Rev. Dr. Talmage Arraigns the Spirit of Wild Speculation and Gives Some Account of the Financial Ruin of Other Days.

WASHINGTON, June 9 .- In this dis- tried integrity on one hand it is also course Dr. Talmage arraigns the spirit of wild speculation and gives some account of the financial ruin of other days; Proverbs xxiii, 5, "Riches certainly make themselves wings; they fly away as an eagle toward heaven." Money is a golden breasted bird with silver beak. It alights on the office desk or on the parlor centre table.

Men and women stand and admire it. They do not notice that it has wings larger than a raven's, larger than a flamingo's, larger than an eagle's. One wave of the hand of misfortunes ana spreads its beautiful plumage and is gone-"as an eagle toward heaven," my text says, though sometimes I think it goes in the other direction.

at a versification we have had o the flying capacity of riches in Wall street! And Wall street is one of the longest streets in the world. It does not begin at the foot of Trinity church, New York, and end at the East river, as many suppose. It reaches through all our American cities and across the sea. Encouraged by the revival of trade and by the fact that Wall street disasters of other years were so fai back as to be forgotten, speculators run up the stocks from point to point un-til innocent people on the outside suppose that the stocks would always pose that the stocks would always con-tinue to ascend. They gather in from all parts of the country. Large sums of money are taken into Wall street and small sums of money. The crash comes, Thank God, in time to warn off a great many who were on their way thither, for the sadness of the thing is that a great many of the thing is due our cities who save a young men of our cities who save little money for the purpose of starting themselves in business, and who have $500 or $1000 or $2000 or $10,000 go into Wall street and lose all. And if there ever was a time for the pulpit to speak out in regard to certain kinds +h

Stocks rose and fell, and now the begin to rise again, and they will fall again until thousands of young men again until thousands of young mer will be ruined unless the printing press and the pulpit give emphatic ulter-ance. My counsel is to countrymen, so far as they may hear of this dis-course, if they have surplus to invest course, if they have surplus to invest invest ti in first mortgages and in mon-eyed institutions which, though paying comparatively small interest, are sound and safe beyond dispute, and to stand clear of the Wall street vortex, where so many have been swamped and swal-lowed. What a compliment it is to the healthy condition of our country that these recent disasters have in nowise depressed trade! I think God that Wall street's capacity to blast this country has gone forever.

A STREET WITH A HISTORY.

Across the island of New York in wall made of stone and earth off the savages. Along by that wall a street was laid out, and as the street collowed the line of the wall it was appropriately called Wall street. It is narrow, it is unarchitectual, and yet its history is unique. Excepting Lom-disposes of them, but also upon the bard street, London, it is the mightles street on this planet. There the gov ernment of the United States was born markets greatly rise, he greatly gains. If the markets greatly sink, he great-ly loses. It is as honest to deal, in There Washington held his levee Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Caldwe and Mrs. Knox and other brillian women of the revolution displayed eir charms. There Witherspoon and onathan Edwards and George White feld sometimes preached. There D Mason chided Alexander Hamilton fo There Dr riting the constitution of the United tates without any Ged in it. There egroes were sold in the slave mart. tates are criminals were harnessed to selbarrows and like beasts of bur ed to wheelbarrows and like beasts of bur-den, compelled to draw or were lashed through the street behind carts to which they were fastened. There for-tunes have come to coronation or bur-ial since the day when reckless specu-lators in powdered hair and silver shoe buckles dodged Dugan, the governor general of his majesty, clear down to yesterday at 3 o'clock. The history of Wall street is to a certain extent the general of his majesty, clear down to yesterday at 3 o'clock. The history of Wall street is to a certain extent the financial, commercial, agricultural, mining, literary, artistic, moral and religious history of this country. There are the best men in this country and there are the worst. Everything from unswerving integrity to the top scound-relism-everything from heaven born charity to bloodless Shylockism. I want to put the plow in at the curb-stone of Trinity and drive it clear through to Wall street ferry. And so it shall go if the horses are strong enough to draw the plow. First of all, Wall street stands as a type in this country for tried integrity and the most outrageous villany. Farmers who have only a few hundred dollars' worth of produce to put on the market have but little to test their character, but put a man into the sevthe market have but little to test their character, but put a man into the sev-en times heated furnace of Wall street en times heated furnace of Wall street excitement and he either comes out a Shadrach, with hair unsinged, or he is burned into a black moral cinder. No half way work about it. If I want-ed to find integrity bomb-proof I would go among the bankers and merchants of Wall street, yet because there have been such villainles enacted there at different times some men have supposdifferent times some men have suppos-ed that it is a great financial debauch-ery, and they hardly dare go near the street or walk up or down it unless they have buttoned up their last pocket and had their lives insured or religi-ously orossed themselves. Yet if you start at either end of the street and read the business signs you will find the names of more men of interrily and Christian benevolence than you can find in the same space in any street of any of our citles. When the Christian commission and the saif-ary commission wanted money to send medicine and handages to the wound-ed, when breadstuffs were wanted for medicine and bandages to the wound-ed, when breadstuffs were wanted for famishing Ireland, when colleges were to be equipped for their work of send-ing the gospel all around the world, the first street to respond has been Wall street, and the largest responses in all the land have come from Wald

Let me say also to those who are doing legitimate busithose who are doing legitimate ness on that or similar streets of which that is a type to stand firm in Christian principle. You are in a great con mercial battlefield. Be courageou

There is such a thing as a hero of the bank and a hero of the stock exchange You be that hero. I have not so much admiration for the French empress who stood on her balcony in Paris and ad ed an excited mob and quelled 1 as I have admiration for that vener able banker on Wall street who in 186 able banker on Wall street who in 1864 stood on the steps of his moneyed in-stitution and bade peace to the angry wave of commercial excitement. (God did not allow the lions to hurt Daniel and he will not allow the "bears" to hurt you. Remember my friend, that all these scenes of business will soon have passed away, and by the law of God's eternal right all the affairs of your business life will be adjudicated. Honesty pays best for both worlds.

JUSTIFIABLE SPECULATION.

Again, I have to remark that Wal street si a type throughout the country of lightimate speculation on the on try of lightmate speculation on the one hand and of ruinous gambling on the other. Almost every merchant is to some extent a speculator. He depends not only upon the difference between the wholesale price at which he gets the goods and the retail at which he tuation of the markets. If the goes into stock gambling he lies like sin. But alas for the country! It beash came, and all Holland went came a tragedy, and a thousand mil-Hon dollars were swamped. There are families today sitting in the shadow of destitution, who, but for that great national outrage would have had their cottages and their homesteads. I hold up before the young men these four great stock gambling schemes that they the ocean and drop it in may see to what length men will go smitten of this passion, and I want to show them how all the best interests dred thousand applicants for of society are against it, and God is against it and will condemn it for time and condemns it for eternty. I do no dwell upon the frenzied speculations in Wall street last month. You all have cnough remembrance of that financial horror. I only want you to know that it was in a procession of monetary frenzies, some of which have passed and others are to come.

PRAYER FOR SUCCESS.

O men of Wall street and of all streets, stand back from nefarious enterprises, join that great company o Christian men who are maintaining their integrity, notwithstanding all the ressure of temptation. In the mornng, when you open business in the roker's office or in the banking house, ask God's blessing, and when you close it pronounce a benediction upon it. A kind of business that men can-not engage in without prayer is no business for you. I wish that the words of George Peabody, uttered in the hearing of the people of his native town-Danvers, Mass.-1 wish that those words could be uttered in the hearing of all the young men throughout the land. He said:-"Though Providence has granted me unvaried and universal success in the pursuit of fortune in other lands I am still in heart the humble boy who left yonder unpretending dwelling. There is not a youth within the sound of my voice whose early opportunities and advantages are 00,000 to insure people against loss by very much greater than were my servants. Another company with £2.-500,000 capital to transplant walnut trees from Virginia to England. Then own, and I have since achieved nothing that is impossible to the most humble boy among you." George Peato cap the climax, a company was body's success in business was not more remarkable than his integrity formed for "a great undertaking, body to know what it is." And, and his great hearted benevolence. £800,000 in shares were offered at £100 a share. stocks as to deal in iron or coal or hardware or dry goods. He who con-dems all stock dealings as though they were iniquitous simply shows his own ignorance. Stop all legitimate speci-Ignorance. Stop all tegrimate specu-lation in this country and you stop all banks, you stop all factories, you stop all storehouses, you stop all the great financial prosperities of this country. A stock dealer is only a com-mission merchant under another hame. He gets his commission on one style He gets his commission on one style of goods. You, the grocer, get your commission on another style of goods. The dollar that he makes is just as bright and fair and honest a dollar as bright and fair and honest a dollar as the dollar earned by the day laborer. But here we must draw the line be-tween legitimate speculation and ruln-ous gambling. You, a stock operator, without any property behind you, fin-ancially irresponsible, sell $100 of no-thing and get paid for it. You sell 100 shares for $10,000 at 30 days. If at the end of 30 days you can get the scrip for $9,000, you have made a thousand. If at the end of 30 days you have to pay $11,000, then you have lost a thousand. Now that is trafficking in fiction; that is betting on chances; that involves the spirit of gambling as much as anything that ever goes on in the lowest gambling hell. 'At certain times almost every pros-penous merchant wakes up, and he says:-''Now, I have been successful in my line of trade, and I have a toler-able income. I think I shall go down to Wall street and treble it in three weeks. There's my neighbor. He was in the same line of bustness. He has his $300,000 or $400,000 from the simple fact that he went into Wall street. I think I shall go too.'' Here they come, dollar earned by the day laborer fact that he went into Wall street. I think I shall go too." Here they come, retired merchants who want to get a little excitement in their lethargic veins. Here they come, the trustees of great property, to fool everything away. Here they come, men celebrat-ed for prudence, to trifle with the live-lihoods of widows and orphans. Do you wonder that sometimes they be-come insane? It is insanity. Do you know there are hundreds of young men who are perishing under the passion for stock gambling? Do you know that in all Christian lands this is one of the greatest curses?

that in all Christian lands this is one of the greatest curses? It is not peculiar to mercurial Am-ericans Oh not Almost every nation has indulged in it. The Hollanders, the most phlegmatic people in the world, had their gambling seizure in 1683. It was called the tulip mania. It was a speculation in tulips. Propert-ies worth $500,000 turned into tulips. All the Holland nation either buyins or selling tulips. One tulip root sold for $200, another for $2,000. Excitement relling on and rolling on until history tells us that one Amsterdam tulin which was supposed to be the only one of the kind in all the world actually brought in the markets $1,816,000! That while that street is a type of is a matter of history. Of course, the forsook their employment, their business, disregarded their en-gagements to whirl along in the streams, to be at last engulfed in the wild sea of bankruptcy. Females mixed with the crowd, forgetting the st tion and employment which nature had fitted them to adorn, and dealt boldly fitted them to adorn, and dealt boldly and extensively and, like those by whom they had surrounded, rose from poverty to wealth and from that gives thrown down to beggary and want, and all in one short week, and perhaps be-fore the evening which terminated the first day of their speculation. Ladies of high rank, regardless of every ap-pearance of dignity and blinded by the prevailing infatuation, drove to, the shops of their milliners and haberdashops of their milliners and haberdashers and there met their stockbrokers whom they regularly employed and through whom extensive sales were daily negotiated. In the midst of the excitement all distinctions of party and religion and circumstances and character were swallowed up." THE LARCEST SWINDLES

But it was left for our own country to surpass all, about $7 years ago. We have the highest mountains and the greatest cataracts and the longest rivns, and, of course, we had to have the argest swindle. One would have hought that the nation had seen enthought that the nation had seen en-ough in that direction during the mo-rus multicaulis excitement, when 'al-most every man had a bunch of crawl-ing silkworms in his house, 'out, of which he expected to make a fortune. But all this excitement was as nothing compared with what took place in 1864, when a man near Titusville, Pa., digging for a well, struck oil. Twelv hundred oil companies call for a bil-lion of stock. Prominent members of hurches, as soon as a certain amoun of stock was assigned them, saw it was their privilege to become presidents and secretaries or members of the board of direction. Some of these com-panies never had a foot of ground, ne-ver expected to have. Their entire quipment was a map of a region where oil might be and two vials of grease, crude and clarified. People rushed down from all parts of the country by the first train and put their hard earnings in the gulf. A young man came down from the oil region of Pennsyl down aron the on region of France vanit, utterly demented, having, so his farm at a fabulous price because was supposed these might be all there coming to a hotel in Philadelphia

The good Christian people said: "This company must be all right, because El-der So-and-so is president of it, and then there are three or four highly respected professing Christians in the Loard of directors." They did not know that when a professed Christian
