharged, that his wife was retained, and has since refused to live with him. At the trial last week Robert Lake of Everett, formerly of New Brunswick, testified that the Burns lived happily together while in that province. Mrs. Martha Hodgson, sister of Mrs. Burns, corroborated Lake's statement. The case is unfinished.

James McCormick, formerly postmaster of Brookline, died at the home of his son, John J., last Monday. Mr. McCormick was born in Ireland in 1819, and during his early life on this side he lived at St. John.

Among deaths of former provincialists were the following: In Cambridge, Andrew Anderson, aged 84 years, formerly of St. John; in Somerville, Jan. 31, Agnes Caroline Maxwell, formerly of Oak Hill, Chatham county, N. PARLIAMENT.

Address in Reply to the Speech from the Throne.

Sir Charles Tupper on the Question of the Contingent and Relations of Canada to the Empire.

His Heretofore Exposure of Tarte's Disloyal Attitude and Its Effect on the Conduct of the Government.

OTTAWA, Feb. 5.—J. Gould, the newly-elected member for West Ontario moved the address in reply to the speech from the throne. His manner was perfectly cool and collected, and he talked as if he had been in the house for half a lifetime. He began with an eloquent reference to his predecessor, Sir James Edger, but he soon lapsed into the ordinary style of commonplace, talking for some time about the progressive policy of the government and kindred matters. His reference to the war in South Africa was brief, but was listened to with close attention, and he was vigorously applauded by both sides of the house when he declared that the triumph of British arms could be the only end of the struggle. When the war was over the world would see a united South Africa and a united British Empire.

When the war commenced the Canadian government found itself confronted with a grave and serious question, and one entirely new—whether this country should take part in the war of the British Empire. The principle of parliamentary control of public moneys was a sound one, and one which the liberal party had always upheld. But there were times when it was necessary to move quickly. He believed that the government was right in the course which it took, and that it was sustained by the country. Some persons appeared to be alarmed lest Canada should not pay enough of the expense of the movement. When his son, John J., last Monday, Mr. McCormick was born in Ireland in 1819, and during his early life on this side he lived at St. John.

to view which the Globe correspondent had with the premier, and instead of acting upon the suggestion which Sir Charles had made, and which he believed was endorsed by the whole country, Sir Wilfrid said he had carefully examined the law and found it impossible to do anything without the direct authority of parliament. He felt that the premier (but it was not on this ground that he greeted it—laughter)—had lost a great opportunity. The country, however, lost a great opportunity to strengthen his hands in his power to improve the condition of affairs, and therefore on October 5th he forwarded a telegram to Sir Wilfrid, urging him to send a contingent of Canadian volunteers to South Africa, and assuring him of the hearty support of the opposition in that event. Unfortunately the telegram, which was sent from Yarmouth, never got beyond Halifax, and it was not until several days afterwards that it reached the premier.

It did not produce the desired effect. Sir Wilfrid had said to the Globe that it would be unconstitutional to do anything without calling parliament together, and having said this he departed for a grand old exhibition in Chicago, while the other ministers dispersed all over the country.

Sir Charles said that he now approached part of this subject with deep regret. The speech from the throne had not been a case of expediency, as it said that the people of Canada were of one mind on this subject. He proposed to give the evidence to show that on this subject there were differences of opinion even in the cabinet.
