"Bugs" Raymond Cut Loose in Earnest

"BUGS" RAYMOND.

(New York Herald.)
 Matlin, Texas, Mar. 21.—Returning here this morning for the final week of practice, the New York baseball Giant regulars made a good start by cleaning up the Colts this afternoon in a six inning game. Moreover, they made a shutout, the first one that has been registered in the practice series. Splendid pitching by Bugs Raymond and George Wiltse kept the youngsters away from the plate. Crandall finished strong in the box for the colts, but Drucke was tapped for five runs in the first three innings.
 Raymond seemed to have everything according to those who battled against him. Having reduced from 210 to 195 pounds, he is now in shape to keep up effective work, and McGraw told him to "cut loose" today. He fanned two men in each inning and held the youngsters to a pair of singles. Wiltse who worked four innings at Austin yesterday, was not quite as effective, but he was not scored on, thanks to Arthur Devlin, who turned out a double play without assistance.
 Drucke and Otis Crandall were on the rubber for the Colts. Crandall allowed only two hits in the last three innings. Of the four pitchers on duty Drucke was only one to be scored on. In the first inning, a base on balls, an error and hits by Becker, Murray,

TY COBB IN BAD IN DETROIT

Hot Springs, Ark., March 23.—Because he tried to "crab" Donnie Bush, the short stop de luxe of the Tigers, T. Raymond Cobb, the champion hit smith of the American league, is very unpopular. And, incidentally, because he refused to be "crabbed," Donnie Bush is the most popular "kiddo" on the Royal Bungalow.
 A Detroit business man who is here with the veteran members of Hughie Jennings' tribe, says the Tiger players are all allied against Cobb. The Detroiters say he has the dope straight from Sam Crawford, Bill Donovan and Jim Delahanty.
 When Donnie Bush broke in at the windup of 1908, Cobb tried his hardest to make things miserable for the little fellow. Bush is a mere boy and he had the rest of the Tigers with him. Cobb continued to chaff the little fellow, though, until it became so strong that Sam Crawford threatened to slap Cobb's face if he ever criticized the shortstop again. Cobb knew what that was so he quit kidding Bush and everyone knows what Donnie has done.
 Now Ty isn't on speaking terms with any member of the team. They pass him up, and he speaks only when he is spoken to. Moreover, Cobb's best play does not draw any applause from his team mates, and the more often he strikes out, the better his fellow players are pleased. That's why the Detroit business man fears that Jennings will have a hard time repeating his championship conquests of 1907-08-09.

A PLEASANT SMOKER IN THE R.K.Y.C.

The members of the R. K. Y. C. held an enjoyable smoker in their rooms last night. Over four hundred of its members and their friends attended. The following programme was carried out during the evening:
 Sole, C. A. Munro; Vocal solo, Bonnie Banks of Leech; Lonnard and Rogerson, Citrus by the audience; Reading; Comic song, F. J. Panter; Reading, E. B. McInerney; Vocal solo, Mr. Reynolds; The duties, members of sailing committee; Selection, 62nd orchestra; Saxophone duet; Vocal solo, Hugh Campbell; Recitation, How the Battle of Waterloo Was Won, Mr. Robinson of the 62nd Band; Vocal solo, E. W. Bonnell; Song, Betty Brown, Mr. Panter; Selection, 62nd orchestra; Refreshments. God Save the King.
 The different items of the programme were well rendered and generally applauded. At the close of the evening refreshments were served and the smoker was voted one of the most successful in the history of the organization.
 It is the intention of the club to have as many of the juniors as possible to join the club. A large number have already expressed a desire to join and it is expected that many more will become members before the season opens. The outlook for the coming season is promising and it is anticipated that this will be the most successful yachting season in the history of the R. K. Y. C.

CY YOUNG WHO SAYS HE IS DONE

Discouraged at the slow manner he has been reducing his weight in the work of getting ready for the next championship campaign in the American league, Cy Young, the veteran pitcher for Cleveland, has again made the formal announcement that this will be the last year he will appear in public as a professional player.

Young is 45 years old, and has played in the big league since 1890 when he made his debut with the Cleveland club. It seems appropriate now that again a member of the Cleveland team should announce his retirement. Cy won more than 500 games during his 20 years in the major leagues, and lost only about 300 contests. His greatest successes were attained as a member of the Boston Americans after he left St. Louis in 1900.
 He played with Cleveland until 1908 when he was traded to the Boston club. Last year the few games that he won gave him the distinction of having won 500 games since his advent into the major leagues.
 Young has amassed a small fortune from baseball, he having a farm in Ohio and much other property, and when he returns home he will look after his agricultural interests.

OKLAHOMA HAS A NEW WHITE HOPE

No matter how sceptical eastern writers may be about the man who is apparently anxious to redeem the honor of the white race as far as pugilism is concerned by downing Jack Johnson, the West seems to have gone crazy over the ability of Carl Morris.
 The latest man he wants to meet is not gone crazy, however, by any means, for he says:
 "If I am to stand up before Morris at Sapulpa on March 28th to be knocked into a cocked hat, he's got to pay me well," says Schreck, who is firmly opposed to his manager, Billy Corcoran, a Cincinnati person. "Morris wants all the glory and the coin. He expects me to take $1,000 to cover my expenses and pay up my bills. Why, they've built an arena at Sapulpa big enough to accommodate 15,000 people, and all Oklahoma has gone giddy over the prospect of another victory for Morris. Then, why shouldn't I get my ten months through which I'll get a fake if I fight because I will do the best I can, but if this giant is what they say he is, I am not going to take a lambs tail and make a cast staff a lot of green stuff into my jeans."

WHAT YALE SPENT FOR FOOTBALL

A comparison of the cost of athletics at Yale and Harvard shows that Yale spends about one-third more every year than Harvard on each of its big athletic teams. It cost the Cambridge University $127,945 to run athletics last year, or about $425 a day for ten months through which the college season lasts. The football expenditures were approximately $31,000, an average of about $1,900 a man to the squad of 21 players. Track athletics cost $9,000; baseball, $11,000; and rowing $15,000.
 At Yale the appropriation for football was $40,000. It meant that for every man who got into a "championship" game, as the contests with Harvard and Princeton are called, $2,500 was expended. On baseball Yale put out a total of $22,000, while track athletics cost $13,500. Rowing is practically a flat financial loss, since no admission can be charged and more than $20,000 is appropriated every year for it at New Haven.

KNOCKOUT BOUTS IN HALIFAX

(Halifax Recorder)
 The Lecture Hall at the Armouries was thronged last evening on the occasion of the 60th athletic concert. The regimental band provided music, and there were several solos by men of H. M. C. S. Niobe, but the chief attractions were a half score of boxing bouts between soldiers and sailors.
 The two chief events were for welterweights, and were to be six rounds each, but Bandsman Stillwell, R. C. R., knocked out Craze, of Niobe, in one round, and Pte. McElroy, R. C. R., knocked out Chandler, of Niobe, in the third round. One of the best bouts was between Lieut. Greer, C. P. A. S. C., and Midshipman Baird, H. M. C. S. Niobe, the latter being the winner. Pte. Cox, R. C. R., and Geo. Ross, F. C. A., heavyweights, were so evenly matched that an extra round was ordered and a draw declared. There were also a couple of good bouts between boys under 90 pounds.

GOTCH NOT BOTHERING OVER HACK

While in Buffalo last week Frank Gotch gave out an interview in which he said that he doubted the sincerity of Hackenschmidt's expressed desire to meet him. "Hackenschmidt," remarked the champion, "has been over here since November. It is idle for him to say that he has been in condition for a championship match, for he hasn't, and his exploits against the best America has sent against him have proven it. If Hackenschmidt is in such a tremendous hurry why doesn't he stop and take on Zyzysko or Mahmut, meantime, both of them believing that they should get a match and both being ready for him."
 Gotch thinks Mahmut and Zyzysko will match. Asked about the sincerity of the Turk and Pole, he declared that there was plenty of time to attend to all "I have beaten them all," he said. "They are asking for return matches. Such a challenge as they are making now would sound far better if made by the survivor of the trio. Since I toppled over Tom Jenkins in Kansas City in 1906, I have never failed to answer the question satisfactorily when faced by a foreign challenger. Why should it be supposed that I have changed now? The talk you are reading nowadays is only the political skirmish, I'll bark if they annoy me to the right pitch. They made Jeffries come back and they beat him, but there'll be no Reno about the return of Gotch to the mat if one of the trio gets on it."

HORSE NOTES.

Flying Fox, the great race horse which Edward Blane purchased some years ago for $200,000, is dead. He won $120,000 in purses on the French turf alone.
 The New Glasgow Chronicle says: Eliu Barton, of Barris, Dunham, by Baron Wilkes, 2:18, out of Eliu Wood, dam of two records below 2:15, and grand dam of Achille the Great, 2:09, the Maritime Produce best 2-year-old, is developing into a fine big 2-year-old filly.
 Frank Work, who left $200,000 when he died last week in New York had only a $5 gold piece in his possession when he landed there 70 years ago and that he took with him when he ran away from home in Chillicothe, Ohio. He was 92 years old when he died and was known all over America as the driver and owner of the finest road horses that money could buy. Edward, Dick Swivelor, Jack, Pilot Boy, Mahala, Merle Moore and Peter Sterling were some of his noted horses. The stable which he built for his horses in Fifty-sixth street cost $200,000.
 John E. Madden has shipped Adam Bode, by Adam-Graec Gumberts, to England, and may start him in the Derby. Adam is a son of Flying Fox, and Graec Gumberts a daughter of the Derby winner Sainfoin.

PACKEY SURE HE CAN TRIM AD WOLGAST

By Tod.
 New York, March 20.—We're certain it now. Kind of had the hunch for a year or more, but after that showing a few nights ago there's no doubt about it. Oh, that Packey McFarland is the best boy of his weight on the map. We're not alone in that opinion, either. Packey thinks so himself, and isn't a bit backward about it.
 Told Packey that a wire from Los Angeles arrived here saying that Wolgast intended retiring after boxing Hogan.
 "Well, just say for me," chirped the Chicago caramel child, "that when he does I'll jump and set out a whoop for the title."
 "If there's anyone left that I can't beat, trot him out," he continued. "I've been trying to get on with Wolgast for a year past, but he's a better sidestepper than I thought. Makes the bluff about boxing, but never does. I've won from all the rest of them—Murphy, Walsh, Moran, Britt, Gross, Hyland and a bunch of others—and if I can't get a whack at the champ, what am I going to do?"
 "I'm bigger than Gans, Ernie or the rest of the old-time lightweights. Gans won his title from Erse at 135 pounds, and I can do that nicely. There's no use killing yourself, as poor Gans did, in order to get a match and if I don't intend to, either."
 "That ringside stuff is a joke. Just because some fighters have fears of others they pull that ringside veil thing and are safe. Why, Battling Nelson pulled that, and ever since all the lightweights are doing it."
 "Gans never asked anyone to do it when they fought him for the title. Neither did Ernie, and I think that the boxing public will remember those men much longer than a wren of the Wolgast kind."
 "If I'm not the best light weight in the world, Mr. Wolgast will have to prove it to me."

First entries were received Monday for the annual B. A. A. Marathon race, from Ashland to Boston, which takes place April 19. Five Boston runners were in the list, and William Rosette, of the Pastime A. C., of New York, who competed a year ago, announced his intention of trying again. It is anticipated that more Canadian than ever before will run. Jim Corkery, of the Irish-Canadian A. C., of Toronto, who finished third a year ago, is training for the race, as is his clubmate, Dick McCormick.
 Another Canadian who has signified his intention of entering is Jimmy George, the Beaverton, Ont., Indian, considered a coming champion.
 Dan Sheridan, Toronto, will undoubtedly be a contestant, also Jimmy Tressider, of Brantford, Sandy Begley, of the Irish-Canadian A. C., of Toronto, is training daily. Rodgers, of Halifax, and Thomas, of P. E. Island, are also expected to compete.
